

Fugitive Priest Captured on Resort Island

Fled Confinement for
Burning Draft Data

CRANSTON, R.I. (AP) The Rev. Daniel Berrigan, found by FBI agents after four months as a fugitive from a three-year prison term for destroying draft records in Maryland, is in custody awaiting transfer to a federal penitentiary.

"They had us surrounded," attorney William Stringfellow said of the dozen FBI agents who apprehended the Roman Catholic priest Tuesday on Block Island at a house owned by Stringfellow and poet Anthony Towne.

Stringfellow, who is also a lay Episcopal theologian, said a man he approached in bushes outside the house about 11 a.m. at first "said he was birdwatching," then several other agents appeared.

The agents found the 49-year-old Jesuit priest in the front room. He was wearing a yellow windbreaker with a hood, brown trousers, a white shirt and white sneakers.

Father Berrigan had made several public appearances before peace groups and given some interviews to news media since going underground in April rather than surrender for the prison term imposed on him April 9.

He had lost all appeals from his sentence but said he wanted to show authorities "they can no longer lock people up on their order."

Asst. U.S. Atty. Everett Sammartino said the government is considering charging Stringfellow and Towne for harboring a fugitive.

Take Their Time
"It's under consideration and at the present time we do not know," Sammartino said. "We're not going to come to a hasty decision on it and it might take a little while."

About 20 persons, including several Catholic priests and nuns, conducted an all-night vigil outside the Adult Correctional Institution where Father Berrigan was being held.

In Baltimore Tuesday night, about 40 persons demonstrated peacefully but loudly outside offices of the Catholic archdiocese to protest the arrest.

Father Berrigan was one of the "Catonsville Nine," who were convicted of destroying draft records in Catonsville, Md., on May 17, 1968, as a protest of the war in Vietnam.

His brother, the Rev. Philip Berrigan, 47, was a fugitive briefly but was arrested by FBI agents in a New York City church in late April. He is in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., serving concurrent sentences totaling six years. One is for the Catonsville incident and the other for pouring what he said was blood on draft records at the Baltimore Customs House on Oct. 27, 1967.

Time at Resort
Stringfellow would not say how long Daniel Berrigan had been at the house on Block Island, a summer resort and fishing village about 20 miles off the Rhode Island coast.

"A Christian does what he must do as a Christian," Stringfellow and Towne said in a joint statement.

"Berrigan is our friend and is always welcome in our home. Any visit from him is an honor for us because he is a priest of uncommon conscience, he is a citizen of urgent moral purpose and a human being of exemplary courage."

Father Berrigan was taken to the nearest mainland port, at Point Judith, on a Coast Guard cutter and was turned over to U.S. Marshal Peter J. Foley in Providence.

Foley took the priest to the state prison here, and said he notified federal officials in Baltimore.

No court arraignment is required, because Father Berrigan is a fugitive under sentence to a federal prison.

Foley said he expected commitment papers to be sent to Providence soon and that the priest then would be taken to the prison where he is assigned, probably at Lewisburg, Pa.

Final Go-Ahead Given For Safety Building

A new Outagamie County jail-safety building will be built immediately east of the Courthouse on present county property. Land for off-street parking will be purchased.

In a 26-17 vote, supervisors: — Authorized Board Chairman Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, to appoint a special jail and safety building committee to contract for architectural services and to obtain construction bids for presentation to the county board; — Authorized DeLaHunt to appoint a special committee to meet with City of Appleton officials to work out details of a lease agreement "acceptable to both legislative bodies," and,

Off-Street Parking
— Directed the Finance Committee to make $175,000 available to purchase and develop off-street parking in the Courthouse vicinity.

In a separate vote, the board agreed to take $8,000 from the $175,000 to pave the front lawn of the Courthouse for parking purposes.

The two major votes remaining before construction actually gets under way will be on issuance of the bonds for the project and acceptance of the terms of the lease.

County Administrator Alvin Woehler said the bond issue would be prepared as soon as firm construction cost estimates are prepared by the architect. The parking acquisition funds also will be included in the bond issue.

Woehler said the state will be notified of Tuesday's board action and a request to lift restrictions on use of the county jail will probably be made after a contract is signed with an architect.

The approving vote came at 4:40 p.m. after nearly three hours of debate and rejection of efforts by some supervisors to again get consideration of moving the entire courthouse complex to the county farm.

The opposition vote was a combination of supervisors opposed to building at the present courthouse location and those opposed to the acquiring of neighborhood houses for off-street parking space.

DeLaHunt, noting an earlier county board action endorsing creation of a semi-independent building commission, said Tuesday's enabling resolution "will take off the handcuffs so this committee can function. Let's not keep boxing the committee in," he urged.

In answer to complaints the present courthouse site was already too congested, DeLaHunt predicted that in 20 years there would be few residences in the courthouse area. Referring to a long-range proposed development plan for the city, DeLaHunt said this was really the start of urban renewal.

Supv. Charles Wussow, Appleton, led a last-ditch effort to have the entire courthouse complex moved to a county farm location.

Wussow argued that it would be possible to build space equivalent to that in the present courthouse, annex and planned safety building at the county farm for little more than the safety building will cost. In addition, he said, there was unlimited space for parking an expansion.

His efforts to amend the resolution to that end were ruled out of order by DeLaHunt. The board upheld the chairman's enabling resolution "will take off the handcuffs so this committee can function. Let's not keep boxing the committee in," he urged.

Education Veto Override Pushed

Republican Support Expected

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats, reacting sharply to President Nixon's veto of education and government agency money bills, spearheaded an attack today to reverse the chief executive's action.

The Democrats were expected to receive some support from Republicans who earlier had urged Nixon to let the bills become law without his signature.

Nixon vetoed Tuesday the $4.4 billion education appropriation and $18 billion measure to run a variety of federal agencies on grounds they pose "a threat to every American's pocketbook."

The two bills would have added nearly $1 billion to the administration's budget recommendations. Nixon said they represent "the kind of big spending that would drive up prices or demand higher taxes."

Needed Margin
House Democratic leaders, hoping to capture the two-thirds margin necessary to override Presidential vetoes, scheduled the showdown votes Thursday as the first order of business.

Democratic leaders were optimistic about their chances for overriding the Office of Education bill, but less certain about the prospects for the larger measure. Many Republicans, including Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, shared that appraisal.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said that if the House votes to override the President's vetoes, it probably will be next week before the Senate votes.

Mansfield told newsmen he thinks the Senate would override the veto of the education money bill but said he didn't know what the outcome would be on the other appropriation measure.

He predicted that, over-all, Congress will cut appropriations below the President's budget request.

No More Inductions

STURGEON BAY, Wis.

(AP)—The chairman of Door County Selective Service Board No. 16 said Tuesday night his board will issue no induction notices after Sept. 1 unless the federal government "stops letting draft evaders walk the streets freely."

"We feel that we are as right in what we are doing, as the fellow that has refused induction feels that he is right," said chairman S.F. Brunswick. "And we will stand firm on this even if we are replaced."

State Selective Service Director Lt. Col. Clinton Knutson said Tuesday he could not comment on the local board's action until he had read and studied the board's vote.

Brunswick and two other board members met Monday night and voted "unanimously," Brunswick said, to halt induction of Door County men.

"We have several young men who have asked us why they have to go, when others who refused to go are still walking the streets," Brunswick said. "I checked on some local cases and found out there had been no action taken on the matter. We talked it over and decided you can't really face a young person that asks a question like that if you don't have a decent answer. We think it's time our courts change the situation. It seems the Supreme Court is protecting the guilty, not the innocent."

"I have no idea what the outcome of this action will be," Brunswick said. "We almost hope that other boards will pick it up. Perhaps if enough of them did, we'd get a change in some of these rulings. We're in hopes this may start the ball rolling. I've had a 100 per cent favorable reaction from people I've contacted on the matter, both locally and in other parts of the state."

"It's time we got something straightened out," Brunswick added.

Peace Effort Fails

Londonderry Protestants Parade, Violence Erupts

By RODNEY PINDER
Associated Press Writer

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — Violence erupted today when Protestants defied a ban on parades and Roman Catholics, protesting the march, battled with British troops.

About 200 Catholics, mostly youths, tried to break out of the Catholic Bogside area into a Protestant section of the town. They met a solid wall of British troops in full riot gear.

Hails of rocks fell on the soldiers, crouching behind riot shields. The troops stood their ground and the army said the situation was contained for the moment. There were no immediate reports of arrests or injuries.

"No Popery"
Trouble broke out after 5,000 Protestants, many shouting "no surrender" and "no popery" surged past army barricades and marched through the city, defying a government ban on parades, to mark the anniversary of a Catholic military defeat here three centuries ago.

About 3,000 British troops and Irish police had sealed off the Bogside section with wire barricades to prevent a religious clash.

The first casualties on this anniversary of the Siege of Derry occurred 65 miles southeast of Londonderry, half a mile from the border between Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic. On a street in Crossmaglen a bomb in a parked car exploded, as two police constables examined the vehicle. One of the policemen died in the blast and the other died eight hours later.

Londonderry was quiet at midday. But during the night youths hurled stones and bottles at the troops as the first of more than 6,000 militant Protestants arrived to celebrate the 281st anniversary of the defeat of King James II and his Catholic forces at the gates of the city.

In Belfast, the provincial capital, a bomb wrecked a Catholic-owned barber shop and police found an arms cache on the roof of a Protestant church hall.

Last year's celebration of the lifting of the Siege of Derry touched off religious riots and street fighting that has continued off and on in Northern Ireland ever since.

British army helicopters buzzed overhead while army patrols manned crossing points at the border with the Irish Republic two miles away.

Authorities banned all liquor sales.

Added to Confusion
Announcements by three Democrats only added to the confusion about the outcome of the ABM vote.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., and Sen. Clinton Anderson, D-N.M., announced they will vote for an amendment which prohibits extension of the ABM to two more sites requested by Nixon. The amendment is sponsored by Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

The sites requested by Nixon would be at Whitman Air Force Base, Mo., and Warren Air Force Base, Wyo.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., said he will vote against Cooper-Hart but for another amendment to bar expansion of the two new sites and spend $322 million to beef up the ABM at the two original sites at Malmstrom and Grand Forks Air Force bases.

The original Safeguard program was approved by a one-vote margin last year.

Brooke Sponsored
The second amendment is sponsored by Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass. Some ABM opponents sought to schedule a vote on that proposal immediately after the Cooper-Hart vote. But administration forces in the Senate blocked that procedure.

"I think the administration can live with the Brooke amendment," Brooke told newsmen. "It retains the momentum of the Safeguard system while allowing the President the full dollar amount he asked and allowing it to be used as a bargaining chip" in strategic arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union.

Speaking directly to wavering Republicans Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said: "The administration cannot accept any amendment to this bill. A vote for any amendment is a vote against the Nixon administration. It feels this is the minimum it must have to defend the country...."

"We have already compromised on this measure and I know the administration feels it cannot compromise further," Tower said.

Rates for fourth-class parcel post are scheduled to go up an average of 15 per cent Nov. 14 and rate for mailing catalogues go up 6 per cent.

East-West Coexistence Treaty Signed

MOSCOW (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt of West Germany and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin today signed a nonaggression treaty, the keystone to Bonn's efforts to improve relations with Eastern Europe.

Foreign Ministers Andrei A. Gromyko and Walter Scheel of West Germany added their signatures to the documents, which they had initialed last week.

Most of the 11-man politburo of the Soviet Communist party attended the brief ceremony in the Kremlin's Catherine Hall. They included Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The signing came after Brandt and Kosygin had conferred for more than two hours. German sources said Brandt also is expected to meet with Brezhnev.

Warren, FBI Agents Urge Community Police Exchange

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — The exchange of police officers between communities to act as undercover agents in drug investigations was urged by State Atty. Gen. Robert Warren here Tuesday.

In speaking to the State Chief of Police Association at their annual conference, Warren told the chiefs he would leave it up to them to help implement a workable program.

Warren suggested that the chiefs' association appoint a committee "to develop the mechanics" and then report back to its next executive committee meeting.

Association President Walt Gabriel of Burlington later said that Warren's proposal was "an excellent idea, especially for small departments like mine."

No Binding Decisions
However, Gabriel said he didn't think any formal action was necessary because any decisions made by the association would not be binding on its members.

Instead, Gabriel said that any two communities that wanted to should be able to work out a suitable arrangement between themselves.

Warren made the exchange proposal after labeling drug enforcement "the most difficult area of law enforcement."

The program is escalating, Warren said, and combating it requires "more training, more expertise and more savvy."

Still Have Job
The passage of a new state law to help fight the drug problem "doesn't mean local departments don't have a job to do," he said.

The need for undercover agents is underscored, Warren said, by the more than 200 requests received by his office for assistance in drug investigations.

The state's stand against illegal drugs has been strengthened by the Dangerous Substances Control Act and the Governor's Drug Abuse Control Commission. Warren said "an exchange pool from one jurisdiction to another would be a great aid."

The attorney general said the exchange could be made on a team basis.

Little Trouble
"This could be developed and implemented without too much trouble," he said.

Gabriel said this would especially help communities like Burlington who are relatively small but have a growing drug problem.

He said there are only 20 officers in his department and they are too well known in the community of 8,000 to effectively investigate drugs.

Warren suggested that the mutual aid pacts that the Fox River Valley and the Milwaukee area have could be used to implement the exchange of narcotic investigators.

Work Out System
If a small community needed undercover agents but couldn't spare an officer to exchange, a method of reimbursing the agent and his department could probably be worked out by local governments, Warren suggested.

The state, Warren said, could provide some assistance in keeping a central filing system on drug cases.

Although Warren said undercover work is the most effective method, he said it "requires special aptitudes. It is dangerous and time consuming.

But, he said, jurisdictional boundaries don't stop drug pushers and "the possibility of cooperation may render us great possibilities."

Mutual Cooperation
The attorney general was not alone in his support of mutual aid pacts between law enforcement agencies. A top FBI official at the police chiefs conference advocated mutual cooperation in all efforts, not just drug problems.

Mutual cooperation among law enforcement agencies and a joint effort among police and citizens is an essential requirement in lessening the crime rate, Ed Hayes, special agent in charge of the Milwaukee office of the FBI, told the police chiefs.

"No law enforcement agency can hope to match its limited manpower and financial resources with the great demands of the fight against crime in view of the extreme mobility of today's criminal," Hayes said.

He labeled cooperation a "necessity for survival," not a luxury.

Crime in Streets
Crime in the streets is one of the most important challenges facing the continuance of a free nation, Hayes added.

"Crime affects the lives of each one of us, weakens society's moral fiber and sucks our lifeblood of financial resources," he said.

There are eight serious crimes committed every minute in the country, Hayes said. He added that the crime rate is increasing much faster than population growth.

Hayes said that in fighting crime, police officers are hindered by public apathy, permissiveness in society and a disrespect for law and order.

Need Citizen Help
"No matter how efficient law enforcement may be, it simply cannot control crime when citizens do not obey the law," Hayes said.

"There are simply not enough police officers in the country to watch every segment of our society every moment," he said, "nor do I think we would want to have this type of 'Big Brother' law enforcement."

He said that instead of people "intentionally and falsely" screaming police brutality and calling police "pigs," they should work to increase respect for law enforcement personnel.

Instead of being apathetic, Hayes said citizens must be willing to report crimes, serve as witnesses and serve on juries.

Decent Wages
Citizens also should be concerned with the conditions that police have to work under and whether police are getting the proper training and decent wages, he added.

Gene Babler, also of the Milwaukee FBI office, explained to the police chiefs the activities of various extremist groups in the United States.

The New Left Movement, and particularly the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), are active on many Wisconsin campuses, he said. He added that black extremist groups have had little success so far in the state.

But across the nation, he said, some extremist groups "are running rampant on our college campuses and cities under the guise of using their constitutional rights."

Babler charged small groups of extremists with "maneuvering social and economic problems into chaos in the cities and on campuses."

The Klu Klux Klan and American Nazi Party have not been very active in Wisconsin, he said. Black Panther chapters were formed in the Milwaukee and Beloit area early in 1969, he said, but have met with a minimum of success.

The New Left Movement — "as extreme as any group" — has become a problem not only on Madison and Milwaukee campuses, but on smaller state campuses as well, he said.

Change through the legislative process was provided for in the Constitution, but Babler said New Leftists want change "immediately by revolutionary means."

He said the New Left has directed most of its energies into opposing the Vietnam war. But he said he doubted if its activities would subside with the end of the war.

"Even if (wars) cease there will still be problems on campuses," he said.

Milwaukee Campus Hit UW Challenged on Inner Core Work

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The Republican candidate for lieutenant governor has directed the University of Wisconsin to report on what its Milwaukee campus is doing to solve inner core problems in that city.

State Rep. David O. Martin, R-Neenah, issued the directive at a subcommittee meeting of the state Building Commission, after saying that a tour of the inner core had made him aware of complaints of inner city citizens about the UW-M.

Welfare mothers and local residents' groups had charged that the Milwaukee campus, supposed to be the state's "major urban university," was not doing much on core problems, said Martin.

He told UW officials that he wants a report at the August 20 Commission meeting on extension, outreach, sociological and other programs being carried on by the UW-M in the core, and for core residents.

"I just completed a tour of the inner city and asked questions about what the UW-M has done to solve these problems," said Martin.

"I don't see too much that has been accomplished," he told UW officials.

"It is the biggest challenge we have as a state as it is to the resources of the University of Wisconsin," said Martin, pointing out that the Coordinating Council for Higher Education has declared that the mission of the UW-M is to be a "major urban university."

Martin suggested that after receiving the report from UW officials, the Building Commission may want to tour the inner core to see projects run by the UW and to hear from local residents.

Martin also threw a roadblock in the way of continued development of a $4 million teacher education building on the UW's Madison campus.

Saying that he wanted to visit the campus before any approval is given the proposal by the Building Commission, Martin doubted the need for the building to house the school's School of Education.

Martin Protests
Martin told UW Vice President Wallace Lemon, in charge of construction projects, that the campus should be satisfied with an educational science building planned for next year.

Teacher demand in the state had dropped to a low level, and undergraduate enrollment at the Madison campus is due to drop in the future, said Martin. A new UW hospital program should free the existing hospital

Youth Gets Probation For Theft of Beer
A rural Oneida youth was placed on a year's probation Tuesday to the State Department of Health and Social Services for receiving and concealing stolen property.

Keith Moore, 17, route 1, must pay court costs, and make restitution if any is prescribed by his probation agent. He pleaded guilty to the charge earlier.

An Outagamie County investigator brought the count after learning that Moore took part in the theft of 16 six-packs of beer from Ness' Nest Tavern in Oneida April 8.

The case was waived from the Juvenile Court previously.

Correction
KAUKAUNA — A Kaukauna woman injured in a July 28 accident was misidentified in a Post-Crescent story. According to police, Mrs. Kenneth Juse, route 3, suffered cuts to the head and legs when the car she was driving went out of control and struck a house at 214 W. Fifth St.

The Post-Crescent erroneously identified the woman as Mrs. Elmer Baumgarten.

If a small community needed undercover agents but couldn't spare an officer to exchange, a method of reimbursing the agent and his department could probably be worked out by local governments, Warren suggested.

The state, Warren said, could provide some assistance in keeping a central filing system on drug cases.

Although Warren said undercover work is the most effective method, he said it "requires

Asks Test Payments

Proposed amendments to Medicare regulations would tend to shorten hospital stays by providing payment for preadmission diagnostic testing. Robert M. Ball, commissioner of Social Security, said proposed regulations would extend the amount of time during which diagnostic services furnished a beneficiary on an outpatient basis would be considered inpatient hospital services and thus reimbursable under the hospital insurance part of Medicare.

Six Migrants Charged in Fatal Stabbing

MANITOWOC (AP) — Six itinerant farm workers were being held without bail today after being charged Tuesday with first degree murder in the fatal stabbing Sunday of another migrant worker. Manitowoc County Judge Harold Mueller declared the six men indigent and continued their hearing until he could appoint attorneys to handle both Spanish and English. The stabbing victim, Jesus Morin, 44, San Vincente Coah, Mexico, had been living at a packing plant camp near Kingsbridge where the slaying occurred. Named in a complaint signed by Dist. Atty. Robert Koutnik were six Texas men; Manuel J. Lopez, Jer Hernandez, Joe Conteras, Ricardo Mendoza, George Trevino and Oscar Guerra.

Judge Grants Man Probation in Theft Of Cash at Tavern

The theft of cash from a Grand Chute tavern last September brought three years' probation with the State Department of Health and Social Services Tuesday for Daniel M. Carpenter, 23, 1400 1/2 E. Wisconsin Ave. Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer stayed the two-year sentence to the Green Bay reformatory after noting it was Carpenter's first appearance in criminal court. Carpenter was linked by a county investigator to the burglary which occurred last Sept. 8. He previously entered a no contest plea in County Court Branch 2. Schaefer also directed Carpenter to pay court costs and reimburse the county for an appointed attorney.

County Parks Plan Receives Board Support

Federal Assistance Hoped in Expansion Of Plamann Park

The first obstacle to obtaining what Parks and Recreation Committee members hope will be about $75,000 in federal funds was cleared Tuesday afternoon when the Outagamie County Board approved a county outdoor recreation plan. The plan must now be approved by the state before the county will be eligible for matching Land and Water Conservation Act funds with which to purchase a 143-acre addition to Plamann Park. The county option to purchase the property is conditioned on the availability of federal funds, and the option expires before the end of the year. Passage of the recreation plan did not come easy, however. Several supervisors, led by Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan, objected to acting on the nearly 100-page plan after receiving it only two hours earlier. Delay Voted Down A move by DeBruin to delay action for 30 days was defeated 29-15. Supv. Nick Karras, Appleton, chairman of the Parks Committee, pleaded for favorable action, saying the county had already lost state and federal funds on projects because it was ineligible without a county plan. He noted that Shiocton was seeking aid for a rifle range but they could not apply for it because of the lack of a county plan. An earlier plan had been rejected by the state as being incomplete. The revised plan had been given to the Parks Committee Monday night by the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission. No Obligations Charles Hervey, commission director, told the board adoption of the plan would not obligate the county to any of the cost estimates for park development or acquisition. He said each item would have to be approved separately by the board when they were proposed for implementation. However, he added, the state requires the long-range cost figures to be included in the plan. In a 41-0 vote, the board joined its neighboring counties in passing an anti-rock test ordinance. With only several minor differences, it is the model rock test ordinance drawn up by the state. There was no debate.

Thompson is a deacon at Faith Lutheran Church, a director of the Fox Valley Workshop, serves on the Boy Scout Council, is secretary of the Planning Executives Institute and has served on the United Fund budget committee the past three years.

Police & Fire Beat

A fine of $150 and costs, plus the revocation of his driver's license for 3 months, were levied Tuesday against James A. Kempf, 23, Wrightstown, guilty of driving under the influence of intoxicants. Trial was held in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 before Judge Nick F. Schaefer. Kempf was charged last March 25 by a Grand Chute patrolman after being stopped at County Trunks A and OO count brought earlier, when Pompa reportedly struck a youth inside the building, will also be heard later. Pompa, of 225 E. Franklin St. is free on bail. No date was set for further proceedings. Leroy Coenen, 26, Sherwood, is expected to enter a plea Tuesday to a charge of battery brought by his wife, who claims he came to her Little Chute home July 20 and blackened an eye and chipped two teeth when he hit her. The continuance was granted after Coenen told Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer he had tried unsuccessfully to contact an attorney since his prior court appearance. Coenen and his wife are seeking a legal separation. He remains free on bond. Marie Bastien, 46, Green Bay, was fined $50 and costs Tuesday after pleading guilty to a charge of shoplifting. She took a ladies knit top and dress from the K mart store July 21. Mrs. Bastien appeared before Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer in County Court Branch 2. A new judge must be appointed before further court action in the case of John Pompa, 17, who allegedly struck an Outagamie County sheriff's deputy outside a dance in Appleton March 14. Board Refers Proposal

Library Study Idea Goes to Committee

A proposal to conduct a library study to determine the feasibility of a county library system was referred by the Outagamie County Board Tuesday to its Health, Education and Institutions Committee. The request for a county or regional library study was made by Appleton Mayor George Buckley who said he had been informed by the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) that while the city could not receive any financial assistance for such a study, the county was eligible for total federal funding.

Funds under the Library Services and Construction Act, Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), and through the Division of Library Services, Department of Instruction, are available through the end of this year, Buckley told the board.

The Appleton mayor noted he had asked COG last May to study the feasibility of the county taking over the library system but said they recommended a comprehensive county-wide study before making any recommendations.

The possibility of such a library study already had been discussed informally by the Health, Education and Institutions Committee but a study was being delayed until it had resolved the question of a county health department.

County Board Chairman Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, also indicated he planned to appoint

Outagamie Won't Fight Order on Jail

Prisoner Transfers OK'd

A final attempt to halt the transfer of prisoners to other jails failed Tuesday when the Outagamie County Board rejected a move to obtain a court order against Wilbur Schmidt, director of the State Department of Health and Social Services.

Supv. Robert Weyenberg, Kimberly, sought to have the board attempt to obtain an order to show cause to restrain the state from enforcing Schmidt's order of Feb. 11 restricting use of the county jail.

His resolution was defeated, 30-14.

Earlier, County Board Chairman Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, had ruled that action taken by the County Board in March ordering Sheriff Calvin

A fireworks display will be presented Sunday night. Daily rides and concessions will be available at the jubilee grounds through the four-day celebration.

7 Named to Panel On Safety Building

A seven-man committee will be asked to serve as the special jail and safety building committee by Outagamie County Board Chairman Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna.

DeLaHunt said he was sending letters to the appointees asking them to serve and asking the initial meeting to be Aug. 20.

At the same time, he said he was asking the board's Finance Committee to handle the lease negotiations with the City of Appleton.

Asked to serve on the building committee are Supvs. Herman Ripp and Jerome Hiler of Appleton; Sylvester Lenz, Kimberly; Carl Runte, Kaukauna; Delmar Schmeichel, Towns of Center and Ellington; Al Krause, New London and Town of Liberty, and DeLaHunt.

Represent Committee

Ripp, Lenz and Krause are from the board's Public Properties Committee. Runte is from the Law Enforcement Committee. Schmeichel, from the Zoning Committee, and Hiler, who also is board vice-chairman, is on the Finance Committee.

Members of the Finance Committee, in addition to Hiler are G. Allen Bubolz, Charles Wussow and Eugene Kloes, all of Appleton; Harold Miller, Town of Grand Chute, and Marvin Babbitt, Seymour.

DeLaHunt said he hoped the Finance Committee would be able to meet with the city prior to the Building Committee's meeting.

One of the first items expected to be handled by the Building Committee is the hiring of an architect.

Contract Terminated

The contract between George Narovec and Associates and the joint city-county safety building study committee has been terminated as a result of the committee going out of business with the city agreeing to lease from the county rather than build jointly.

The Building Committee is expected to investigate the possibility of recovering all or a portion of a $35,000 architectural fee bill from Sauter Seaborn Ltd. if it returns to that firm for architectural services.

Sauter Seaborn had prepared plans for a county jail building at the courthouse before the now defunct joint study committee was created.

Woman Dies In Parking Lot Accident

An Appleton woman was dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital Tuesday, minutes after a freak car accident in a parking lot.

Mrs. Robert Keller, 1907 E. Frances St. was backing out of a parking stall when her door opened, hooked on the side of an auto in back of hers and ripped off.

Police said she fell from her car, and the left front tire of her car rolled over her chest.

The car Mrs. Keller backed into was being driven by Robert J. Salentine, 36, 1002 N. State St., who had just come from another parking stall in the lot in the 100 block of S. Locust Street.

He honked his horn several times to warn Mrs. Keller, but she apparently didn't hear it.

She was taken to the hospital by the Fire Department Rescue squad. According to Outagamie County Deputy Coroner C. J. Schink she died of a massive internal hemorrhage.

Mrs. Keller, 49, is survived by her husband; four daughters, one still at home; four sons, three still at home; four sisters and two grandchildren.

Funeral services are 10:30 a.m. at St. Thomas More Catholic Church; interment in Holy Cross cemetery, Kaukauna. A prayer service will be 8 p.m. Thursday at the Wichmann Funeral Home, where friends may call after 4 p.m. Thursday.

Spice to ignore the state order was void since it was contrary to state laws.

Efforts now will be made to have the order lifted in view of the county board's action to proceed with construction of a new jail and safety building.

V. A. Verhulst, state jail inspector, was present during the action but did not address the board.

Weyenberg, who was a member of the board's Law Enforcement Committee at the time the jail orders were issued, charged that neighboring jails were no better than Outagamie County's.

He said he had been told by state officials that the county should not transfer prisoners to Winnebago County because that jail was worse than Outagamie's.

The go-ahead for construction of the county highway department's new office building at the county garage was given, although a number of supervisors objected to increased costs of the project over earlier estimates.

The board's Finance Committee was directed to provide $87,500 for the building's reconstruction.

Recommended bids for the 40-by-50-foot structure, including a brick facing, totaled $80,000 including architectural fees. An additional $7,500 contingency fund was included at the suggestion of Supv. Richard Jahnke, Appleton.

Supv. Harold Miller, Town of Grand Chute, objected to the costs, noting original estimates for the building had been $50,000. "The cost grows and grows with each meeting," he said.

A revision in the county's lease with Kimberly-Clark Corporation at the county airport was sent back to committee for further negotiations in an effort to remove three more words.

As a result of the county's installing a control tower, Kimberly-Clark had agreed to eliminate the word "effective" from its requirement in the extension of the northwest-southeast runway.

Under the original contract, the county was required to extend the runway to an "effective" 6,000 feet by Dec. 1, 1971. The runway is now 5,200 feet long and an extension to nearly 7,000 feet would have been necessary to obtain an effective 6,000 feet because of the runway's slope.

The proposed revision calls for extension of the runway to a "total length for takeoff and landing in both directions" of 6,000 feet by Dec. 1, 1975, and a total effective length of 6,000 "as soon as practicable thereafter."

Supv. Delmar Schmeichel, Town of Center, objected to the words "in both directions." He said that since the amount of useable runway varied, depending on the direction, that phrase could be construed as being the same as meaning "effective length."

Man Injured In Collision

An Appleton man is in satisfactory condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital with injuries received Tuesday night in an intersection collision.

According to Appleton Police, a car driven by Thomas F. Jacobs, 30, 717 Fernmeadow Drive, collided with another at Kensington and Edgemoor drives, and then caught fire. He was hospitalized with cuts on his scalp, hands and arms.

The second auto was driven by Gary T. Vanderheiden, 18, 412 N. Cambridge St.

Police extinguished most of the fire before the Fire Department took over. The department's rescue squad took three passengers from the Vanderheiden car to St. Elizabeth Hospital for shock.

Treated and released were Peter Wilcox, 18, Jean Gillen, 15, 719 Third St., and Debbi Mueske, 16, 733 Third St., all of Menasha.

Too Much Water in the infield didn't wash out the Appleton Foxes' game at Goodland Field Tuesday night. Fire in the infield adequately dried out the area and the game was played — although an hour late. The attendance at the game was 4,398. The Foxes defeated Danville, 8-6. (Post-Crescent Photo)

'Incompetence Untrue'

Ehrlicke Denies Buckley's Madison Job Accusations

Appleton Welfare Director Merton P. Ehrlicke Tuesday produced letters and a statement saying that Madison Mayor William Dyke expected to nominate him a year ago as welfare director for Madison, but Ehrlicke withdrew his application for the job.

Ehrlicke presented the documents to the Welfare and Ordinance Committee of the City of Appleton in answer to charges made last week by Appleton Mayor George Buckley.

Buckley and Ehrlicke quibbled over whether the mayor called the welfare director incompetent, and whether Ehrlicke's application for the Madison job was confidential. But the discussion ended inconclusively when Ehrlicke walked out and the committee turned to other business without acting in the dispute.

In a letter addressed to Ald. Edward Maloney (9th), committee chairman, Ehrlicke said Buckley's "accusation that I was rejected by the City of Madison as city welfare director because of incompetence as Appleton's city welfare director is untrue."

Shows Letter Copies

He enclosed copies of his letter withdrawing as an applicant for the Madison job, and of Dyke's reply saying he was sorry Ehrlicke was taking the action and adding, "I was expecting (sic) to nominate you for the job."

"I have no recourse but to bring out the above facts so that members of the Common Council, the citizens of Appleton and those who come to my office in confidence, shall not be misled by untrue statements made by Mayor Buckley. I feel I have been viciously attacked without justification and that my reputation and integrity have been challenged," Ehrlicke said in his letter to the committee.

Buckley issued a statement to newsmen last week claiming Ehrlicke was turned down for the Madison job after "he demonstrated how much money he gave away in Appleton and what red carpet treatment he gave the reliefers."

Buckley called in Finance Director David Champion after Ehrlicke handed committee members copies of the letters.

Champion said an assistant to Dyke gave him the information. Buckley based his statement on that.

Champion added he believed Dyke was expecting to nominate Ehrlicke for the job "at that time," meaning the Aug. 20, off by a spark from a grinding machine which ignited gunpowder. Friday and then at the church service.

Ehrlicke, Champion said he believed the Madison mayor later learned he had in his home.

A resulting fire burned the home to the ground.

Discussion Not Unusual

Answering a question from Glenn Thompson (13th), Ald. Champion said emphatically that Ehrlicke's condition, after being moved out of the home, was not unusual.

that Ehrlicke was mentioned by name in the phone conversation with the Dyke. Ehrlicke added that the discussion was not unusual, since he often is asked to supply information to employers when Appleton personnel apply for jobs elsewhere.

"You are asked for these references, and you give them," said Champion, adding that another Appleton department head applied for a job in a different city within the past few weeks, and Champion again was asked to provide information.

Ehrlicke replied that the matter would have been kept "sub rosa" if Ald. William Errington (15th) had not challenged Buckley during last week's council meeting, criticizing the mayor for recently ordering the welfare and planning offices moved into each other's former space, cramping the Welfare Department, in Errington's opinion.

Buckley said he kept quiet until Errington brought the matter up, at which time the mayor said he decided to "let the whole thing hang out."

Buckley repeatedly attacked Ehrlicke's use of the word "incompetence," saying after Ehrlicke left the room that it was "a clear-cut lie" for the welfare director to accuse the mayor of using the term.

Ald. Orval Polzin (3rd), committee vice chairman who was in charge in the absence of Ald. Maloney, finally turned to fellow committee members and asked if they wanted to go on to other business.

According to Kalata, Froehlich has said he will be unable to attend a hearing of the City Council's Legislative Committee on Aug. 27 when Maloney has agreed to appear.

Explaining that he has an on-business Buckley was laughing, Froehlich said, "I would recommend that discussion in Utah on that date, you do." They did.

Byrnes Won't Be Confronted By Froehlich

Assembly Speaker Harold Froehlich of Appleton will be unable to confront fellow Republican, Rep. John Byrnes of Green Bay, with charges by Froehlich that Byrnes is a "bottleneck" to congressional action on federal revenue sharing.

Appleton Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd) announced Tuesday that Froehlich has said he will be unable to attend a hearing of the City Council's Legislative Committee on Aug. 27 when Maloney has agreed to appear.

Explaining that he has an on-business Buckley was laughing, Froehlich said, "I would recommend that discussion in Utah on that date, you do." They did.

Fire Injuries Fatal To Greenville Man

NEENAH — A 50-year-old of intensive care Tuesday. Mrs. Zimmer has been released from Appleton Memorial Hospital, as has Buser who had been treated at Theda Clark.

Kemps said this morning that Zimmer's body will be released to the Borchardt and Modern Funeral Home in Hortonville for pending the autopsy.

Funeral services for Zimmer have been set tentatively for 2 p.m. Friday at Mt. Olive Lutheran Church, with burial in Highland Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the Theda Clark home in Hortonville after 2 p.m. Thursday until 10:30 a.m. Friday and then at the church service.

Zimmer is survived by his wife and son, a daughter, his parents and one sister.

A memorial fund has been established for Mt. Olive Lutheran condition, after being moved out of the home, was not unusual.

Rails Fail

Planter Loafer Law Wanted

one planter in front of the H. C. Prange Co. department store in a Department of Public Works trial, are outfitted on their top edge with tooth-like prongs designed to deter sitting.

But Kalata said last Sunday that he saw one youth swinging on the tree outside the planter and the other youths were loitering on and around the decorative stone and masonry structure.

The planters, said Kalata, weren't intended to be "catch-alls for debris — or for human beings either." He had offered an ordinance making it unlawful to sit or occupy any portion of the planters except the wooden benches attached to them.

But Geenens said he was uncertain that the measure would be enforceable. If only the young people who congregated on the planters were ordered to move, it would constitute "selective enforcement," and the youths would have "a pretty good out" if they resisted on that ground, Geenens said.

He said he had seen ordinances used in Palm Beach,

Calif., that seem to work in moving loiterers along. He promised to study the matter.

In other business, the committee:

Recommended council adoption of an ordinance banning outdoor trash burning in the city.

Approved, and public hearings scheduled on amendments to the building and housing codes to cover provisions Inspection Director Charles Magnette said were left out when new codes were adopted a year or two ago.

Floodplain Zoning Hearing to Explore Impact in Neenah

NEENAH — An ordinance which could restrict building and remodeling near the Fox River and along the slough will be aired at a public hearing Sept. 2.

Cities throughout the state have been given until Sept. 15 to "show substantial progress" toward developing a flood plain zoning ordinance or the Department of Natural Resources will come in, develop the ordinance, administer it and charge all costs back to the city.

'Starting to Push'

Wayne Bryan, public works director, Tuesday told the plan commission that the DNR was "really starting to push" for passage of the ordinance.

As proposed, the city would have to designate which might be flooded in times of high water, and building and remodeling in these areas would be restricted to cut down on the possible damage in event of a flood.

Bryan said the areas affected in Neenah would be along the Fox River and the slough. He suggested elevations of 750 feet above sea level for the areas above the Neenah dam, and 740 feet below the dam.

1921 Flood

"These elevations should take care of us for the occasional flood," Bryan said today. He explained that the elevations were based primarily on the water levels reached during a flood in 1921, which is the largest on record.

He sees no real problem in developing and passing an ordinance for Neenah. The only areas affected by the ordinance would be two very small areas along the Fox River and the entire slough, he pointed out.

The work being done on the slough in widening and sloping the banks is designed to take care of a flood about the same as the one which occurred in 1921.

35-Foot Channel

The slough banks are being tapered from a 35-foot main channel to a 150 foot width on the top. "This should be enough to handle all the water, without establishing a flood plain beyond it," he said.

He did indicate, however, that the DNR "may not agree with me."

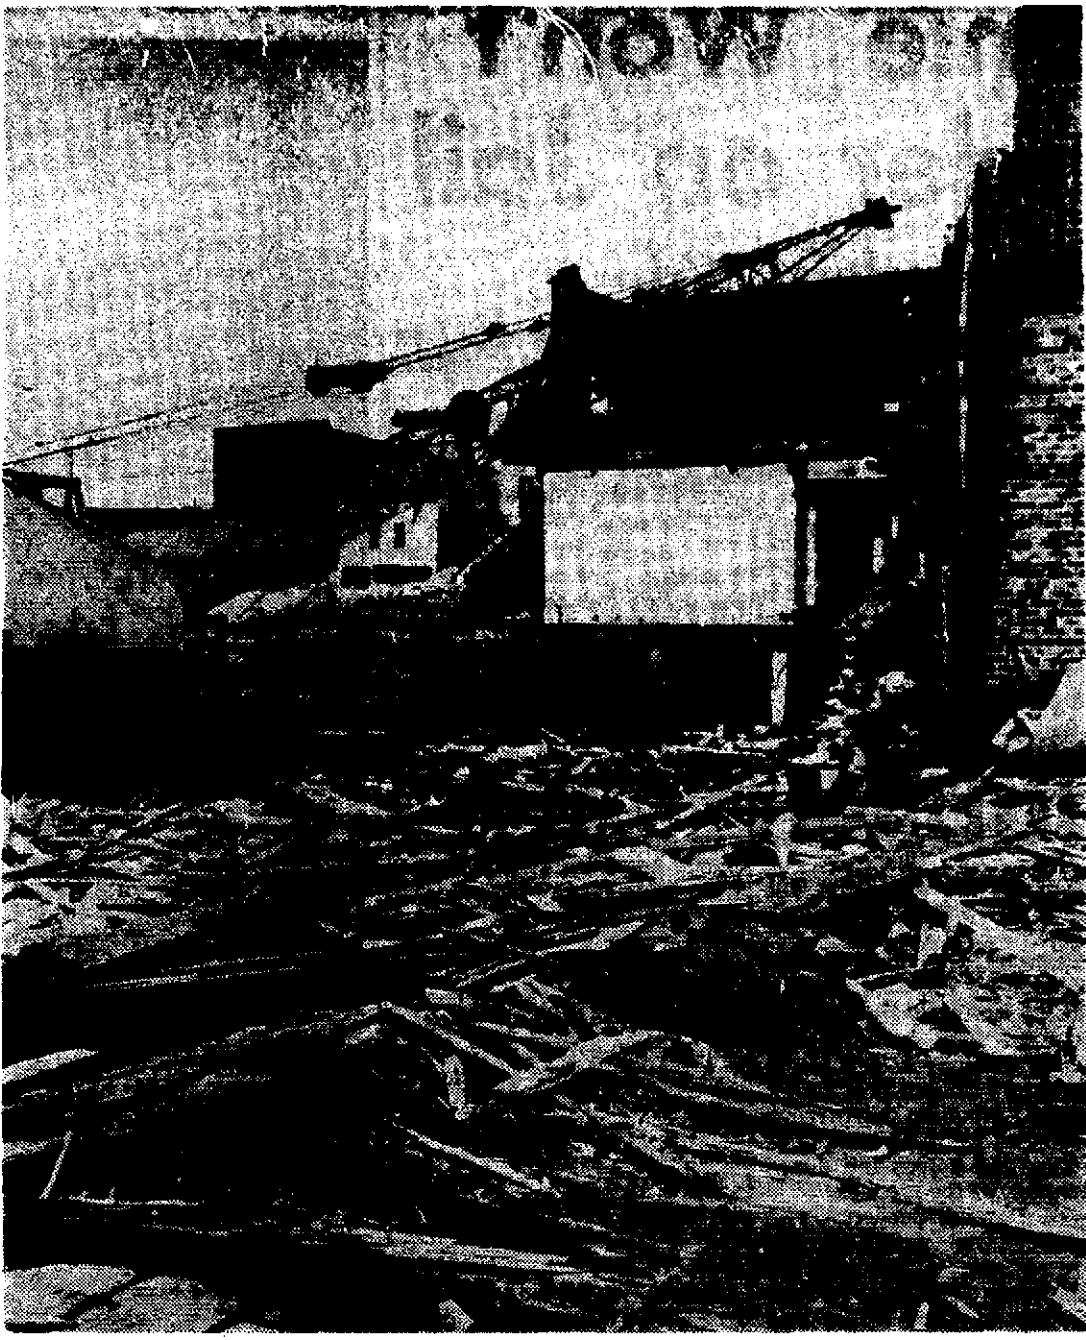

Plan commissioners faced with the state's ultimatum decided to recommend that the city council hold the Sept. 2 hearing.

Robert Bues said, "It looks as if it really doesn't make any difference if we understand it or not. It's something we have to do — so let's do it and get our gold star or whatever it is we get."

According to Bryan, the public hearing and possible passage at the second meeting in September should be enough to constitute "substantial progress" required by the DNR.

Schools Need 2 More Aides In Little Chute

34 Additional Pupils Enrolled in District In Last Two Weeks

LITTLE CHUTE — An additional 34 students surprised the Little Chute School Board Tuesday night into finding it necessary to hire at least two more school aides.

The added students have been placed on the school rolls since the annual school district meeting two weeks ago and have been coming in at the rate of two or three a day, according to School Supt. Leo Bronkalla.

The extra students will not mean extra expense to the district, Bronkalla assured the board. The new pupils will bring in an additional $14,742 in aids, he said.

Because there are no extra classrooms available, Bronkalla said teacher aides would be added to assist the regular instructors. "Things are getting crowded, however," he said and noted that if necessary some of the unfinished areas in the high school could be completed to accommodate more students.

In other action the board voted to continue its contract with Kaukauna to transport handicapped students to Highland Elementary School in Appleton.

The board decided to investigate the legality of donating funds to a newly formed drug council of which Bronkalla is a member.

The purchase of a $750 offset printing machine was also approved by the board.

Winnebago Awaits Vote on Executive

BY BILL HURRLE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OSHKOSH — In an effort to avoid getting into the kind of difficulty Outagamie County's board is in, the coordinating committee of the Winnebago County Board decided Tuesday to make no recommendation to the board on the executive administrator question.

It will wait until WORC (Winnebago Organization Restructuring Committee) brings in a petition with enough signatures to force the board to create the elected executive position by resolution or put the question on the Nov. 3 ballot.

Board Direction

The coordinating committee was directed by the board in July to make a recommendation and conduct a study to outline qualifications for the position.

Orrin King, board chairman, counseled no action. "WORC is going to come in asking for a referendum by the people. This is where it ought to stay. We do not want to do like Outagamie County and try to forestall action of the people."

Supv. Max Carpenter, Townships of Nepeuskun and Rushford, agreed, saying that WORC would come in with the petition no matter what the board did.

Supv. Ted Neely, head of the board's subcommittee studying the question, was piqued at not being contacted by WORCers. "I requested a look at all their materials, but have had no phone call, letter or word in passing."

Neely has devoted some time to compiling data on problems of restructuring county government. Judging from what he has seen of WORC's information backgrounding the need for an executive, Neely feels they are being simplistic.

"It is not a simple task," he said and pointed to an organizational chart with spaghetti-like lines of authority curling between committees, department heads, state statutes and the habits of decades.

He invited WORC to study his facts.

Neely and Supv. Roland Kamgo counsel delay. They point to the relatively new director of personnel, and argue that once his impact is established and reviewed, they will have a better idea of the possibilities open for further structural change.

The board, scrambling about under WORC's heat, took an advisory vote in July: 23 favored an administrator, four an executive, 16 the status quo and four were absent or abstained.

WORC expected to have the necessary 6,858 signatures collected in time to present them to the board at its August meeting. But it fell very short, collecting only about 2,000 signatures.

William Neer, co-chairman of WORC, was not perturbed by the short hitting. He pledged to keep on gathering signatures and come in with the petition in September or October or next spring, if necessary.

WIN Project May Have $38,000 Deficit

OSHKOSH — The WIN program is running heavily over its budget. A deficit of $38,000 is foreseen by the end of the year.

Several factors contributed to the spill of red ink, according to Norman Whitford, head of the Social Services Department. More people than anticipated joined the program and costs for child care increased faster than anticipated.

WIN takes mothers on AFDC, trains them and finds them jobs. Some are going to college, others are pointing for secretarial, industrial or government jobs. Their children must be cared for while they are being trained.

Budget Slip

Ken Navine, head of both WIN and AFDC, said a slip in budgeting and an unexpected ruling by the state caused the problem. The child care portion of the WIN budget was included by mistake in that part of the general administration budget. The state ordered the department to pay the minimum wage, $1.30 an hour in this case, to person's doing child care. "This increased costs appreciably," Navine said.

The social services board recommended that WIN keep on training the mothers in saleable skills and that the deficit be made up by a transfer from the $115,000 surplus that is projected for the AFDC budget.

County Funds

The WIN program is paid for 25 per cent by the county and 75 per cent by the state and federal governments.

The finance committee approved of M. H. Morrisette's request for an assistant county auditor and forwarded it to the labor relations committee. Morrisette, struggling to hold the auditing fort alone under increasing demands for budgeting, reporting and accounting requirements, needs to spend more time with other county departments and committees to assure uniform accounting practices.

Health Unit Approves Changes in City Code

The health commissioner would have power to establish rules governing sanitary operations of food handling establishments, under amendments to the city health and sanitation code approved and sent to the City Council this morning by the Appleton Board of Health.

The board also sent word to the Sanitation Division asking for more strict cleanup of College Avenue and Oneida Street in the downtown area, after the board chairman, Dr. Walter Grossman, described the area as "one mess."

The amendments to the code regulations over food establishments were presented by Deputy Health Commissioner Peter LeMere. He said the provision giving the commissioner power to set rules in addition to those adopted by ordinance is common in other cities. A copy of surface litter periodically, he said, but they fail to get at the in the commissioner's office, dirt at the base.

He complained of litter and trash on the pavement and in changes would be notified of planters along the avenue, in a nearby alley and in a sewer at the College-Oneida intersection which he said hasn't been cleaned for a year. Street annual issuance of "selective or sweepers with wheelbarrows restricted" permits entitling and brooms did a better job certain types of establishments than today's machinery, said to handle foods specified in Dr. Grossman.

The provision was written to cover combined service station and discount store operations which have begun doing business in the city lately in growing numbers, with foods included among other merchandise.

The terms of the permit and the decision whether it should be for six months or a year would be up to the commissioner.

The amendments also would allow pharmacies to sell dietary foods without obtaining a food handling permit, and would adopt state definitions of adulterated food.

Dr. Grossman said College Avenue and the portion of Oneida Street meeting the avenue are "littered all the time." Sanitation crews remove man in other cities. A copy of surface litter periodically, he said, but they fail to get at the in the commissioner's office, dirt at the base.

Policy on Activities Sought

Kaukauna School Board to Survey City Feeling on Student Policies

KAUKAUNA — An ad hoc advisory committee will be selected by the Board of Education to study community feeling on high school students' political activities, it was decided Tuesday.

High school Principal Walter Schmidt requested some kind of board-directed school policy that would govern after-school political activities.

VanHandel Probe Shows Little New

A coroner's inquest Tuesday uncovered little more than already was known about a traffic accident July 29 which took the life of Linda L. VanHandel, 18, 3917 N. Ballard Road.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said he would go over the transcript of the hearing with Dist. Atty. James R. Long to determine if charges will be brought against one or both of the drivers involved in the accident.

Kemps said he expects to have a ruling by the end of the week.

Miss VanHandel was fatally injured last month when an auto driven by Clancy L. Dorin, 19, route 2, Appleton, went out of control on State 96 in Little Chute and hit four mailboxes and a house.

Out of Control

Authorities said that the Dorin car and one driven by Harry P. Reichel Jr., 21, 705 E. Eighth St., Kaukauna, were going west on State 96 about 2 a.m., and that Reichel was attempting a right turn onto Outagamie County Trunk CC when Mrs. Dorin apparently attempted to pass on the right side. Her car was thrown out of control.

It is precisely what occurred just prior to the accident that was at issue at Tuesday's hearing. But five witnesses, including two officers who investigated, couldn't say for sure.

The point of impact was not determined. But Patrolman Thomas Hammen of the Little Chute Police Department, the first to arrive at the scene, said both autos did come together prior to when the Dorin car left the highway. That reportedly threw the Dorin vehicle out of control.

Property Owners' Meeting

Cleaner, Safer Chain is Residents' Goal

KING — Members of the Chain O' Lakes Property Owners' Association are expected to "take the bit in their teeth" on pollution and public safety when the group meets at 7:45 p.m. Aug. 22 in the amusement hall at the Grand Army Home.

One item on the agenda of the meeting will be a proposal for the formation of a clearing house for pollution violations on the Chain.

"We are suggesting that a committee be formed from the membership. That committee will accept confidential reports of polluters or suspected polluters," an official explained. "This group will accept only facts and do its own investigating. If pollution is evident, the committee will take the proper steps to report the violations to the Division of Environmental Protection and insist that measures be taken promptly to correct the situation."

Public Safety

"This will take the pollution matter out of the realm of rumor and curb the flagrant disregard for antipollution measures, we hope," he added.

Another matter of growing concern to lake residents this year has been public safety. "There have been an unprecedented number of boaters and skiers this year on four lakes of the Chain," one resident pointed out. "There has been nominal patrolling, but it has not been enough to control the too common practice of skiers buzzing docks, boats and swimmers during the skiing hours."

"A number of us feel that the association should do everything it can to make the Chain safe and enjoyable for everyone," he added. "This is the time of year when the largest number of property owners are at the lakes and they should have this opportunity to express their views."

What can be done, realistically, to make boating on the Chain safe?

Under the provisions of the Waupaca County Ordinance, which embodies the boating regulations in the Wisconsin Administrative Code, it is unlawful to operate any water craft at any time at a speed greater than six miles per hour on Taylor, Otter, George, Nessling, McCrossen, Limekiln, Othman, Beasley, Orlando, Knight, Manomin, Pope, Marl, Lake, Bass and Minor lakes.

Skiing is permitted only on Rainbow, Round, Columbia and Long lakes at specified hours. There is no speed limit for motored craft on these lakes.

If speed rate and motor size were to be limited on the Chain O' Lakes, it would have to be done by petition to the Waupaca County Board, through the Towns of Dayton and Farmington boards, through petition by the Property Owners Association or through petition by residents.

The county board would act upon the proposal and, if passed, enforcement would be possible through the sheriff's department, the traffic department or the Chain O' Lakes Patrol, as designated.

Will Allot More Geese Permits to State Hunters

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin hunters have been allotted 10,000 more Canada geese permits this year than they were last season, in an action taken Tuesday by the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The statewide permit system is being conducted by federal authorities for the fourth consecutive season, but the DNR is handling issuance of permits and tags for the managed hunt in the Horicon zone this year.

Except for the increased quota of 35,000, few changes have been made in the rules.

Of the quota, a goal of 20,000 has been set for the Horicon hunt. That is 3,000 higher than last year's. To take that number, 28,500 tags will be issued for a 16-day season. There will be 14,250 tags for each of two overlapping two-week periods.

The first period will be Oct. 17-31 and the second, Oct. 19-Nov. 1.

"Crisp, concise captioning," comments Colonel Bug, congratulating Sandra. Simplicity is the key to successful cartooning. Our Kid Cartooners understand modification on the drawing side but often tend to ignore it when they approach the caption. Wordplay can make or break a gag as surely as the drawing can.

Boys and girls, high school age and under—has the Bug ever bitten you? When he does, send your cartoons to the Cartoon Bug, c/o this newspaper. He pays $10.00 for those that are accepted. Sorry, but the Bug can't return any not accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

To Your Good Health

Results of VD Tests May Show Variations

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our college freshman daughter gave blood to the Red Cross. Later we were contacted by the state health department and told that her blood contains evidence of syphilis.

We are disturbed and the girl is in such mental anguish that her college record is being spoiled.

Our family doctor tested her and the result was negative. Then the college health center repeated the test and the result was again positive. Can you explain this variance? How should we proceed? — Mrs. D.H.

There are such things as "false positives." These can occur after certain illnesses, mononucleosis being one. Also viral infections. These false positives are not related to syphilis in any way.

It also happens that some types of tests can give such false positives while others don't. It is possible that the college may have used a different type of test.

The only satisfactory course is to have more detailed serological blood tests in addition to the routine tests, and get a definite answer instead of this nerve-wracking contraction. Your doctor can arrange for such special serological tests.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: It has been a week since my last menstrual period. I have had air (I don't know how else to describe it) coming from the vagina, and have had this following recent periods. I also have a vaginal discharge at times.

I have heard that such discharge is nature's way of cleansing the uterus. How much is normal?

I have had an I.U.D. for over a year, but had a Pap smear four months ago.

Is this condition something I should consult my physician about or is it possibly being caused by the I.U.D.? — Mrs. M.R.

The I.U.D. (intrauterine device used for contraception, or "coil" or "loop") is one widely used method of birth control, but some women can encounter complications.

One is irritation and infection, and it is possible that you have an infection involving gas-forming organisms.

As to the vaginal discharge, nature cleans by subtle secretion of mucus. This can increase at certain times, particularly at mid-cycle, when ovulation occurs, and be perfectly normal.

However, a heavy, noticeable discharge is not normal, and with your combination of symptoms, I think you should check with your doctor without further delay.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: During my pregnancy my doctor told me I have a rheumatic heart. My husband and I both want another child, but we are afraid the child would not be normal.

or that it would be dangerous for me, as I had a hard time in my first pregnancy. — Mrs. J.E.V.

Having a rheumatic heart does not mean that a child will be damaged or deformed. The pregnancy does, however, put more strain on your heart.

Without knowing in what way you had "a hard time," I can't suggest much more except to ask your doctor frankly whether it would be dangerous to have another baby. If your heart isn't too much weakened, he might approve another pregnancy — which might be easier than the first. This is a case in which you very much need your doctor's counsel in advance.

Note to Mrs. G. K.: No, neither vitamins nor hormones nor any combination of them will prevent or retard either cataracts or glaucoma.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching, and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Post-Crescent requesting a copy of the booklet, "The Real Cure for Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Jingo Says Join Fun At Galloway Village

Fond du Lac Historical Society in Action at Sunday Ice Cream Social

BY JINGO
Everybody possible who's been there other summers will be traveling Sunday afternoon to Pioneer Road on the southern outskirts of Fond du Lac.

The reason? The Fond du Lac Historical Society is holding its annual ice cream social and activities bash at its delightful—and historical—Galloway House Museum and Village. It's really worth seeing, besides the enjoyment of the ice cream-cake-pastry eating on the spacious lawns of Galloway House. The time is from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Besides the food, all donated and made by members for the occasion as a means of raising money for their special Village project, Society members will be dressed in appropriate costumes doing their "historical thing." The circular drive behind the historical Galloway House will become a real village in action.

Men will be at work in the woodworking shop; there will be a teacher-hostess in the old restored schoolhouse. The photographic studio, a real one from the turn of the century, will be open to visitors. Members skilled at crafts will be hooking rugs and holding a quilting bee on the lawns. Nearby, others will cane chairs.

In the pioneer cabin, an early one brought from a rural area and relocated by Society members on the Galloway grounds, accomplished folk singer June Koenigs will sing old songs and accompany herself on the zither.

In the old mill on Butternut Creek, where the overshot wheel goes round and round,

300 State Youth In Band Concert Saturday at Bay

GREEN BAY — The Decker Avenue campus of the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay will become an outdoor concert hall Saturday morning when 300 young high school band members present a public concert as the climax of the 1970 Summer Music Clinic being held this week.

The program will begin at 11 a.m. In the event of rain it will be held in Preble High School Auditorium.

Clinic participants, junior and senior high school students and June graduates from 51 schools in Northeastern Wisconsin, will perform in four groups.

Robert Bauer, director of bands for UWGB, will conduct the senior high band and wind ensemble. Conductor of the junior high band and stage band is Lovell Ives. Ives is arranger for the UWGB Band and director of the Jazz Ensemble and Pop Singers.

The four groups will present a program ranging from the classical to contemporary music.

corn will be ground into meal. The corn will be shelled either by a crew on the lawn or in the Carriage House Museum where the old farm machinery is on display. In this building with its two stories, a make-believe (but dexterous) cobbler will make shoes and other Society members will run the various equipment with moving parts.

The old-fashioned general store with its authentic post office at one end will be open for inspection as will the former county fair building that now houses the doll collection recently presented to the Society by active members Mr. and Mrs. William Sanders.

Musical programs will be given throughout the afternoon in the little chapel. Jingo knows for sure that Mr. and Mrs. George Weiss, violinist and organist, respectively, from Eden will perform as will organist-vocalist Bonnie Payne, of Fond du Lac. It is believed a third singing group from a neighboring city also will perform in the series of miniature programs.

There are new things to see and enjoy this summer at Galloway, including a Heritage room in the restored home that is a delight to tour all by itself. The parking lot is completed at the end of the grounds with a new reception center adjacent to it. This structure is "built from scratch" but looks old in period tradition with cedar shakes and wood shingles and panelling. The building also boasts commodious porches designed especially for visitors who need a shaded resting place.

Jingo's always excited about this historical project by the Fond du Lac County Society because these people do all their own work—planning, developing, fund raising and actual construction or moving of an authentic building. And they have done it all without the distortion or spoiling of a real historical site—one of the finest in Wisconsin.

It's not difficult to reach since Pioneer Road runs into U.S. 41. Motorists going from the Fox Cities need only to head south, then turn left on Pioneer at the outskirts of Fond du Lac and follow the road to the site located between Park Avenue and Martin Road. The entrance fee is nominal, 25 cents for young fry under 12; 50 cents up to age 18; $1 for adults.

Silt Clouds Lake Tahoe's Azure Waters

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) —California has moved to halt the muddying of Lake Tahoe's azure waters.

The state Water Resources Control Board named the "five worst silt polluters" of the lake and ordered the Regional Water Control Board to take prompt action to halt the silting—including legal action against anyone causing more silting.

Whenever trees and other plants have been removed from the steep slopes of the surrounding Sierra Nevada, the dusty soil has washed into the lake, forming mudflats and muddying waters of the 6,000-foot-high lake famous for its clarity.

The problem, said board member W. W. Adams, "is people." Adams said he was dismayed to discover the Tahoe basin had up to 250,000 permanent residents.

Actor Weaver Sings, Talks For Everlys

BY TV SCOUT
3-3 Channels 11-9 — Johnny Cash Presents the Everly Brothers Show has its best offering to date. First there is Dennis Weaver, telling a story about co-starring with a bear (Gentle Ben), then singing a haunting "Long Time Blues." Clair and McMahon, as relatives of the Everlys, watching from the audience, do a funny skit brought on by his admiration of another guest, Linda Ronstadt. Stevie Wonder sings up a storm and also lets his harmonica talk for him.

8-9 Channel 5 — The Kraft Music Hall, with Des O'Connor as host, comes around again, this time with Jimmie Rodgers, Connie Stevens and English comic Jimmy Edwards on hand. O'Connor solos "When You're Smiling" and teams with Edwards on "Those Were the Days" while Connie offers "Save the Country" and Rodgers gets into the act with "Child of Clay."

6-30-8 Channel 5 — The Virginian has an absorbing drama which digs deeply into the past of Susan Strasberg, who thinks she is just an ordinary Indian maiden. She is captured by Trampas and Stacy while she and her "parents" are rustling cattle. (R)

7-7:30 Channels 2-7 — What do you want to bet that Jim Nabors gets to sing on Gomer

Pyle — U. S. M. C.'s The plot concerns a Navy relief show in Washington, D. C. (R)

7:30-8 Channels 11-9 — Room 222 has an excellent script dealing with principal and principle. Pete and school principal Kaufman, close friends, are suddenly divided on the issue of overly crowded classrooms. (R)

9-10 Channel 5 — Then Came Bronson is about an aging pixie of a painter, skillfully played by Jay Novello. He hires Bronson to help him paint a barn. While our hero is being traditional with red paint, Novello is decorating his side of the barn with a figure of a woman. (R)

10:30-11:30 Channel 2 — Dr. Gannon's dilemma on Medical Center concerns the blindness of a girl who has been in a motorcycle accident. He diagnoses the problem as mental rather than physical. (R)

Heavy Fighting Continues at Base O'Reilly

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces battled the North Vietnamese for the fourth day today at Fire Base O'Reilly, in the northern part of the country, and claimed 96 enemy killed in two battles in the south. But Saigon's forces suffered heavy casualties in one of the latter engagements.

A company manning an outpost about a mile south of O'Reilly beat back an attack before dawn by a North Vietnamese company and reported 10 of the enemy killed. The defenders said two of their men were wounded.

Military spokesmen said contact with the North Vietnamese continued during the morning.

The artillery base 27 miles west of Hue has been under mortar and automatic weapons attack since Sunday by massing North Vietnamese troops who also have made several probing ground attacks against outposts. The base and its outposts are defended by a 665-man battalion from the South Vietnamese 1st Division, supported by American helicopter gunships and fighter-bombers.

Enemy Force
The enemy force in the area is estimated at 1,500 men.

O'Reilly is one of five mountain artillery strongpoints strung along North Vietnamese supply and infiltration routes to the populous coastal lowlands to the east. Apparently the North Vietnamese are trying to drive the South Vietnamese from O'Reilly, as they drove the Americans last month from Fire Base Ripcord, five miles to the south.

A government force about 45 miles west of Saigon reported killing 45 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese Tuesday in a battle in the Parrot's Beak area of Cambodia. Fifteen South Vietnamese troops were killed and 70 wounded. It was one of the highest government tolls in recent weeks.

Delta Engagement
South Vietnamese infantrymen fought another engagement Tuesday in the Mekong Delta 43 miles southwest of Saigon. The government's military headquarters reported 51 Viet Cong killed, 28 of them by helicopter gunships, and said there was only one government casualty, a wounded man.

In Cambodia, the Cambodian military command reported that government forces drove off an enemy attack on Dang Kor.

within five miles of Phnom Penh. It was the third attack in five days within rocket range of the Cambodian capital, and observers there expect the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese to begin shelling the city soon.

Supv. Delmar Schmeichel, Towns of Center and Ellington, who had been a backer of the county farm site, objected to continued site debate by the board. "The farm site was killed two months ago by the city council," he said, referring to the council's position that the city could not go to the farm with its police station.

"If you want the entire county board to be a committee we will never get anywhere," Schmeichel said.

How they voted:
Voting in favor were: Babbitt, Conradt, Dietz, Friend, Gibson, Grunwaldt, Woodard, Heblie, Hiler, Jahnke, Jens, Karras, Kavanaugh, Koletzke, Kostka, Kroes, Lenz, Miller, Rehfeldt, Ripp, Runte, Schmeichel, Rose Schroeder, VanDyke, Verfurth and DeLaHunt.

Voting against: Austin, Breiting, DeBruin, Driessen, Kasperek, Kemps, Kloes, Krause, Retzlaff, Schreiter, George Schroeder, Schreiter, Steger, Tillman, Weyenberg, Woods and Wussow.

Absent: Bubolz, Huseby, Spierings and Williams.

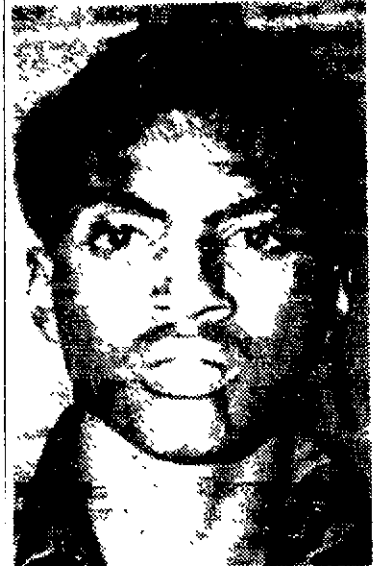

Grand Chute, and George Kroes, Town of Vandenberg, agreed. Both said they had been approached by many people who wanted the board to make up its mind.

Supv. Joseph DeBruin, Town of Buchanan, and several others, objected to having the parking fund part of the safety-building resolution. Appleton Supv. John Schreiter questioned what the county would get for the $175,000.

DeLaHunt said the cash was needed because the neighboring property owners "no longer had faith in options taken by the county." He said options have been taken in the past and never exercised.

Approval for converting the courthouse lawn into parking was almost anti-climatic. The plan, which would provide about 30 parking stalls, had been presented on numerous occasions in past years but always had been rejected on the grounds it would ruin the aesthetic beauty of the courthouse.

This time it passed, 30-12.

Nerve Gas Being Loaded Onto Ship To be Scuttled Deep in Atlantic

SUNNY POINT, N.C. (AP) — Stevedores today began loading 418 steel-jacketed vaults of nerve gas aboard an old Liberty ship which will become a tomb at the bottom of the sea for the deadly chemical.

Two heavily guarded trains rolled into this military port

Tuesday night and early today after uneventful trips across the South from Army arsenals in Anniston, Ala., and Richmond, Ky.

After the trains and cargo had been inspected, the Army gave the order to start the transfer of the concrete and steel coffins to the Liberty ship, a relic of World War II which was brought out of mothballs for the assignment.

Dock workers used two 50-ton cranes to hoist the deck-sized vaults into the hold of the freighter. The first was loaded at 9:45 a.m. EDT.

The loading is expected to take two or three days. Then the government plans to have Navy tugs tow the 442-foot vessel, the LeBrannon Russell Briggs, to a point in the Atlantic 282 miles east of Cape Kennedy, Fla. Valves and gas drains are to be opened to let in water so the Briggs will sink 16,000 feet to the bottom.

The scuttling is expected next Tuesday. But the tugs, accompanied by a destroyer escort and Coast Guard cutter, will not leave port until they have a 96-hour prediction of good weather. The Army and Navy want to accomplish the job before September, usually the most active month for hurricanes in the Atlantic.

Gas Rockets
Each of the concrete coffins, capped by a quarter-inch layer of metal, contains 30 M55 nerve gas rockets, a total of 12,540.

The gas is called GB, or "Sarin," and is capable of killing a person in minutes after attacking part of the central nervous system. It is in liquid form but would quickly turn to gas if it escaped.

In addition to the GB gas, sealed in one of the Anniston coffins is a 10½-pound container of VX nerve gas, the substance that is believed to have killed 6,400 sheep when tested at a Utah proving ground in 1968.

Army chemical experts and the National Academy of Sciences say the gas, manufactured during the Korean War, must be disposed of quickly because the rockets are deteriorating. It is believed the gas is seeping into the rockets' propellant chambers, with possible danger of detonation.

The only disposal method that can be achieved quickly, the Head of Insolvent Bank Free

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A 36-year-old bank president charged in a $5-million "misapplication" of his bank's funds has been released on bond after cooperating with authorities in their investigation.

Douglas J. Schotte of Lincroft, president of the insolvent Eaton-National Bank, was arrested and charged Tuesday with misapplication of $5 million in cashiers checks issued to a number of stock brokerage concerns in the New Jersey-New York area.

The arrest of the balding bank president, who is married and the father of three, occurred in the office of U.S. Atty. Frederick B. Lacey here after 2½ hours of testimony by the banker before a federal grand jury.

The six-year-old bank, which listed resources of $16,459,650 in its semiannual report June 30, was declared insolvent Saturday and closed by the U.S. comptroller of the currency. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation — FDIC — which insures accounts up to $20,000 was appointed receiver.

FDIC Payments
FDIC officials have assured depositors with accounts of $20,000 or less that they will get their money within a few days. Those with accounts over $20,000 will have to file as creditors for the additional amounts.

Schotte was handcuffed when arraigned before a U.S. magistrate who released him on a $25,000 personal recognizance bond.

The charge alleged that the cashiers checks were issued between July 6 and August 6. No preliminary hearing date was set.

Lacey, who confirmed a declaration of Schotte's lawyer that the banker had been cooperating with authorities, said the investigation of the case would be lengthy.

Lacey refused comment on whether more arrests might follow.

FBI officials said Schotte's arrest was based on federal laws prohibiting the misapplication of bank funds, not on a grand jury indictment.

The New York Stock Exchange announced Tuesday that it was conducting a routine check of its members to determine if any was in financial difficulty as a result of the bank's insolvency.

Education Veto Overriding Pushed

quests, saying further reductions should be made in defense spending and foreign aid rather than in such fields as education, health and veterans' care.

The announcement that Nixon vetoed the bills prompted a sharp exchange on the House floor. Rep. Hefle Boggs, D-La., said Nixon was attempting to shift the blame for inflation and high interest rates to the Democrats.

Boggs said the $1 billion addition to the two measures amounted to less than half the additional cost to the government from increased interest rates.

Ford, however, said, "When you spend more than you take in, you inevitably add to the cost of interest to the federal government."

Vetoes "Painful"
Nixon said his vetoes were "painful, but necessary to hold down the rising cost of living."

Democratic national chairman Larry O'Brien said Nixon's action "illustrated in starkest terms the distorted priorities of his administration."

The overriding cause of the rising cost of living is "Nixon's refusal to use the powers of the presidency to control excessive price and wage decisions, and his refusal to use the economic tools which Congress has given him," O'Brien added.

Democrats hoped the lure of big money allotments for veterans' hospitals and schools would give impetus to their drive.

One bill would provide $18 billion in new funds for the Veterans' Administration and a score of other agencies.

One of the larger boosts in the education bill was $126 million in funds for so-called impacted school districts heavily populated by children of federal employees. Another hike over the budget was $232 million for various secondary and elementary school programs.

The impacted school districts are scattered among more than 350 congressional districts.

Biggest allotment in the $18 billion measure is $9 billion for the Veterans Administration. This includes $105 million more than the President requested, all of the increase being in medical care programs including hospital construction.

One high-ranking Republican who has a veterans' hospital and impacted schools in his district said privately "I don't see how I can vote against these and go home in the daylight next week."

Democrats predicted education and veterans' groups would pressure members to override the vetoes.

Election Year
Regardless of which way the voting goes, Democrats believe their expected all-out vote against the vetoes cannot hurt them politically in this congressional election year. But the 243 Democrats don't make up two-thirds of the House membership. There are 187 Republicans.

President Nixon referred to the political angle in his veto message.

"My veto of both these bills is painful," he said, "but necessary to hold down the rising cost of living."

"At election time it is tempting for people in politics to say 'yes' to every spending bill," he added.

For him to approve the bills, the President said, "would be saying yes to a higher cost of living, yes to higher interest rates, yes to higher taxes."

filling the blanks with the proper letters that, reading from top to bottom, will spell the name of a certain creature. The picture contains a clue. Next, clip out the picture, paste it on a sheet of paper, print your name, age, address and Zip Code number beneath it and decorate the entry in any neat, original way with your paints or crayons. Finally address it to Cappy Dick's Midweek "Talking Glove" Contest at The Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow. The 5 neatest and most original correct entries received from boys and girls of the Fox Cities area will win local qualifying prizes. These are sets of wire puzzles which are good for hours of fun. Entries winning these awards will be reconsidered by the contest judges, along with the qualified entries from all other cities where this column is published, to find the five neatest and most original of all. These five entries will win the "Talking Globes." Names of the prize winners will be published here and their prizes will be sent to them by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be returned. Tomorrow: How to make a family of stone paperweights!

Broiled Liver 'n' Bacon

Crunchy Fish Fry

Planning a camping vacation? Taking a trip by camper with stops all planned and the barbecue grill all packed? Do you own a boat complete with galley to get away from it all on river or lake cruise? Is there a cottage hideaway in your week-ends?

Whether a roadrunner who enjoys watching the highway miles go by, whether landlubber or seafarer, or just a weekender with a liking for short jaunts and wayside dining... these recipes are for the cook. Some travelers like to build a campfire beside a lake or stream, others prefer a trim campstove with cylinders of gas. Even that doesn't matter if the menu plan is in hand, the supplies kept to a minimum along with recipes simple, nourishing and flavorful.

For instance, did you ever consider the simplicity of liver and bacon, grilled quickly to perfection over camp stove, galley stove, barbecue grill or campfire? Both liver and bacon are easy take-alongs and they can be ready to serve in a short 15 minutes.

Thick, juicy burgers are long-time favorites and probably always will be, so today's recipe is for Hawaiian Beach Burgers — ground beef patties liberally doused with a sweet-sour sauce of pineapple juice, brown sugar and prepared yellow mustard.

It goes without saying that cottagers, campers and picknickers on a safari usually take to freshly caught fish cooked to a delicious turn. The recipe that makes a gourmet treat of a catch combines rice, tomato sauce, French fried onions (bought by the can) and a few seasonings for a superb stuffing. The trout, whitefish, or other species is grilled or baked in foil.

A second recipe is for a crisp and crunchy fish fry, designed for galley cooking but adaptable to any place that boasts heat for frying.

There's also a recipe for a quick campsite salad, Cheese-Butter Corn and a delicious Beef-Bean Bubble, cooked in a pot and delicious when it comes off the campfire. They all are worth trying.

BROILED LIVER 'N' BACON
½ cup olive oil or salad oil
¼ teaspoon black pepper
¼ teaspoon parsley
garlic salt
1½ pounds thick
sliced calf's liver
8 strips of lean bacon
Combine oil, pepper and parsley. In a small bowl mix together mayonnaise, vinegar, and salt. Stir mayonnaise mixture into potatoes. Chill. Serve on lettuce. Recipe makes four servings.

mixture over meat. Broil, turning once and pouring remaining oil mixture over liver. Total cooking time is approximately 15 minutes. Recipe makes about four servings.

HAWAIIAN BEACH BURGERS
¼ cup pineapple juice
¼ cup prepared yellow mustard
¼ cup brown sugar firmly packed

1 pound ground beef
1 medium-size green pepper, chopped
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
Stir together pineapple juice, mustard and brown sugar.

Combine ground beef, green pepper, onion and salt. Shape into four patties. Cook in a skillet or grill over hot coals to desired doneness, brushing patties generously with mustard-pineapple mixture. Serve with remaining sauce.

CHEESE BUTTER CORN
8 ears corn
¼ cup butter,

Parmesan cheese

Salad Go-Alongs With Grilled Meats

Cold salads and hot-off-the-grill meats — it's an irresistible cookout combination.

The Patio Bean Salad is a crisp combination of vegetables with a simple oil and vinegar dressing given tang with Worcestershire sauce.

There's no paring and slicing involved in making Garden Potato Salad. Its base is instant mashed potato granules, celery, radishes and bacon are added for crunch.

For attractive help-yourself service, arrange individual mounds of the potato salad on a large platter — they're easily made with an ice cream scoop.

PATIO BEAN SALAD
1 can (1-lb.) whole green beans, drained
1 large green pepper, chopped
2 tomatoes, cut in wedges
¼ cup oil
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon French's Worcestershire Sauce
½ teaspoon salt
Combine beans, pepper and tomatoes. In a small jar add oil, vinegar, Worcestershire sauce, and salt; shake until well blended. Pour over vegetables and toss lightly. Recipe makes four servings.

GARDEN POTATO SALAD
1 envelope (5-servings) instant mashed potato granules
4 slices cooked, crisp bacon, crumbled
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
½ cup sliced radishes
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon vinegar
¼ teaspoon salt

An Open Letter to... our millions of friends who buy Wrigley brands of quality chewing gum.

Wm. WRIGLEY Jr. Company CHEWING GUM MANUFACTURERS

GENERAL OFFICES • CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Inflation is and has been one of everybody's problems — yours and ours as well — and now that there is a determined drive to check it, we feel that everyone should do his part to help, no matter how small.

Therefore, we want you to know that the Wrigley Company has not raised its wholesale price on the regular 5-stick packages of Wrigley's Spearmint, Doublemint and Juicy Fruit Gum, and you should not be paying more for these packages than you have in the past.

Recently some manufacturers have raised the price on their brands of chewing gum, and this increase has been passed on to the consumer. As a result, many consumers and retailers are under the mistaken impression that our price has also gone up. There are always some who will take advantage of any opportunity to add to their own profits, but we believe that most of those in the trade are and will play fair and hold the price on our brands even though this means extra work for them.

As costs increase, as they are bound to, Wrigley will have to raise its price. But in view of the present economic situation we just don't think this is the time. We intend to tighten our belts and do our level best to hold the line, at least through this current anti-inflation campaign.

Family Trees Yield Rewards for Mrs. Bastian

BY MARY WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Mrs. Violet Bastian admits her methods are a bit unconventional. Rather than enlist the aid of official investigators, she follows up leads and tracks down missing links all by herself.

Working from her apartment on Prospect Avenue, she's closed many a case without magnifying glasses and plaid caps a la Sherlock Holmes. All Mrs. Bastian needs is her trusty telephone and the mystery is solved.

What's her line?

Mrs. Bastian is in the family tree business, a one-woman, nonprofit project that has kept her occupied since May 1969. That's when she yielded to the requests of assorted relatives to complete the Lucius Anthony genealogy.

Sense of Family Prevails

The son of David Martin Anthony, who settled on Wau-paca County's Balcon Road in the second half of the nineteenth century, and the grandson of William L. Anthony, who served in the War of 1812, Lucius bequeathed a strong sense of family to his descendants. While other members of the William L. Anthony family gradually drifted to all corners of the nation or gave up the custom of attending reunions, the Lucius Anthonys stayed in Wisconsin, where they've continued the 45-year-old tradition of meeting annually.

This summer, when 85 members of the family gathered at Weyauwega, Mrs. Bastian was ready and waiting with a newly completed genealogy and a tour of homesteads and other Anthony landmarks mapped out for all to visit.

Unique to most family reunions, the program brought to a climax the work begun by Winona Baker. The woman who first researched the Anthony family, tracing it back to William L. Anthony, Miss Baker was the group's historian until she retired from the teaching profession to become a member of the lay ministry in Virginia.

Overcomes Reservations

Over the years, she compiled 94 pages of Anthony history in detail with a scholar's delight and concern for accuracy. Then in 1963, upon her departure, the family turned to Mrs. Bastian, her assistant, for the remainder of the genealogy.

"I think I really hated to start out, possibly because I had never done it before. I wasn't brought up on it either, the way Winona was," Mrs. Bastian added.

Finally, six years later, she embarked on the project, making her search by telephone.

Beginning with the eldest members of the family, Mrs. Bastian called, seeking birth and marriage dates, as well as vital information about their children to fill in the missing links. In nearly every instance, the response was an enthusiastic one, even though Mrs. Bastian had never met many of those she called. But once she had explained her purpose, they seemed eager to assist and interested in untangling the bonds of kinship.

One Call Leads to Another

"It's an intriguing thing, this business of doing family trees," commented Mrs. Bastian. "It's sort of like fancy work—once you get started, you want to go on to the next one. Then you find out you know someone in common and suddenly you've made a new friend."

Quickly snowballing, the genealogy "mania" led Mrs. Bastian to trace eight additional families, all of them linked to the Anthonys. Sometimes making as many as 30 contacts on a weekend, Mrs. Bastian has recorded the results in longhand covering page after page.

Months of work tell a multifaceted story: Families have grown smaller, certain names have passed out of vogue and fewer women die in childbirth. Thanks to the interest her church has taken in the project, Mrs. Bastian has been able to obtain access to duplicating equipment so that the Anthonys at last know their history in America.

Making it all worthwhile was the reaction of one lady at the Anthony reunion.

"She seemed to be on the verge of tears during the tour," recalled Mrs. Bastian. "Later she came up to me to ask why we hadn't done this a long time ago."

Germans to Recognize New Roles

Equal Responsibility Stressed In Proposed Divorce Reform

BY PETER REHAK

BONN, Germany (AP) — The government wants to reform West German divorce laws to recognize that women are able to fend for themselves in today's industrial society.

This is somewhat of a revolution. Present laws operate on the principle that Pop brings home the bacon and Mama raises kids and takes care of the home. If Pop's roving eye gets him into trouble Mama can take him to divorce court and get support for herself for the rest of her life.

"This is a turn-of-the-century idea which no longer corresponds to developments in society and is not compatible with the independent position the constitution grants women," Justice Minister Gerhard Jahn said in an introduction to his draft of the legislation, due to come before parliament next year.

Temporary Alimony
"Our view is that man and wife today have equal responsibility in a marriage."

They and not the law have to decide who takes on responsibility for what in case of a divorce, he added.

Under the proposed law, the courts will grant alimony only on a temporary basis—until the economically weaker partner is able to support himself or herself. The husband must support his wife while she is taking care of minor children or while she is training or retraining for a job. The draft says a woman is entitled to be trained for a job corresponding to her capabilities, but alimony stops once she is supporting herself.

The husband must compensate for any pension rights the wife lost due to marriage.

Guilt Not Assigned

Jahn calls this arrangement an improvement over the present law, providing for lifelong alimony, because in the long run it will make the economically weaker partner independent.

The draft also proposes to do away with the principle of a guilty party in divorce proceedings. The party deemed guilty is now assessed the bulk of the financial burden imposed by a divorce.

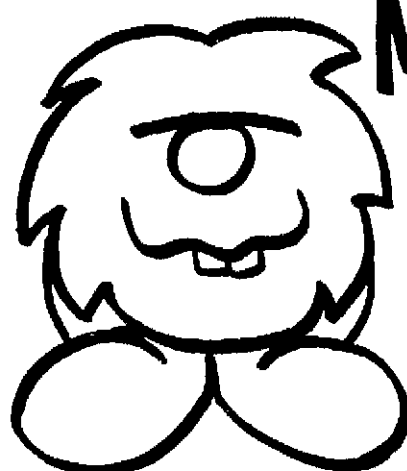

A divorce will be granted if a court decides a marriage has failed.

If both partners agree to a divorce, living apart for a year of separation will be of the marriage. If one of them does not consent, three years of separation will be grounds for the court to declare a failure.

The court can refuse a divorce "in extraordinarily extreme cases" where it feels one of the partners faces hardship.

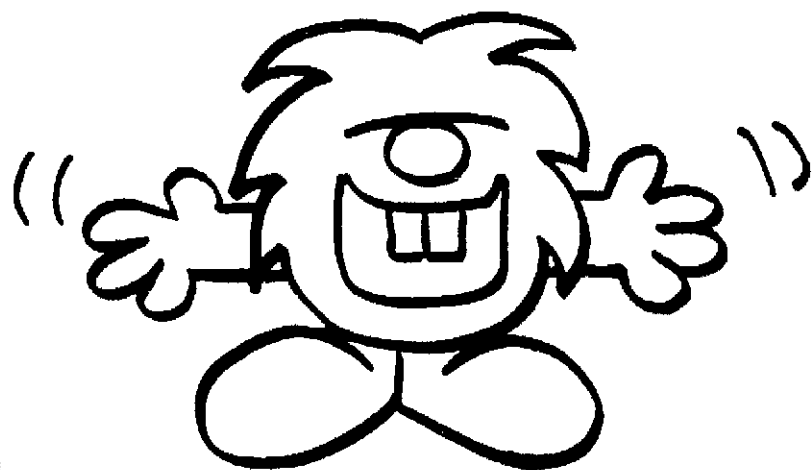

Jahn is throwing his draft open to debate and suggestions before he brings it before parliament. The West German Lawyers' Association will discuss it in September.

and church groups will get a chance to express their views. The conservative Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung says the reform is on the right track.

Giant Dumpling Commercial Triggers Letters for Recipes

BY TOM HOGGE
Associated Press Writer

By now most of us have chuckled, or winced, over that television commercial titled "Groom's First Meal." That's the one which depicts the tribulations of a young husband who has dutifully consumed the better part of a massive dumpling made by his loving bride.

The camera records the groom's exquisite agony as his helpmate brightly discusses possible future menus, such as Sweet 'n Sour Snails and Poached Oysters.

Believe it or not, the commercial has triggered an avalanche of letters asking for the recipes for these monstrosities. Mercifully, such recipes don't exist and one devoutly hopes they never will.

Recently we ran into the author of this unique commercial, an affable 34-year-old writer named Marvin Honig.

We were surprised to learn that the episode is based on a memorable experience he had when sampling the first meal prepared for him by his own 23-year-old bride, Ellen, whom he married last January.

"It was while we were still engaged. Ellen invited me up to her place for dinner and cooked up something she called Squash Surprise," Honig recalled with a slight shudder.

"It was a pretty big squash, and Ellen asked me to cut it in half. But, what with one thing and another, it came out two-thirds and one-third."

"Ellen then proceeded to stuff the two pieces of squash with some stewed apples, cinnamon, sugar and other seasonings she had about the kitchen. Then she popped it in the oven and let the mixture bake a while."

Teeth Gritting Experience
"Finally she sat me down at the table and gave me the two-thirds sized piece of squash, plus two rather leathery pork chops. I could see her watching me, so I gritted my teeth and ate everything on my plate."

The following day Honig showed up at the office with a king-sized case of indigestion and little urge to be creative.

"Then suddenly it hit me," he said. "I was doing the commercials for this anti-acid medical preparation and what better way to present it than to re-enact my own experience."

"It fitted perfectly with the product," he went on. "And also I felt it might serve as a lesson for other young brides. When you are trying to impress your loved one with your cooking prowess, don't overdo it."

Did Ellen see the commercial?

She Got Message
"She saw it all right," said Honig, "and I might add she got the connection right away. All she would comment was 'mildly amusing.'"

The story has a happy ending. Today, Ellen knows a lot more about cooking on the gourmet side. One whose tastiness we can vouch for, is called Stuffed Crab Surprise. As Marvin says, it's a lot nicer surprise than the one he experienced the night of the Big Squash.

Stuffed Crab Surprise
1 lb. Ricotta cheese
6 oz. bel paese cheese
1 beaten egg yolk
1/2 lb. crab meat
2 tablespoons minced onion
3 tablespoons minced green pepper
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
3/4 cup hot milk
1 tablespoon minced parsley
2 tablespoons dry white wine salt, pepper
1/4 cup prepared tomato sauce
parmesan cheese

Cut bel paese cheese into small diced pieces about 1/2 inch thick. Combine ricotta, bel paese, whole egg, and egg yolk, mixing well. Set aside.

Remove any pieces of shell or cartilage from crab meat. Sauté onion and pepper in butter until onion is yellow. Remove from flame and stir in flour. Slowly add hot milk. Return to low flame and simmer five minutes, stirring frequently. Combine crab meat and sauce. Add parsley, wine, and salt and pepper to taste. Chill crab meat mixture in refrigerator.

Spread half ricotta mixture over a shallow 7 inch casserole. Spread crab meat over ricotta. Spread balance of ricotta over crabmeat. Pour tomato sauce on top. Sprinkle generously with parmesan cheese.

Bake in preheated oven at 370 degrees until cheese browns—about 20 to 30 minutes.

Useful Tips For Cooks On Safari

Planning is the keyword for meal preparation when the family is on the go, on vacation or camping.

The cook on a boat must plan carefully to keep supplies down, yet adequate. The cook on a camping vacation must do the same, especially if the camp is remote from a supermarket. The same advice can be applied to a cottage or camper trailer.

Here are a few tips to make meal preparation easier and the same could be used by the backyard cook in the mood for keeping summer kitchen work at a minimum.

1. Make a menu plan for the entire trip before leaving and use it to compile the shopping list.
2. Include the many new convenience food products that are light weight and travel well. Many of them also do double duty — packaged sauce and gravy mixes are excellent flavoring agents for meat and vegetables; instant mashed potatoes make a delicious coating for fried fish and chicken; dry milk can be used to make scrambled eggs and pancakes.
3. Travel light. Take only necessities that can do many things. A coffee pot can be used to heat soup, stew, a large kettle for washing up.
4. Concentrate on dishes that require a minimum of utensils to make and to eat. All-together dishes of meat and vegetables are hearty and filling. Remember, appetites expand in the great outdoors, so be prepared with larger servings.
5. Paper plates, plastic spoons, forks, foil, plastic wrap all are useful in camp and can be discarded after use.
6. When you depart, leave nothing but your footprints.

How to Avoid Moving Day Troubles With Your Child

Are you planning to relocate in another town or part of the country? Such a major change in your family's life can affect your child in many ways. With the ever increasing mobility of our population, with employees being constantly shifted from one place to another by their employers and with jobs harder to find, moving day occurs much more frequently in the life of today's child than at any previous time.

Being uprooted from familiar surroundings is a disturbing event in your child's life, whether he's a baby or a teenager. All children are confused by a change of home. They miss the things to which they become accustomed. The turmoil of moving, packing and of settling into a new home and neighborhood shake the child's faith in things he took for granted and that he thought were permanent.

If possible, let your toddler or early grades school child visit grandmother while you move. Tell him about the new home to which you will fetch him when it is ready. Set up his new room, furniture and toys in as close an approximation to his old one as possible before you bring him home to live in your new domicile. Or, if that proves impractical, involve your child in packing and in moving, talk to him about what he may expect in his new surroundings. Allow him to look forward to the move as an adventure and to the happy features in your new neighborhood.

Older children face the same problems to some degree. They must find and make new friends. They need to get used to new teachers and must learn to fit into different classes and schools. For some children these are difficult adjustments to make. And so it is important to choose your new home with a consideration of your child's needs.

The Traveler's Aid Society offers several little known services to families who plan to move to a new location. On request, and before you move, they'll provide you with comparative information about the quality and proximity of schools, kindergartens and medical services in different neighborhoods in the area to which you wish to move. Before you settle on any particular part of town or country, you can discover where to look for a house or for an apartment, or how close to schools, doctors and families with children of your child's age you might be in any neighborhood. They'll even help you en route, if your child falls ill or if you get into any other difficulties while moving.

So contact your nearest Traveler's Aid Society representative and ask him to obtain the free information so that you may find a home in a community where your family can settle down as happily and as successfully as possible. They'll help you avoid conditions and mistakes that could be needlessly disturbing to your child and that might turn out to be very expensive for you.

Which books on baby and child care, health and education are the best and most reliable? Arnold Arnold has prepared this reading list for parents, taken from his book, Your Child and You. It includes books, pamphlets and brochures from publishers, government agencies and other sources. Some free, that can help parents deal with every possible problem of childhood nurturance, health and education, ranging from pre-natal care to proper diet and remedial training. Send 20 cents and a large (No. 10), stamped, self-addressed envelope to Arnold Arnold, c/o this newspaper. Be sure to print ANSWERS LIST on your outside envelope.

Delicious Halibut Salad

Halibut salad is an ideal entree. Tasty as well as attractive, this salad contains approximately 170 calories per serving.

Accompanied by crisp rye crackers and a low-calorie gelatin dessert, the menu only contributes about 300 calories to the day's allowance.

Thin Girl's Salad is made with genuine North Pacific halibut, a low-fat, high-protein fish.

The halibut is first poached until tender, then marinated in a bottled low-calorie dressings. At the same time, cooked fresh or frozen green beans are marinated in a dill-lemon mixture. To serve the salad, the halibut is cut into chunks, tossed with the bean mixture and mounded on a base of sliced tomatoes.

When poaching the halibut, be careful not to overcook it. Just bring the fish and water to a boil and cook for 10 minutes at a slow simmer.

The firm texture and fresh mild flavor of genuine halibut makes it perfect for salads. It is also delicious poached, baked or fried, and served with a favorite seafood sauce. When considering halibut for diet menus, remember a 4-ounce serving contains only 115 calories.

THIN GIRL'S HALIBUT SALAD
1 pound genuine North Pacific halibut, fresh or frozen
¼ cup low-calorie Italian salad dressing
2 cups cut green beans, cooked
¼ cup lemon juice
½ teaspoon dill weed
½ teaspoon salt
1 clove garlic, minced
4 tomatoes

Place thawed halibut in saucepan and barely cover with salted water. Bring to boil and simmer 10 minutes or just until tender. Drain. Carefully remove to plate. Sprinkle both sides with dressing. Refrigerate several hours or overnight.

At same time, marinate beans in mixture of lemon juice, dill weed, salt and garlic. Chill.

At serving time, slice tomatoes and cut each slice in half. Arrange half slices of tomato on individual salad plates in petal fashion. Cut halibut into 1-inch chunks. Carefully toss with beans.

Spoon halibut, beans and marinade in center of tomatoes. Recipe makes four servings, approximately 170 calories per serving.

WINE On the Table

By William Clifford

Sometimes you and your friends disagree about how good a wine is. When this happens, maybe you question your judgment, or theirs.

Perhaps it'll reassure you to know that experts disagree too. This happened recently at a tasting of six vintages of the most famous red Burgundy, Romanee-Conti.

Disagreement can result from differences in palate and experiences.

Everyone at the Romanee-Conti tasting agreed that the young 1966 was a great vintage, destined for long life. This was a relief, considering the quality of many other recent Burgundies, wines made for early enjoyment but not destined to reach the grand heights or to last.

Quality Uneven
However, there was disagreement about the older 1959 — a magnificent bottle at one table, disappointing at the next. It's a tricky business storing fine wine to maturity, and what a pity that not all the bottles survive equally well, considering how few there are.

A happy surprise was the beauty of the 1957 Romanee-Conti — a year of generally unfulfilled promise in both Burgundy and Bordeaux. Other vintages tasted were 1962, now nearing its peak; 1956, a minor year; and 1952, a lighter wine of rather different character (it was the first vintage made from a new planting of young vines).

Of course every one of these was still a fine wine that would do honor to any dinner party. Tasting them all together (a rare privilege) only showed that no two were alike and some were superior to others.

Nationwide Group
Sponsor of this tasting was the Washington D. C. chapter of Les Amis du Vin, a nationwide organization of several thousand wine lovers who pay $10 a year for membership. They receive "Wine" magazine from England, a newsletter, an optional offer of a wine or two each month at greatly reduced prices, and invitations to wine-tastings, dinners, and vineyard tours, all at cost. For the address of your nearest chapter write Les Amis du Vin, 11141 Georgia Ave., Silver Spring, Md. 20902.

Pot Roast Leftover
What do you eat at a tasting of great red Burgundy? Cheese is fine but a bit monotonous. The Romanee-Conti tasting also offered a quiche, two terrines, a galantine, and a pate. If you've just paid your income tax, perhaps you'd like to try an economical pate made with leftover pot roast.

This recipe comes from "Michael Field's Culinary Classics and Improvisations" (Knopf, 1967, $6.95), a collection of ideas for such elaborate and elegant treatment of leftovers that even your best friends will never know.

PATE OF POT ROAST
1 cup cold chopped pot roast
6 anchovy filets, drained, washed and dried
½ cup stock from pot roast, or canned beef stock
¼ pound sweet butter, softened
1 teaspoon onion, finely grated
¼ teaspoon lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
Freshly ground black pepper

Trim meat of all fat and gristle before chopping. Puree pot roast, anchovies, and stock in electric blender at high speed. Use more stock if blender clogs. Cream butter and beat into puree together with remaining ingredients.

Dieters, Beware!

Artificially sweetened ice cream is not the weight watcher's answer to lower calorie intake. The smooth texture and bulk provided by sugar must also be replaced and is usually with sorbitol, mannitol, or both. These carbohydrates added to the eggs, cream, milk, etc., normally used, make the total calories approximately the same as regular ice cream made with sugar.

1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
dash black pepper
2 pounds fish fillets
¼ cup shortening
Seaside Tartar Sauce

Combine contents of envelope of mashed potato granules with sesame seeds. Combine egg, lemon juice, salt and pepper.

Dip fish fillets first in egg mixture, then in potato granule mixture to coat thoroughly. Heat shortening in large skillet; fry fish until golden brown, about 8 to 10 minutes. Serve with sauce. Recipe makes six servings.

SEASIDE TARTAR SAUCE
¾ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon pickle relish
1 tablespoon prepared yellow mustard
Dash salt

Combine ingredients. Serve with fried fish. Recipe makes half-cup sauce.

½ cup vegetable or olive oil

Sprinkle both inside and out of the fish with salt. Combine rice, lemon pepper, butter, and French fried onions; mix well.

Fill entire fish cavity with the rice mixture. Secure open edges with toothpicks or skewers and lace firmly with string. Place stuffed fish on a large double thickness of heavy duty foil.

Combine tomato sauce and oil, pour over entire fish.

Bring foil up over fish and seal all edges with double folds. Place on grill grate over medium hot fire. Allow 15 minutes cooking time per pound of fish. Turn occasionally to permit even heat. To serve, open foil and crisp edges, remove lacing. Spoon juices over each serving.

Beef-Bean Bubble

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am one of the Silent Majority — in the sense that I have never written to Ann Landers. Until now. The letter that got to me was signed "Sorry Mom." She was bemoaning the fact that her brilliant son was ruined by one of those far-out Eastern schools.

Mom was sick about the kid's long hair, his unruly mustach, wild sideburns, Jesus sandals, faded jeans, love beads and his verbalized desire to burn down everything and replace it with "something better." (He didn't say what.) I'll bet Mom wasn't sick enough to cut off the kid's college funds and tell him to make his own way.

College can be a unique opportunity for a student to exercise his independence while still under the influence of parents who foot the bills. They have the right to set up some guidelines. Too many parents let their kids do as they please, then they wring their hands when the kids go wrong. If a college student gets too far out of line his parents should tell him to shape up or support himself.

A student who wants to burn down the world should have to buy his own matches — Broken Silence

Dear Broken Silence: I am in favor of the right to peaceful protest, but students who destroy property and resort to violence to achieve their goals, no matter how worthy, should not be subsidized. Parents don't owe their kids riot money. And students who are not

Landers revolutionaries should not be penalized and deprived of their right to an education.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you offered counsel to a woman who said she felt like an unpaid maid in the house. She described her home as "spotless," her meals as "marvelous" and her ironed shirts as "suitable for a starch ad." She complained her husband showed no appreciation whatever and was indifferent to her.

You replied, "A man doesn't love a woman because she's a good housekeeper, a great cook and can iron shirts." You added, "He can buy these services." Your closing line caught my eye. "A woman who can make her husband feel good about himself has it made."

Please tell me how a woman can make her husband feel good about himself? What's the secret? Apparently, you know it. Will you share it? —

Willing to Learn

Dear Willing: How did you treat the fellows you dated and wanted to impress? Test your memory. Doll, and replay the tapes. You built him up when he was down. You made him look good to his family and friends. You waited till you were alone to offer criticism. And you knew how to criticize without destroying his confidence. You also knew when to leave him alone. There are times when leaving a man alone can be the biggest favor you can do for him.

Easy? Of course not. But the effort and energy a woman puts into her marriage is like money in the bank. It begets interest. When the going gets rough she has something to draw on. The naggers, complainers, whiners and belittlers

Family Reunions

The Kirchner family met Sunday at Pierce Park for its 25th annual reunion. Miss Grace Vogel and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Meyer were hosts. The next reunion will be at the Theodore Kirchner farm, Shiocton.

FOND DU LAC — Descendants of John and Helena Boese gathered recently at Lakeside Park for their annual reunion. There were 106 people in attendance.

er up bankrupt. When a crisis hits, they lose everything because they have nothing in reserve.

How will you know when the real thing comes along? Ask Ann Landers. Send for her booklet "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Say Vows

OSHKOSH — Miss Barbara Ann Dumke and Michael J. Cooney exchanged wedding vows in a recent ceremony at Christ Chapel Newman Center.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Florence Dumke, Oshkosh. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Cooney, New London.

Honor attendants were Miss Patte Moranty, Boston, Mass., and John Cooney, Washington, D. C., cousin of the bridegroom.

The newlyweds were honored at a reception at the chapel.

Mrs. Cooney and her husband are graduates of Oshkosh State University.

After honeymooning in Door County, New York City and London, England, the couple will reside at Bremerhaven, Germany, where Mr. Cooney is stationed with the Army.

Tigers Hand Milwaukee 2-1 Setback

Controversial Foul Call by Rice Spices Contest

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Detroit Tigers beat the Milwaukee Brewers 2-1 Tuesday night, with a foul "home run" ball providing most of the action.

Both teams scored one run in the opening inning—Detroit on a two-out single by Bill Freehan and Milwaukee on Ted Savage's 10th home run of the season.

Detroit scored again in the sixth on Don Wert's single and Milwaukee "tied it" again—or at least that's what some people feel.

What would have been Danny Walton's 17th homer of the season flew over the left field fence, but was ruled foul by umpire John Rice.

Can't Understand

"I can't understand what possessed that man to call the ball foul," Brewer manager Dave Bristol said of Rice after the game. "I was sitting in the dugout watching it go and thinking, 'we've got a tie game' when Phil Roof, who was sitting next to me told me it had been called foul."

"I was stunned," Bristol added. "I couldn't believe it."

Bristol argued the call vehemently and said after the game: "This is the first time in baseball that I've felt something has been taken away from us. I've never said that before, but it was tonight. That ball simply was not foul."

Walton, who came back to get a single to left on the very next pitch, said of the negated homer: "I watched it all the way over because I knew it was gone when I hit it. If it had curved, it would have hit the screen. It was two or three feet fair. It's a shame."

Predictably, it looked different to Tiger left fielder Elliott Maddox, who said simply: "It was a foul ball. I can't tell you by how much, but the man called the play right."

So controversial was the call, that the umpire, who usually does not feel called upon to defend his decisions, offered a comment after the game.

Said Rice: "That ball was a foot foul all the way. There's a screen attached to the foul pole that's 18 inches wide, and there's no way that ball could have curved around that screen and landed in the front row where I saw it land."

"I can walk out there right now," he added, "and tell you where it landed. It almost hit a kid who was sitting there right

Rain delayed the game an hour before Appleton outslugged Clinton, 8-6, Tuesday before 4,398 "Miller High Life" fans.

Appleton took sole possession of third place during the evening as Midwest League leading Quincy was rained out at Wisconsin Rapids. The Foxes also gained ground on runnerup Quad Cities which dropped a 8-4 decision to Danville. Quincy holds a 1-game lead over QC and two games over Appleton.

The sterling Appleton Americans and Toros drum and bugle corps delighted the fans. So did Foxes center fielder Ken Hottman who continued his torrid hitting spree, with a 4-for-5 evening, including a 2-run homer.

Countless six packs of beer, pop and miscellaneous prizes were doled out to the souls who braved the threatening weather to view the proceedings. Ed Holtz, Foxes business manager, announced that rain checks and Tuesday game tickets would be honored at tonight's 7:30 p.m. contest because of the weather.

Even Record

Starting pitchers Dennis Deck and Carl Austerman were probably the only performers dismayed by the night's proceedings. Although Deck evened his season record at 8-8. The Foxes' southpaw had only a walk marring a perfect performance through three innings; however, the Pilots—a Brewers farm—unloaded for 11 hits and six earned runs over the next 3 and 2-3 innings to chase him from the mound.

Eugene Koon was summoned from the Appleton bullpen and shutout the Pilots the rest of the way yielding only one hit while fanning three.

Two Appleton scoring threats were thwarted by Austerman in the opening two frames, but the third inning was the beginning of the end. Ross Sapp and Ron Davini each slapped singles through the infield and then Hottman lofted a run scoring double off the top of the left centerfield wall about 385 feet from home. Davini scored on a wild pitch and Stu Singleton plated Hottman with a sacrifice fly to left.

Clinton rebounded with two runs in the fourth as Dan Adams led off with a single—ending Deck's no-hit bid. A pop out, Bob Coluccio's single, and Gary Martz' 2-run triple to right center accounted for the scoring.

Impressive Debut Green Bay's Huge Defense Line Has Top Potential

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — A coy smile, creasing his ruddy features, massive Joel David Hanner facetiously announced, "I won't know what to do with those big guys... We've never had that kind here before."

It was the day before training camp opened in mid-July and despite his apparent nonchalance, the Packers' astute defensive line coach was patiently anticipating the arrival of prize rookie Mike McCoy, in company with returnees Bob Brown and Rich Moore, both of equally awesome dimensions.

The potential of this huge trio (they average 6-foot-5 and 275 pounds), along with the accomplished Lionel Aldridge, conjured up delightful visions of a front four which might one day rival that of Minnesota's "Purple People Eaters," those carnivorous citizens who keyed the Vikings to the 1969 National Football League title.

Messrs. Aldridge, Brown, McCoy and Moore made their collective debut in last Saturday night's 31-31 tie with the New York Giants and, though the jury obviously is still out, there now is reason to hope they eventually will take their place among the NFL's premier four-somes.

Held to 66 Yards

Their overall contributions, certainly, were impressive. Largely through their combined efforts, the Giants were limited to a mere 66 yards rushing, a statistic Hanner's marauders embellished by batting down six Fran Tarkenton and Ed Baker passes.

"This last is a figure even the Vikings' Carl Eller, Jim Marshall, et al, would be hard put to match on their palmiest afternoon."

Hanner, understandably is inclined to exercise coachly caution at this early stage but even he freely acknowledges there is imposing potential.

"It's the biggest line we've had since I've been here," the 5-time former all-pro noted following a Tuesday workout, "and I've been here a long time. This is my 19th season."

"One big thing is that it's a pretty young line overall (McCoy is 22, Moore 23, Aldridge 29 and Brown 30). Also, I think attitude is 90 per cent of it and they all have real good attitude."

"You might say that Saturday night's game was our first real scrimmage and they did a lot of real good things. There also were some mistakes but I think we'll profit by those mistakes."

Hanner logically anticipates improvement in the weeks ahead, beginning with Saturday's Midwest Shrine exchange with the Chicago Bears in Milwaukee County Stadium, in which the wraith-like Gale Sayers will present a major challenge.

Brown, the apparent successor to retired Willie Davis, "has played end before but he was a tackle all last year," Dave pointed out. "It takes time to make that kind of adjustment. So he should be more effective as time goes on."

"As far as McCoy is concerned, it's all new to him. But he knows the game and I think he's going to come along a lot quicker than some others would because of his great desire."

In Good Condition

"Moore is improved over last year and he's in good condition. He has a year's experience and maturity, and maturity makes a lot of difference. Rich also has a great attitude."

Trevino Has Roomful of Alarm Clocks

PGA Test Starts Thursday

By WILL GRIMSLEY
TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Lee Trevino is back from his Mexican holiday, fully rested and with a roomful of alarm clocks set for the PGA Golf Championship.

"I won't oversleep on this one," the voluble Mexican-American said today, referring to his failure to make the starting time in the $250,000 Westchester Classic a couple of weeks ago, thus blowing a chance at a $50,000 paycheck.

"My wife's got an alarm clock. My in-laws all have alarm clocks. The kids have alarm clocks. They're not going to let me miss this time."

Trevino, who has a 9:07 a.m. EDT start, is one of the prime favorites in this 52nd national tee party of the pros along with British Open winner Jack Nicklaus, U.S. Open titleholder Tony Jacklin of Britain, Masters king Bill Casper, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player.

A field of 135 will tee of Thursday over the 6,962-yard Southern Hills course which the pros describe respectfully as a heavyweight giant with a minimum of birdie opportunities. "There's not a makeup hole on the premises," warned Palmer.

Sweltering Heat

Ben Hogan, the four-time U.S. Open winner, decided the demanding layout and Tulsa's sweltering heat were too tough for his ailing left knee. He withdrew, as did Harold Henning of South Africa, who is ill.

Trevino called "Southern Hills 'one of the toughest courses I've played—you can bet there's not a man in the field that won't have one round of at least 74.'"

"The fairways are about 25 steps across and they'll all bend. That makes them about 18 yards in the hitting area. The par 3 holes are all tough and the par 5, will really put pepper in your salt."

The colorful 1968 U.S. Open champion said he felt mentally rested after a two-week layoff.

Palmer, bidding for the only major title that has eluded him, and Jacklin, who returned to a four last week after a vacation in Britain, practiced together Tuesday and drew most of the Tricky hops aren't doing Bill Rigney's ulcers any favors... and neither are the bouncy Oakland A's.

The Washington Senators upended Rigney's suddenly stumbling Minnesota Twins 3-2 Tuesday night on Paul Casanova's bad-hop double in the 11th inning.

The loss extended the Twins' winless string to four games and cut their lead in the American League West to six lengths.

Break Deadlock

The Senators broke a 2-2 deadlock in the 11th when Ed Brinkman singled and raced home as Casanova's drive to left skipped over Rick Renick's head and rolled to the fence.

Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew slammed his 36th homer—and third in as many games—with one on in the first inning. The Senators tied it in the eighth on Aurelio Rodriguez' two-run wallop which thwarted Jim Perry's bid to become the first 18-game winner in the majors.

The A's, who started the Twins' skid by taking the last three of a four-game set at Minnesota last weekend, struck for four runs in the fifth inning to wipe out a 4-2 Cleveland lead and then held off the Indians behind the solid relief pitching of Jim Roland.

"All of a sudden, our confidence has become a big factor," said Frank Fernandez, who drove in four Oakland runs with singles in the fourth and fifth.

Bird Wants Raiders to Trade Him

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — Roger Bird, who received the biggest bonus in the history of the Oakland Raiders, has asked the football team to trade him.

"I talked with Al Davis and he said he will try to help relocate me," Bird said Tuesday.

Davis, now managing general partner of the team, was coach in 1966 when the Raiders made Bird their No. 1 draft pick and signed him for a reported $345,000. He was a college star at Kentucky.

Bird had a shoulder injury last season and lost his starting defensive backfield job to rookie George Atkinson.

Petty Gains Easy Victory In '300' Test

ONA, W.Va. (AP) — Richard Petty, piloted his 1970 Plymouth to victory in the West Virginia 300, finishing eight laps ahead of his nearest competitor Tuesday night.

The race over the 7-16 mile asphalt oval ran at an average speed of 78.358 miles per hour.

The race ended without injury or mishap, despite a total power failure as the field was running on the 45th lap at close to 80 miles an hour.

James Hylton was second in a 1959 Ford. He was eight laps behind Petty.

The points standings in the NASCAR Grand National Circuit remained the same after the 300-lap race. Hylton now leads with 2,538 points. Bobby Isaac is still second in the rankings at 2,507 and Petty remains in 5th at 2,150.

100 Victories in Each League Phillies' Bunning Is in Elite Company

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

A tired, but happy Jim Bunning just missed completing his milestone triumph but couldn't resist watching the dramatic ending as a last-ditch Houston rally fell short, gaining the Philadelphia veteran a place in baseball history.

The 38-year-old right-hander, who captured 118 victories with Detroit of the American League, watched his 100th triumph in the National League Tuesday night in the Phils 6-5 decision over the Houston Astros. Cy Young was the only other hurler to win at least 100 games in each league.

The veteran of 15 major league seasons was coasting with a 6-1 lead, limiting the Astros to six hits, until the roof fell in the ninth.

"I said, 'oh, no not again,'" Bunning said afterward, referring to an Aug. 1 game against San Francisco when he left the game leading 5-4 in the ninth; then Willie Mays homered off reliever Dick Selma, prolonging Bunning's quest of his historic 100th triumph.

This time however, Selma came up with two outs to bail out Bunning, whiffing Jesus Alou with two Houston runners on base.

In other NL action, Los Angeles edged Pittsburgh 5-4. Cincinnati bombed the New York Mets 8-1. Chicago stopped San Francisco 4-1. St. Louis nipped San Diego 11-0 and Atlanta blanked Montreal 1-0.

Bunning In Form

Bunning, increasing his mark to 9-11, struck out five and didn't walk a batter as he became the second pitcher in major league history to win 100 games in each league. Hall of Famer Young, 1890-99, won 249 American League decisions and 262 in the National.

"I had extra good control but it went bad in the ninth. I made some bad pitches," Bunning said.

In that inning, Houston's Joe Morgan opened with a homer and four singles and three runs followed. Joe Hoerner came on reliever Dick Selma, prolonging Bunning's quest of his historic 100th triumph.

"Maybe I should have walked somebody to stop the rally," Bunning, the father of nine, quipped.

"When I came out, I started up the ramp, but then came back to watch the end. I always like to finish but I was tired out there in the ninth, the right-handed nine-time All-Star said.

On The Money

Don Money drove in three Phils' runs with a double and single and Deron Johnson added a pair of run-scoring doubles.

Billy Grabarkewitz clubbed a three-run homer and Claude Osteen, 12-10, won his first game in six weeks with relief help, as the Dodgers stopped the Pirates, who remained 2½ games ahead of the Mets in the tight East Division scramble.

Tony Perez crashed a tape-measure 500-foot grand slam homer and Gary Nolan scattered seven hits in winning his eighth straight triumph.

Perez' homer was his 35th and the longest hit in Cincinnati's month-old Riverfront Stadium. It came off Mets' loser Jim McAndrew, 6-11, and was enough for Nolan, 15-4, who

Atkinson May Return To Jets; Iselin Awaits Namath Phone Call

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Atkinson says he'd like to talk to Joe Namath, but he doesn't know how to get in touch with the New York Jets' quarterback. Phil Iselin would also like to talk to Broadway Joe, but Iselin wants Namath to do the telephoning.

Atkinson, the Jet defensive captain, retired last week. He had some harsh things to say about Namath Atkinson, hinting Tuesday that he may end his retirement, said of Namath: "I love Joe, whether he believes it or not. If I live to be 80, he will still be one of my closest friends."

But, he added: "It's just that over the last few years I have found it harder and harder to respect him."

"Joe knows where I am. I'm not hard to find," said Iselin. "All he has to do is call me."

And Namath? He has been seen around Manhattan, but he's not talking—at least for publication. Iselin says Namath told him he had problems. That's believed to be a synonym for more money, in this case.

Ewbank Can Worry

Iselin says he's letting Weeb Ewbank, the Jets' coach and general manager, worry about Atkinson.

Atkinson told John Maginnis of The Associated Press Philadelphia bureau his thoughts about returning to the Jets centered around the injuries to Ger-Philbin and Mike Stromberg, other defensive stalwarts on the American Conference team.

"I do feel a certain obligation to the team," said Atkinson. "Something is working inside me. It doesn't have anything to do with what Joe does or doesn't do, but with Philbin hurt and Stromberg out, that leaves the Jets with nobody."

On the subject of holdout quarterbacks named Joe, the St. Paul, Minn., Dispatch said Tuesday it had telephoned Ewbank and was told that the Jets aren't interested in Joe Kapp, whose demanding a whopping $1.25 million from the Minnesota Vikings. He's been offered $100,000 a year for three years.

"I'm not interested in him," Ewbank said. "I can answer that question quick. No player's worth that much."

Weger Signs

Defensive back Mike Weger came to terms with the Detroit Lions and started working out Tuesday. The Lions also have cornerback Lem Barney without a contract, but Barney's been drilling while dickering for more dough.

Ray Parson, the Lions' No. 2 draft choice from Minnesota, underwent knee ligament surgery after being injured in the exhibition loss to the Kansas City Chiefs last Saturday. Par-

Bears Receive Okay to Use NU Stadium

CHICAGO (AP) — A circuit court judge ruled Tuesday in favor of the Chicago Bears' petition to be allowed to use Northwestern University's Dyché Stadium for a National Football League game with the Philadelphia Eagles on Sept. 27.

Judge Charles Barrett ruled against the city of Evanston, which opposed use of the Big Ten School's facility on grounds it would violate Evanston zoning law.

The judge commented: "Football is football; receipts and operating expenses, pro or college, equate with money."

The Bears, who normally play NFL contests in Wrigley Field, had obtained permission from Northwestern University to switch the Sept. 27 game to Dyché Stadium to avoid possible conflict with baseball play by the Chicago Cubs.

And there were these other tidbits Tuesday from the pro football training camps:

—Veteran Blanton Collier, Cleveland Browns' coach, says he's quite impressed by rookie Jerry Sher, a defensive tackle from Oklahoma State. Sher, according to Collier, has been paying attention to tips from the coaching staff and the rookie was able to get to the opposing quarterback in the Browns' exhibition game with Los Angeles.

NFL Players Will Establish PR System

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League Players Association announced Monday a public relations and communications system with press and media soon will go into effect in every NFL city.

Tom Vance, public relations director of the association, said plans are being made to use one player from each club as a contact man to provide information in his area.

Vance, making the announcement by phone from his Houston office, said it had been almost impossible to compete with the

Retirement Fund for Fighters Established

MONTREAL (AP) — The thing we could do for the boxing world will begin to take care of its own with a retirement annuity plan for professional fighters launched by the World Boxing Association.

The WBA established a committee Tuesday at the second day of its annual meeting to make the necessary studies and put the scheme into effect.

Described as "revolutionary" by Charles Loeb of Cleveland, Ohio, a committee member, the annuity fund will likely give participating boxers a guaranteed monthly income or a lump sum of equal value on their retirement.

It will be financed either by annual dues paid by the boxers and managers or by voluntary cuts from fight purses.

Malcolm Forrester, a banker from Yorkville, Tenn., was appointed head of the committee in charge of overseeing the plan.

Best for Sport

Donald "Bill" Brennan, executive secretary of the Virginia Athletic Commission, who was elected WBA president Tuesday, said the scheme "is the finest thing we could do for the sport."

Brennan, who succeeds 68-year-old Emile Bruneau of New Orleans, said he is determined to make boxing "more honest and more acceptable" in the world of sport.

Boxing, with the adoption of the plan originally proposed by Van Nixon, secretary of the Washington, D.C., Boxing Commission, becomes the last professional sport to establish a pension program.

Nixon, in demanding action, said, "It's time we began to look after our own."

Delegates representing at least 10 nations, also voted Tuesday to support tough safety standards in amateur boxing. The meeting ends today.

They said they would consider a suggestion by Brennan to establish North American and Latin American championships "to stimulate interest."

Jerry Shears, president of the Canadian Amateur Boxing Association received full WBA support in a resolution for his demands of "improvements in head-gear and other safety requirements in amateur boxing."

Joe Louis to Attend Show In His Honor

DETROIT (AP) — One of Detroit's most heroic sports champions—former heavyweight champion Joe Louis—will return to his hometown today to be on hand when fans pay him tribute with a night in his honor.

Louis, known in his fighting days as the "Brown Bomber," and his wife Martha will fly in from Denver to be guests of honor at the "Salute to the Champ—Joe Louis" program tonight at Cobo Arena.

Louis, who held the heavyweight crown longer than any other champion, was given permission to make the trip by doctors at a Denver hospital where he receives periodic psychiatric treatment. Money raised by the affair will help cover the cost of his hospital care.

Gov. William Milliken has declared today "Joe Louis Day" and will attend the festivities to award the Brown Bomber with a proclamation noting his day. Many sports greats—including Bill Russell and Sugar Ray Robinson—will also be present.

Lightning Impresses Mike Carter, Forces Phil to End Workout

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — All 55 Packers were manifestly relieved when Coach Phil Bengtson called a halt to Tuesday afternoon's practice in the midst of a downpour, but none more so than rookie flanker Mike Carter of Sacramento State.

Noting that Bengtson had terminated the workout "20 or 30 seconds after that big flash of lightning," Carter confided, "That's only the second time I've ever seen lightning. And the first time was from a distance four or five years ago. 'When the coach said, 'Let's go in,' " Mike added with a soulful smile, "I said to myself, 'I'm with you man... in fact, I might be ahead of you.'"

Bengtson, forced to call a halt 25 minutes before the scheduled end of practice, noted, "Thunder and lightning are so distracting, you can't get anything done anyway."

Slog Through Rain
The Packers, who had just launched their first full scale scrimmage to date, slogged through the rain for seven minutes before the elements prevailed.

Linebacker Dave Robinson reported that his son, David, 6, is in improved condition after suffering a superficial skull fracture in an accident near his home in suburban Milwaukee.

David was riding a bicycle with his twin brother Richard, when struck by a car.

Morning practices only, beginning at 10 a.m. will be the agenda for the balance of the week, Bengtson indicated. He did not, however, rule out the possibility of some 2-a-day drills next week.

John Erickson, the campaigner who has taken a leave-of-absence from his duties as general manager of the Milwaukee Bucks to bid for the senate seat now held by William Proxmire, was a practice visitor during the morning session.

Erickson, former University of Wisconsin basketball coach, chatted at some length with Ray Nitschke and Willie Wood while they were taking a break.

McGeorge, the rookie tight end presently soldiering at Port Ord, Calif., is expected to join the squad in Milwaukee this weekend.

McGeorge, a first-round draft choice, can be carried for four weeks without counting in the roster total—providing he is not used in a game.

When he makes his Packers debut, the former Elon, N.C., College athlete will officially become a member of the squad.

Byrne, boys 18-hole division; Marc Gordon, 5-hole Donna Utschig, girls 9-hole; Linda Utschig, girls 5-hole; Ellen Evans, girls 18-hole; Tom Haag, boys 5-hole; and Bridget Warren, girls 3-hole.

Jitter's, Maritime Face 'Must Win' Situations

KAUKAUNA — Two Foxfary Golfland, Oshkosh Tommy's Angels, Merrill Gooze Supperette, and Rhineland Moritz Ture.

Thursday's contests will pit Military vs Tommy's in the 6:30 p.m. opener; Jitter's vs. Gooze's at 7:45 p.m.; and Maritime vs. Moritz in the 8 p.m. nightcap. A total of 12

Menasha Jitter's Bar and Appleton Maritime Bar each have absorbed one loss in the double-elimination meet, which ends with the champion being crowned Sunday. Finding themselves in the same "must win" situation are Green Bay Mil-

Matthews, need not be counted until Sept. 8, when all NFL clubs must be reduced to 44, because of their service with the College All-Stars.

Saturday night's game, the second of four pre-season assignments on state soil for the Pack, will be televised "live" in the Green Bay, Wausau and Marquette, Mich. areas by Channel 2.

However, Davini singled allowing Bucky Dent moved to third base. Austerman caught Davini off first on a pickoff and during the rundown Dent streaked for home. Coluccio — instead of chasing down Davini — threw wide of home in an attempt to get Dent and the door was open.

Hottman drove an Austerman pitch 380 feet over the left field wall to account for two runs. The homer was his 10th of the season and fourth since returning from summer military drills Aug. 1. Since his return, Hottman has raised his batting average to .316 (23 points) while collecting 17 hits in 40 appearances for a lusty .425 mark.

Clinton chipped away with two runs in the sixth and two more in the seventh off Deck before Koon came in to end the offensive barrage.

Porferio Sanchez, John Mikoss and Carlos Velasquez shutout Appleton during the last four innings and Mikoss and Velasquez silenced the Foxes' bats during the final three.

Mike Cuellar scattered four California hits for his 16th victory of the season and sixth in succession against the Angels.

DETROIT (AP) — Ralph Simpson has gone to court in an effort to get a spot on the roster of the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association.

Simpson has filed a suit asking for $3 million damages from the Rockets, the ABA and league commissioner Jack Dolph. Money is not the major issue in the suit, however, since the Rockets have said they will honor Simpson's $1-million contract whether or not he is allowed to play.

The signing, which came less than a year after the Rockets signed Detroit All-American sophomore Spencer Haywood, provoked protests from college athletic groups, including the NCAA, which threatened to ban ABA recruiters from all NCAA games and schools.

Dolph then ruled Simpson could not play until his college eligibility expired before the 1972-73 season.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court in Detroit, charges that "no valid or reasonable excuse exists" to prevent Simpson's playing.

Simpson's attorney said the right to play is what is really at stake.

DETROIT (AP) — Ralph Simpson has gone to court in an effort to get a spot on the roster of the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association.

Simpson has filed a suit asking for $3 million damages from the Rockets, the ABA and league commissioner Jack Dolph. Money is not the major issue in the suit, however, since the Rockets have said they will honor Simpson's $1-million contract whether or not he is allowed to play.

The signing, which came less than a year after the Rockets signed Detroit All-American sophomore Spencer Haywood, provoked protests from college athletic groups, including the NCAA, which threatened to ban ABA recruiters from all NCAA games and schools.

Dolph then ruled Simpson could not play until his college eligibility expired before the 1972-73 season.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court in Detroit, charges that "no valid or reasonable excuse exists" to prevent Simpson's playing.

Simpson's attorney said the right to play is what is really at stake.

As for quality, uppers are super flexible (but tough) Vellron. Soles have a deep-grid skidproof pattern. And they're injection molded, formed and fused to the uppers in one operation. You can't get a more permanent bond than that. On top of that, we built extra reinforcement into the soles that get the worst pounding.

But rugged as they are, we didn't forget comfort. Astro Shoes have full cushion insoles. Plus a fully padded top line. And nylon tricot backed tongues. Real soft hearted.

The Russian-German Pact

Only the most wishful of thinkers can believe that the agreement worked out between the foreign ministers of the Soviet Union and West Germany will mean instant friendship in Europe. But trying to compare it with the Stalin-Hitler pact of 1939 doesn't make much sense either.

The new agreement, the exact terms of which have not yet been made public, reportedly has both sides renouncing force as a means of settling differences and accepting the present national borders in Europe. However, there is an accompanying letter which expresses West Germany's determination to continue to work for the reunification of Germany. The letter has not been signed by the Russians but not rejected either, one form of diplomatic bargaining. Of course renouncing force really means very little. What determines whether military forces are used are the advantages and drawbacks of using them as far as national interests are concerned.

Nevertheless, the agreement is a milestone which could contribute to increased trade and cultural exchanges between Eastern and Western Europe. The non-aggression pact of 1939 was signed by two unscrupulous, ambitious men, each of whom wanted to control Europe, if not the world. This is not true of Bonn's Willy Brandt. Nor do we think it is any longer true of the Soviet leaders. Whatever may be their real ambitions, they are realistic and such control is impossible without a nuclear conflagration which would destroy as much of the Soviet Union as it would the rest of the world. Inheriting a vast wasteland hardly appeals to the men in the Kremlin.

The impetus toward the agreement has come from several sources. Mr. Brandt has expressed considerable willingness to have better relations with Eastern Europe but in a way the path was opened to him by his predecessor, former Chancellor Kiesinger. The Russians have been pressured from two sides. Eastern European countries, despite the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia, have demonstrated more and more independence of Kremlin controls and shown firm desires for more intercourse with the West. For that matter so has the Soviet Union since its own economy isn't as healthy as the Russians would like to pretend.

Secondly is the concern about deteriorating relations with the inscrutable men in Peking. It may not be the best advantages of democratic governments, but the Russians would like to expand their influence in Asia and the principal handicap is not the United States but China. Clearly they would like to reduce tensions in Europe so that they may concentrate on those along their long border with China.

The agreement will not mean that all conflicts in Europe are over or that all NATO forces can be withdrawn or that the Soviet Union is going to disband the Warsaw Pact. But as long as peaceful and even friendly relations are advantageous to both sides, the pact can ease European tensions further.

All Is Not Ugly

It's going to be another hot summer day, but the early morning air is fresh, and the path along the lake quiet and beautiful. You meet a pedestrian occasionally, or a bicyclist.

And if you've a mind to look, you can see a lot of beauty. It's not just the large, mirror-like lake surface. It's that mother duck, just a few feet away, quacking her five little ducklings into a straight line behind her, as she leads them just a bit farther out and away from those inquisitive human eyes.

It's the beautiful mallard drake, still perched on the fallen tree trunk at water's edge, with his mate resting quite unconcerned, content to let her lord and master do the watching.

It's chipmunks scurrying all over the place, and grey squirrels, too, although not as frequently. And up on the hill, at the observation point, a gopher sticking his inquisitive nose out of its hole to look at the two students leaning over the railing a scant six feet away. They're watching the gopher.

You look up and out, over the lake, and now you see that sailboats have begun to court the gentle breezes. Some of those sailboats will probably be in that crowd you'll see that same evening on the terrace, having a lot of good fun watching some old "Jekyll and Hyde" flickers.

All of this, and much more, you can see on the very beautiful campus of our University at Madison. The peaceful sights are not going to wipe out the glaring headlines of past riots, nor patch up the broken windows of that new, round-towered apartment on the campus edge. Nor will they guarantee that confrontations and violence on campus are over, as indeed they probably are not. But there is another side, a good, wholesome side, to the Madison scene. It's good for us to be so reminded.

Campus Activists Aren't All 'Bums'

We can well understand why a lot of educators, parents and just plain taxpayers are upset about the problems on the campuses, the demonstrations, the sometimes violent breaking of regulations and interference with those who want to study and attend classes. But in testimony before the President's Commission on Campus Unrest, Yale University psychologist Kenneth Keniston found that it is the success rather than the failure of our educational system that is to blame.

Mr. Keniston has found in his studies of students that while some student militants are irresponsible, confused and even nihilist, others "are in many ways the most able, independent, morally concerned and politically aware of the students on American campuses. By activist I mean any student, black or white, who becomes militantly concerned about and actively involved in an effort to correct what he perceives as injustices in his society, in his nation's conduct overseas, or on his campus."

"In study after study they have been shown to be more successful in their academic work, less likely to drop out of college, more committed to their studies, more likely to enter occupations that involve service to their fellow man, and more informed and concerned about political matters than are their inactive classmates."

Mr. Keniston said that a study by the American Council of Education found that there is a positive relationship between the quality of the student body, the quality of education and the presence of student activism. The more National Merit scholarship winners on campus, the more likely there will be demonstrations especially against the war in Vietnam.

It has been suggested by others that postponing university education for many high school graduates until they have had active military or other service might cut down on the campus problems. This would be true if a large number of the immature are being led into demonstrations by a handful of radicals. More maturity and life experience probably would benefit many students as the accomplishments of veterans on the campuses have shown.

But Mr. Keniston clearly believes that the militants in general are the more mature, the more idealistic, the more concerned and the smartest. This does not fit the picture of "bums." And if the psychologist is right, we should be listening even more to those on campus who are saying that all is not right with the world. It's going to be up to them to find solutions.

College Good, But Bridge Bad

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Post for Aug. 18, 1870.

The coming year bids fair to be a most prosperous one for the University.

We learn that all the rooms in the college have been already engaged and the probabilities are that a large number of students will be obliged to seek accommodations elsewhere in the City.

These facts speak well for the increasing popularity of the College.

The main bridge spanning the Fox River is in dangerous condition — dangerous to pedestrians, we mean, since there are several holes in the bridge which should be repaired at once.

Urban Problems Will Only Be Solved With Local Leadership

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

On retiring as chief of the National Urban Coalition, able John W. Gardner finds our cities' problems even more complex and deep-rooted than most of us recognize. A private talk with this former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare is rewarding.

Mr. Gardner is a man of strong convictions and who fights for them without seeking applause. And he will tell you that our cities' problems require coping with fundamental difficulties of urban organization and management.

These include the fiscal starvation that makes a nightmare of nearly every mayor's job, the fractured jurisdiction which makes most metropolitan areas ungovernable, and the gnawing absence of comprehensive planning.

City Hall Isolated In city after city that Mr. Gardner has visited, he found that City Hall was trying to govern under circumstances which isolate it equally from the most powerful and the least-powerful elements in the community.

He told me that the channels of communication to the substandard areas are practically nonexistent and the most-consequential people in town usually pay little or no attention to municipal government.

Under great stress all structures crumble at their weakest point. It appears that we have constructed a chain in which no one link is capable of supporting the others. The urban crisis has fallen back onto an indispensable need for better local Negro leadership, says Mr. Gardner, as one of the fragile links.

Today about two-thirds of our population lives in metropolitan counties.

Negroes are an amazingly smaller part of our population than widely supposed — less than 11 per cent. But in the past 10 years the white population has increased in only eight of the country's 20 largest cities. The Negro population increased in every one of the 20.

In 1930 73 per cent of the Negroes lived on the land, mostly in the South. Today over 75 per cent of the Negroes live in the North.

Mostly in Northeast

The Negro population is mostly in the urban Northeastern regions — the Great Lakes area from Milwaukee to Toledo, the Pennsylvania-Ohio steel centers, the Michigan-Indiana automobile centers, New York City and the District of Columbia.

Mr. Gardner's investigation shows that in the past 10 years the 10 largest Northern cities gained nearly two million Negro residents, while losing two million whites to the suburbs. And in this period the number of Negroes in all major cities increased by 3½ million.

The shift has given Washington, D. C., the highest Negro percentage among the 10 largest cities. Two out of every three people in our nation's capital, our ninth largest city, are Negroes.

Mr. Gardner pointed to a recent visit to Oakland, Calif. The total population has declined 5 per cent in the past 10 years, but the Negro population has increased 73 per cent.

He found that among the nine largest Northern cities in this same period New York City's Negro population increased from 10 to 18 per cent; Chicago, 14 to 28; Los Angeles, 9 to 17; Philadelphia, 18 to 31; Detroit, 16 to 34; Baltimore, 24 to 38; Cleveland, 16 to 34; St. Louis, 18 to 36; Milwaukee, 3 to 11. And Mr. Gardner confirmed urban renewal expert Victor Palmieri's recent observation that "at the rate the Negro population is shifting, the big city of the future will be a Negro island spreading out over a metropolis that is both black and bankrupt."

Leadership Is Needed Thus Mr. Gardner points to the absolute necessity for the development of better local Negro leadership within the urban Negro communities themselves.

He insists that complex local problems can never be solved from Washington. And as one who had an important role in trying this, Mr. Gardner should know.

His experience has shown him that any solution depends on the vital local leadership. This requires, of course, the interplay of such leadership with vital Federal leadership, for both are necessary.

This man of knowledge, enthusiasm and sound advice ended up saying: "This country's challenges pulled us on to greatness. The urban crisis can be seen as a God-given opportunity. Here is a challenge worthy of the best that is in us."

Five Candidates Are Seeking No. 2 Spot On Democratic Ballot

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The second most important and interesting of the primary election contests to be resolved next month is the selection of a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor from the list of five men who have filed nomination petitions to qualify for the ballot.

The Republicans in one of the few situations of its kind in the modern history of the party have already nominated man the collaborator and partner in office of the chief executive in substance as well as form.

Wonder About Choice It is a reasonable guess, therefore, that Lucey and Peterson are now wondering about the luck of their draw, if either of them is nominated, with respect to the man who will run at their side after the September nominations. It is not hard to guess that they have their own real preferences. But it is even more clear that they cannot, dare not, express them even obliquely.

One or two of the aspirants for the No. 2 place could embarrass either of the two potential gubernatorial nominees. One or two of the others could contribute significant aid in the final election drive.

The five No. 2 aspirants in order of the alphabet, include Harry Halloway, a perennial candidate who enjoys the spotlight and has no illusions about his political stature. An amusing fellow, he may add some fun to the contest.

Similarly failing to make an impact thus far is John F. O'Malley of Green Bay. His family once had a connection with the highest circles of the party, but so long ago that it is unlikely that it will be of any meaningful help to him.

The fight will be among State Sen. Martin Schreiber of Milwaukee, State Rep. Frank Nikolay of Clark County, and Jay Sykes of Milwaukee. Schreiber and Nikolay have the backing of the AFL-CIO political arm in an equivocal decision of President John Schmitt and his associates.

Won't Receive Aid The twin endorsement, whatever effect it will have, obviously means that they will divide the votes of such union men who follow such directives. It also means, according to reliable accounts, that they will have only the satisfaction of the announced endorsement, without any tangible backing such as financial contributions.

Schreiber should be the favorite, given his Milwaukee base, the prominence of his father's association with politics in the metropolis, and the fact that he has run on a state ballot before. But Nikolay is one of the best known legislators also. Observers have noted that Sykes has shown more ingenuity in getting publicity for himself and his ideas than any of the aspirants for lesser public place in Wisconsin in many years.

Do Youth Really Know What They Are For?

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

"Those who cannot remember the past," wrote Santayana, "are condemned to repeat it."

This is basically what I meant in a column a few months ago, in which I ex-easily turn into nihilism, into blind rage, into mindless hate, into the justification of "good" ends by evil and destructive means.

For one of the great lessons of history is that violence begets violence, and that the ends do not justify the means, but corrupt them. Whatever is permanently constructive must proceed out of love, working through reason. Only these two, harnessed together, can bring the human race out of its moral darkness and spiritual decay.

The youth are right in almost all the things they are against; but they do not really know what they are for. Rebellion for its own sake is a symptom of disease, not a cure; the tearing down of one system is futile if another, equally unjust and repressive, is to be put in its place. These matters must be thought out carefully.

And they can be thought out only if we are firmly grounded in a sense of history; if we are aware of man's capacities and limitations; if we reject from the past what is unworthy, and respect what is noble. Turning our backs on the past is as ignorant and rigid as venerating it.

The present and the near future can be handled only by those with the proper intellectual tools, as well as the moral fervor. Moral fervor alone is not enough; without a broad framework of learning, it soon degenerates into fanaticism, parochialism, sectarianism, and, eventually, despotism of one sort or another. It would be a tragic irony if "freedom-loving" youngsters inaugurated a new era of tyranny.

pressed apprehension about "the lack of a sense of history" among modern youth.

I did not mean — as many readers misinterpreted it — that a sense of history should weigh them down or slow their pace. We need to go just as fast as we can to keep up with tomorrow.

But going fast is no good unless you know where you want to go. And you cannot know where you want to go until you know where you have been and why you don't want to go there again.

Without a true and deep understanding of history, our youth (with the best of intentions) can plunge us into the middle of a greater mess than they are trying to get us out of.

Without the lessons to be drawn from Hitler and Stalin and the extremist movements of our century, the idealism of our youth can

Residents Object to Closing Roads Near High Cliff Park Development

SHERWOOD — Town of Harrison supervisors heard more objections than reasons in favor of closing several roads in the High Cliff area, at a meeting here Tuesday night.

High Cliff Inc. developers are asking that parts of roads near new homesites and the golf course be closed off. Town officials disclosed, however that a petition "with more than 60 signatures" had been filed with them, asking that Lower Cliff Road and State Park Road not be closed, but maintained as now.

A straw vote taken at the meeting showed that only 10 of about 80 persons attending wanted the roads discontinued.

Parcels discussed included the road from the former Cliff's tavern to the Marina entrance; from the intersection at the same tavern to the Palisades Trail; from the boat landing owned by the town to the Walter Benz property, and two short stretches in areas of plate one and two of the High Cliff development on Stommel Road.

Attv William Engler Chilton speaking for High Cliff Inc. said that all traffic entering the state park from the north will come to a single entrance point if the first parcel was closed. He stated that vandalism and rowdiness in the park could be more effectively controlled by limiting entrance and exit to one point.

Soaking of the second area, he said it would eliminate what is now a virtual speedway through the homesites and golf course.

Engler said closing the road would allow the construction of additional golf course and moving the number nine tee away from the state park entrance road. The state highway engineer has indicated that the entrance is unsafe in times of heavy traffic, entrance from existing roads, to the new state park road would be virtually blocked, permitting desirable residential lot development with a cul de sac near the Palisades Trail.

Arguments for closing parcel three are that it would provide nearly 600 feet of developable lake property for 100 units in town houses and condominiums.

Increased Values

Engler emphasized that the town house-condominium development would allow extending sewer and water service economically to the Forest Park Heights subdivision and that elimination of traffic in this area would make it safer and more private for the residents, increasing property values.

He said a cul de sac turnaround would be constructed by High Cliff developers adjacent to the Walter Benz property.

The town landing could be expanded to allow a larger parking area, Engler added. Property from the south boundary line of the town boundary, east to the state park entrance road, will be deeded by High Cliff developers to the town.

He said the state wants to limit access so all traffic entering the park travels on the new entrance road.

About parcels four and five, Engler said roads will conform to plans which have been accepted by the State of Wisconsin, Calumet County and the town board. The new roads will be constructed entirely by High Cliff developers.

A E Ehly, director of the Bureau of Parks, Department of Natural Resources, stated that about 600,000 visitors were expected at the park this year. High Cliff is the third most used park in the state and improvements costing $260,000 are now in the planning.

Vandalism at Marina

Ehly said traffic, vandalism at the marina and safety, in that order, were the major concerns of park personnel at High Cliff.

Several property owners in the area, including Mr. and Mrs. Walter Benz and Howard Thelen spoke for the road changes.

Objections included that new roads had already been constructed; that plans had been followed without approval to close roads; and that those benefiting were the developers.

Carl Ray, firelane 10, pointed out that back in 1966 when the developers cooperated with the state, no one objected. But now it has "got out of hand," he said. He cited the ecology of the area and said the lake "couldn't stand all those people."

Ray said the area soon would be like Treasure Island and Yellowstone. "This is for builders, not the people, and they have got to be stopped." He drew several rounds of applause for his presentation, especially when he said "the only way you're going to stop vandalism at the marina is to have a policeman there 24 hours a day with a 12 gauge shotgun in his hand."

Leander Roehrig objected on behalf of the Hilbert Chamber of Commerce, stating that they did not want to pull 22-foot cruisers over the winding roads.

Winding Roads

Others objected to emergency vehicles, particularly fire trucks, having to snake around winding roads at high speeds. Vincent Van Gompel stated the increased mileage away from a department put him in a higher insurance rate bracket.

David Fredericks commented that the developers had originally promised a motel and shopping center, which had never materialized. The developers, he said, wanted to close off the road near the Palisades Trail "so they can get more money for lots—that's precisely what they want."

Other residents objected to using a narrow gravel road to get out in the winter, and said road plans were made without their knowledge.

Ray suggested the straw vote and asked Robert Lutz, Chilton, the town's legal counsel, if a referendum could be conducted on the road issue. Lutz replied that the application signed by Mr. and Mrs. Benz, Mr and Mrs. Frank Schneider, David

Weyauwega in Bancorporation

Farmers, Merchants Bank Plans to Join Valley Holding Unit

Plans for affiliation of Farmers and Merchants Bank of Weyauwega with Valley Bancorporation were announced today by K. P. Van Epps, executive vice president of the bank, and Gus A. Zuehlke, president of the Appleton-based registered bank holding company.

Wednesday, August 12, 1970 The Post-Crescent B 10

The proposal is subject to approval of the shareholders and the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System.

Van Epps said that his board long has been concerned about the growing financial requirements of its expanding community and its economic growth. They chose holding company affiliation as a method of acquiring greater financial resources for their bank as well as obtaining the services of bank specialists employed by Valley.

Zuehlke stated that, in keeping with Valley's policy, present officers and directors who are familiar with the people and economic needs of the area would continue management of the bank in the best interests of the community.

Total assets of the bank on June 30, 1970 were $7.87 million. Total assets of Valley on that date were $116.57 million.

Valley Bancorporation now serves eastern Wisconsin through 13 commercial banking offices. Last week it announced the proposed affiliation of the $13.17 million asset Bank of Kewaskum.

Campaign Spending Limit Approved; Effective Date Undecided

The Post-Crescent A 5
Wednesday, August 12, 1970

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to limit broadcast spending by candidates for major political offices but faces a fight with the Senate over whether the restrictions should apply to the 1970 elections.

Miles Kirkpatrick

Critic of FTC To Head Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Philadelphia lawyer Miles W. Kirkpatrick, who once headed a committee that recommended reform or abolishment of the Federal Trade Commission, has been selected by President Nixon to head the agency.

Nixon announced Tuesday his nomination of the 52-year-old Kirkpatrick to the unexpired seven-year term of resigned Chairman Caspar W. Weinberger, who joins the Office of Management and Budget.

Nixon said Kirkpatrick would serve as chairman of the FTC if he wins Senate confirmation, for the term ending in September, 1976.

Midiskirt Protest Sidewalk Parade

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — A planned protest march against the midskirts has been sidetracked—but not sidetracked.

The Women Happy in Minis—WHIM—organization had planned a Sept. 12 protest march down the streets to protest plans of clothing manufacturers to make maxis and midis but not minis.

Tuesday, when the parade permit was issued, Mayor Jay Amyx told them to stay on the sidewalks.

Mary Pyle, 29, said, "We think the midis are horrible. We believe women should be allowed to wear the length of skirt they want."

escalating cost of running for public office.

A solid 272-97 majority Tuesday night sent an expanded version of a Senate-passed bill back to the Senate and an expected later conference with the House to iron out differences in the two measures.

Points at Issue

Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., of the House Commerce Committee, who will lead the House conferees, said the legislation's effective date will be the chief difference to resolve.

Other points at issue center around House inclusion of primaries and top state officials while the Senate bill was limited only to general elections and covered just federal officials.

The Senate bill would go into effect 30 days after enactment while the House version puts it off until Jan. 1, 1971.

As passed by the House, the bill would:

—Impose limits under specific formulas on broadcast spending by candidates for federal offices, governors and lieutenant governors in primary and general elections.
—Provide that no broadcaster could charge any legally qualified candidate more than the lowest charge paid by any commercial advertiser for the same time period.

Equal Time

—Repeal equal time requirements only for President and Vice President candidates.

—Permit states, by law, to place candidates for state and local office under its provisions.

The Senate-passed bill also contains the equal time repealer and the language relating to the lowest unit charge. The latter provision, supporters claim, should cut the cost of political advertising by some 35 per cent because broadcasters now commonly charge the highest commercial rates.

Spending Formula

Both the Senate and House versions spell out a formula for computing the broadcast spending limit for general elections on the basis of 7 cents a vote cast in the last such contest for the specific office or $20,000, whichever is higher.

The Senate bill, however, would apply to races for President, Vice President, Senate and House. The House measure adds governors and lieutenant governors. It also puts a ceiling of 3½ cents a vote in the last general election or $10,000, whichever is higher, on the primary broadcast spending.

President Nixon, in the 1968 election, spent $12.6 million and Hubert H. Humphrey put $7.1 million into television and radio time. However, the 7-cent formula would limit the two major presidential candidates to spending about $5.1 million each in 1972.

The House bill also applies to broadcast spending by committees formed on behalf of political candidates.

82 Young People Fail in School, Threaten Suicide

HONG KONG (AP) — The Samaritans, a 10-year-old organization to combat suicide, say they have convinced 82 youngsters during the last two days not to take their lives because they failed their final examinations. Eighteen despondent youths called the Samaritans Monday, then 26 boys and 38 girls telephoned Tuesday. Officials said most of the students feared parental condemnation.

Fugitive Priest Captured on Resort Island

Father Berrigan
Fled Confinement for
Burning Draft Data

CRANSTON, R.I. (AP) The Rev. Daniel Berrigan, found by FBI agents after four months as a fugitive from a three-year prison term for destroying draft records in Maryland, is in custody awaiting transfer to a federal penitentiary.

"They had us surrounded," attorney William Stringfellow said of the dozen FBI agents who apprehended the Roman Catholic priest Tuesday on Block Island at a house owned by Stringfellow and poet Anthony Towne.

Stringfellow, who is also a lay Episcopal theologian, said a man he approached in bushes outside the house about 11 a.m. at first "said he was birdwatching," then several other agents appeared.

The agents found the 49-year-old Jesuit priest in the front room. He was wearing a yellow windbreaker with a hood, brown trousers, a white shirt and white sneakers.

Father Berrigan had made several public appearances before peace groups and given some interviews to news media since going underground in April rather than surrender for the prison term imposed on him April 9.

He had lost all appeals from his sentence but said he wanted to show authorities "they can no longer look people up on their order."

Asst. U.S. Atty. Everett Sammartino said the government is considering charging Stringfellow and Towne for harboring a fugitive.

Take Their Time
"It's under consideration and at the present time we do not know," Sammartino said. "We're not going to come to a hasty decision on it and it might take a little while."

About 20 persons, including several Catholic priests and nuns, conducted an all-night vigil outside the Adult Correctional Institution where Father Berrigan was being held.

In Baltimore Tuesday night, about 40 persons demonstrated peacefully but loudly outside offices of the Catholic archdiocese to protest the arrest.

Father Berrigan was one of the "Catonville Nine," who were convicted of destroying draft records in Catonsville, Md., on May 17, 1968, as a protest of the war in Vietnam.

His brother, the Rev. Philip Berrigan, 47, was a fugitive briefly but was arrested by FBI agents in a New York City church in late April. He is in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., serving concurrent sentences totaling six years. One is for the Catonsville incident and the other for pouring what he said was blood on draft records at the Baltimore Customs House on Oct. 27, 1967.

Time at Resort
Stringfellow would not say how long Daniel Berrigan had been at the house on Block Island, a summer resort and fishing village about 20 miles off the Rhode Island coast.

"A Christian does what he must do as a Christian," Stringfellow and Towne said in a joint statement.

"Berrigan is our friend and is always welcome in our home. Any visit from him is an honor for us because he is a priest of uncommon conscience, he is a citizen of urgent moral purpose and a human being of exemplary courage."

Father Berrigan was taken to the nearest mainland port, at Point Judith, on a Coast Guard cutter and was turned over to U.S. Marshal Peter J. Foley in Providence.

Foley took the priest to the state prison here, and said he notified federal officials in Baltimore.

No court arraignment is required, because Father Berrigan is a fugitive under sentence to a federal prison.

Foley said he expected commitment papers to be sent to Providence soon and that the priest then would be taken to the prison where he is assigned, probably at Lewisburg, Pa.

The Rev. Daniel J. Berrigan, who agents on Block Island, off Rhode Island, was arrested Tuesday by FBI.

Final Go-Ahead Given For Safety Building

A new Outagamie County jail-safety building will be built immediately east of the Courthouse on present county property. Land for off-street parking will be purchased.

In a 26-17 vote, supervisors: — Authorized Board Chairman Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, to appoint a special jail and safety building committee to contract for architectural services and to obtain construction bids for presentation to the county board;

— Authorized DeLaHunt to appoint a special committee to meet with City of Appleton officials to work out details of a lease agreement "acceptable to both legislative bodies," and,

Off-Street Parking
— Directed the Finance Committee to make $175,000 available to purchase and develop off-street parking in the Courthouse vicinity.

In a separate vote, the board agreed to take $8,000 from the $175,000 to pave the front lawn of the Courthouse for parking purposes.

The two major votes remaining before construction actually gets under way will be on issuance of the bonds for the project and acceptance of the terms of the lease.

County Administrator Alvin Woehler said the bond issue would be prepared as soon as firm construction cost estimates are prepared by the architect. The parking acquisition funds also will be included in the bond issue.

Jail Restrictions
Woehler said the state will be notified of Tuesday's board action and a request to lift restrictions on use of the county jail will probably be made after a contract is signed with an architect.

The opposition vote was a 4:40 p.m. after nearly three hours of debate and rejection of efforts by some supervisors to again get consideration of moving the entire courthouse complex to the county farm.

The opposite vote was a combination of supervisors opposed to building at the present courthouse location and those opposed to the acquiring of neighborhood houses for off-street parking space.

DeLaHunt, noting an earlier county board action endorsing creation of a semi-independent building commission, said Tuesday's enabling resolution "will take off the handcuffs so this committee can function. Let's not keep boxing the committee in," he urged.

Long-Range Plan
In answer to complaints the present courthouse site was already too congested, DeLaHunt predicted that in 20 years there would be few residences in the courthouse area. Referring to a long-range proposed development plan for the city, DeLaHunt said this was really the start of urban renewal.

Supv. Charles Wussow, Appleton, led a last-ditch effort to have the entire courthouse complex moved to a county farm location.

Wussow argued that it would be possible to build space equivalent to that in the present courthouse, annex and planned safety building at the county farm for little more than the safety building will cost. In addition, he said, there was unlimited space for parking an expansion.

Chairman's Ruling
His efforts to amend the resolution to that end were ruled out of order by DeLaHunt. The board upheld the chairman's ruling.

Education Veto Override Pushed

Republican Support Expected

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats, reacting sharply to President Nixon's veto of education and government agency money bills, spearheaded an attack today to reverse the chief executive's action.

The Democrats were expected to receive some support from Republicans who earlier had urged Nixon to let the bills become law without his signature.

Nixon vetoed Tuesday the $4.4 billion education appropriation and $18 billion measure to run a variety of federal agencies on grounds they pose "a threat to every American's pocketbook."

The two bills would have added nearly $1 billion to the administration's budget recommendations. Nixon said they represent "the kind of big spending that would drive up prices or demand higher taxes."

Needed Margin
House Democratic leaders, hoping to capture the two-thirds margin necessary to override Presidential vetoes, scheduled the showdown votes Thursday as the first order of business.

Democratic leaders were optimistic about their chances for overriding the Office of Education bill, but less certain about the prospects for the larger measure. Many Republicans, including Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, shared that appraisal.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said that if the House votes to override the President's vetoes, it probably will be next week before the Senate votes.

Mansfield told newsmen he thinks the Senate would override the veto of the education money bill but said he didn't know what the outcome would be on the other appropriation measure.

He predicted that, over-all, Congress will cut appropriations below the President's budget request.

No More Inductions

Draft Board Protests

STURGEON BAY, Wis. (AP) — The chairman of Door County Selective Service Board No. 16 said Tuesday night his board will issue no induction notices after Sept. 1 unless the federal government "stops letting draft evaders walk the streets freely."

"We feel that we are as right in what we are doing, as the fellow that has refused induction feels that he is right," said chairman S.F. Brunswick. "And we will stand firm on this even if we are replaced."

State Selective Service Director Lt. Col. Clinton Knutson said Tuesday he could not comment on the local board's action until he had read and studied the board's vote.

Brunswick and two other board members met Monday night and voted "unanimously" Brunswick said, to halt induction of Door County men.

"We have several young men who have asked us why they have to go, when others who refused to go are still walking the streets," Brunswick said. "I checked on some local cases and found out there had been no action taken on the matter. We talked it over and decided you can't really face a young person that asks a question like that if you don't have a decent answer. We think it's time our courts change the situation. It seems the Supreme Court is protecting the guilty, not the innocent."

"I have no idea what the outcome of this action will be," Brunswick said. "We almost hope that other boards will pick it up. Perhaps if enough of them did, we'd get a change in some of these rulings. We're in hopes this may start the ball rolling. I've had a 100 per cent favorable reaction from people I've contacted on the matter, both locally and in other parts of the state."

"It's time we got something straightened out," Brunswick added.

Protestant Celebrations

Londonderry Sealed Off in Attempt to Prevent Riots

LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) — Three thousand British troops and Irish police sealed off Londonderry and its main Roman Catholic section today, trying to prevent a renewal of warfare between Protestants celebrating a victory three centuries ago and resentful Catholics.

The first casualties on this anniversary of the Siege of Derry occurred 65 miles southeast of Londonderry, half a mile from the border between Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic.

On a street in Crossmaglen a bomb in a parked car exploded as two police constables examined the vehicle. One of the policemen died in the blast and the other died eight hours later.

Quiet at Midday

Londonderry was quiet at midday. But during the night youths hurled stones and bottles at the troops as the first of more than 6,000 militant Protestants arrived to celebrate the 281st anniversary of the defeat of King James II and his Catholic forces at the gates of the city.

In Belfast, the provincial capital, a bomb wrecked a Catholic-owned barber shop and police found an arms cache on the roof of a Protestant church hall.

Last year's celebration of the lifting of the Siege of Derry touched off religious riots and street fighting that has continued off and on in Northern Ireland ever since.

Armed troops patrolled the top of Londonderry's walls today and manned barbed wire barricades, admitting to the city only the members of the Apprentice Boys of Derry, the militant Protestant organization descended from the 1689 defenders.

British army helicopters buzzed overhead while army patrols manned crossing points at the border with the Irish Republic two miles away.

Authorities banned all liquor sales.

Most Catholics were confined to their Bogside district, the scene of repeated disturbances over the past year. "Will the siege of Derry never end?" asked the president of the Catholic-based Nationalist party, Edie McAteer.

In an attempt to keep from inflaming the Catholics, the government banned the Apprentice Boys' traditional parade through the city. This angered the Protestants. They are in a majority in Northern Ireland but Londonderry has a 2-1 Catholic majority.

Very Close Vote

Promised on ABM

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the outcome too close to call, the Senate faces a crucial vote on restricting the Safeguard antiballistic missile system, amid warnings a vote against the ABM will be counted a vote against President Nixon.

Supporters of Safeguard claimed victory Tuesday morning, but by nightfall the situation was so cloudy no one was sure even which of two amendments would be used to attack the ABM system.

The vote was scheduled at 3:30 p.m. today.

The vote assured a new Senate-White House confrontation a day after Nixon vetoed two domestic spending bills because they exceeded his budget by more than $1 billion.

Most senators opposed to Safeguard have contended the billions it may cost—$50 billion by the estimate of one critic—could better be used to ease homefront crises.

The pending $19.2 billion military procurement bill contains $1.35 billion for Safeguard during the next fiscal year.

Added to Confusion
Announcements by three Democrats only added to the confusion about the outcome of the ABM vote.

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., and Sen. Clinton Anderson, D-N.M., announced they will vote for an amendment which prohibits extension of the ABM to two more sites requested by Nixon. The amendment is sponsored by Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

The sites requested by Nixon would be at Whitman Air Force Base, Mo., and Warren Air Force Base, Wyo.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., said he will vote against Safeguard but for another amendment to bar expansion of the two new sites and spend $22 million to beef up the ABM at the two original sites at Malmstrom and Grand Forks Air Force bases.

The original Safeguard program was approved by a one-vote margin last year.

Brooke Sponsored
The second amendment is sponsored by Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass. Some ABM opponents sought to schedule a vote on that proposal immediately after the Cooper-Hart vote. But administration forces in the Senate blocked that procedure.

"I think the administration can live with the Brooke amendment," Brooke told newsmen. "It retains the momentum of the Safeguard system while allowing the President the full dollar amount he asked and allowing it to be used as a bargaining chip" in strategic arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union.

Speaking directly to wavering Republicans Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said: "The administration cannot accept any amendment to this bill. A vote for any amendment is a vote against the Nixon administration. It feels this is the minimum it must have to defend the country...."

"We have already compromised on this measure and I know the administration feels it cannot compromise further," Tower said.

Rates for fourth-class parcel post are scheduled to go up an average of 15 per cent Nov. 14 and rate for mailing catalogues go up 6 per cent.

East-West Coexistence Treaty Signed

MOSCOW (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt of West Germany and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin today signed a nonaggression treaty, the keystone to Bonn's efforts to improve relations with Eastern Europe.

Foreign Ministers Andrei A. Gromyko and Walter Scheel of West Germany added their signatures to the documents, which they had initiated last week.

Most of the 11-man politburo of the Soviet Communist party attended the brief ceremony in the Kremlin's Catherine Hall. They included Communist Party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The signing came after Brandt and Kosygin had conferred for more than two hours. German sources said Brandt also is expected to meet with Brezhnev.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon signed the postal reform bill today. He said the task of overhauling the post office was accomplished only through bipartisan support that "showed the system at its best."

"There is no Republican way or Democratic way to deliver the mail," Nixon said at signing ceremonies in the office of Postmaster General Winton M. Blount. "There's only the right way, and that's what this occasion is all about."

Nixon said reforming the mails appeared almost an impossibility when he took office. But he gave primary credit for accomplishing the job to Blount, whose tenacity he compared to "the ability of a postage stamp to stick to something until it gets there."

"Finally, the day has come, a day very few people thought would ever come," the President said.

Flanked by six of his predecessors, Blount presented Nixon with a replica of the system's new symbol: a streamlined bald eagle. It replaces the horseback rider which has symbolized the post office since 1837.

Noting the arty look of the new symbol, Nixon turned to the balding Blount and quipped, "for those of you who don't understand modern art, that's a bald eagle."

The law removes the postmaster general from the President's cabinet and ostensibly takes the post office out of politics.

Nixon said history is full of examples of postmaster generals who struggled to stay in a president's cabinet. Blount, on the other hand "has fought to get out and now he's getting out."

Blount has declined to say what his plans are when the new postal system becomes fully implemented a year from now.

Blount said signing of the bill marked "the end of colorful period."

"In the beginning, the mails were used to tie a young nation together. Before it ended, this nation had sent a letter up to the moon and back," Blount said.

The tradition of the mail service, he said, "will be the same as we rise to the challenge of implementing postal reform."

Nixon stressed the bipartisan support which made passage of the reform legislation possible.

"Both parties and both houses deserve credit for what is happening here today," Nixon said. "This is the American system at its best."

Former postmaster generals present for the ceremony were James A. Farley, Arthur E. Summerfield, J. Edward Day, John A. Gronouski, Lawrence F. O'Brien, and W. Marvin Watson.

It was O'Brien, now chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who first proposed replacing the post office system with a corporate-like independent agency.

Starting the drive in 1967, O'Brien declared, "The post office is in a race with disaster." The comprehensive overhaul of the postal system, approved by Congress last week, is designed to cut costs and improve service by infusing the mails with modern management techniques.

Postal officials see the reform as a welcome end to the problems of inefficiency, political patronage and outmoded procedures that several times in the past few years came close to causing a total breakdown.

Under the plan, the Post Office becomes a corporate-like, independent agency with the sole task of providing service to the American public—eventually on a break-even basis.

Congress' 181-year-old stranglehold on postage rates, postal salaries and spending for buildings and equipment gives way to internal rate-setting, collective bargaining between management and unions and capital financing through sale of bonds.

Although costs to taxpayers through budget deficits are expected to go down as the new system takes hold, costs to the mailing public may go up more than anticipated.

Blount revealed the price of a letter stamp, tentatively scheduled by postal officials for an increase from six to eight cents early next year, may soon thereafter go even higher.

"Like everyone else, we're faced with ever increasing costs," Blount said in an interview.

Two months ago, Blount had predicted an eight-cent stamp would carry the new postal system through the next few years.

Although the new postal system does not become fully operative for one year, its nine-member, presidentially appointed board of governors may hike postage rates by one-third to help cover costs of pay raises for rank-and-file workers.

After that, rate increases will be decided upon by a five-member rate commission, at the request of the board of governors.

Rates for fourth-class parcel post are scheduled to go up an average of 15 per cent Nov. 14 and rate for mailing catalogues go up 6 per cent.

Fairway Drive Project

$23,988 Apparent Low Bid for Brillion Sewer, Water Line

BRILLION — A $23,988 bid from De Vries Construction Co., De Pere, is the apparent low offer to construct water and sewer lines on Fairway Drive here.

Ten other bids, ranging from the low to $50,673, were submitted and opened Monday at a City Council meeting here. Other firms seeking the work are Power Excavators of Wisconsin; Green Bay; Grey-Robinson Construction Co., Manitowoc; P & B Excavating, Appleton; De Keyser Construction, Green Bay; C. L. Hansen Construction, Manitowoc; Earl Ecker Excavating, Chilton; Charles O. Green, Appleton; Ted Coppens Construction, Combined Locks; Tri-State Boring, Little Chute and Bowers Brothers of Kaukauna.

The De Pere firm could begin construction in 15 days and complete the job in 150 days, according to their bid. All bids will be tabulated by the city's consulting engineers, McMahon Associates, Inc. Menasha, prior to awarding a contract.

Area Served
Ten homes along State 114, annexed to the city a year ago, will be served by the public works project.

Two bids were received for 850 feet of six-foot high fencing around the community recreation building. Purchase is expected after a recommendation is received from the city affairs committee. Low bidder, U. S. Steel Corp., Chicago, offered galvanized fence at $2.79 per foot and aluminum coated at $2.87 a foot. M&R Fence Builders, Appleton, quoted $2.96 and $3.35.

Action on a controversial rezoning petition which would allow construction of a 180-trailer mobile home park will be held in abeyance pending results of a fact-finding committee report.

Obtain Data

Contending that trailers do not pay their way in tax dollars, opponents of the change urged last month that a conscientious investigation to obtain data be conducted before the zoning change decision is made. Ald. Clarence Pagel will represent the City Council on the committee and a Chamber of Commerce and Citizens Advisory Committee representative will be appointed by their respective presidents, the City Council decided.

In other action, the City Council is seeking a Planning Commission recommendation concerning sewer and water extensions on the city's south-east side. Areas involved include Kennedy Drive from Madison to Horn Street; Horn Street from Kennedy west to South Parkway; Mary Street and the residences of Ed Reichel, Gaylord Unbehauen and Alfred Schroeder.

Estimated costs for various plans to accomplish the work were presented to area property owners by Glen Campbell, director of public works, at the meeting.

Specifications for a new fire truck, submitted by Oscar Beilke Sr., Fire chief, will be analyzed by the finance committee before a purchase recommendation is made. Beilke's recommendation that Dan Farrell be approved as a member of the fire department was okayed.

Approval was given to Kings-Klothes to attach a banner to a utility pole during their forthcoming three-day grand opening.

Outagamie to Transfer Prisoners

County Won't Fight Prisoner Transfer

A final attempt to halt the transfer of prisoners to other jails failed Tuesday when the Outagamie County Board rejected a move to obtain a court order against Wilbur Schmidt, director of the State Department of Health and Social Services.

Supv. Robert Weyenberg, Kimberly, sought to have the board attempt to obtain an order to show cause to restrain the state from enforcing Schmidt's order of Feb. 11 restricting use of the county jail.

His resolution was defeated, 30-14.

Earlier, County Board Chairman Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, had ruled that action taken by the County Board in March ordering Sheriff Calvin

Spice to ignore the state order was void since it was contrary to state laws.

Efforts now will be made to have the order lifted in view of the county board's action to proceed with construction of a new jail and safety building.

V. A. Verhulst, state jail inspector, was present during the action but did not address the board.

Weyenberg, who was a member of the board's Law Enforcement Committee at the time the jail orders were issued, charged that neighboring jails were no better than Outagamie County's.

He said he had been told by state officials that the county should not transfer prisoners to Winnebago County because that jail was worse than Outagamie's.

The go-ahead for construction of the county highway department's new office building at the county garage was given, although a number of supervisors objected to increased costs of the project over earlier estimates.

The board's Finance Committee was directed to provide $87,500 for the building's construction.

Recommended bids for the 40-by-50-foot structure, including a brick facing, totaled $80,000 including architectural fees. An additional $7,500 contingency fund was included at the suggestion of Supv. Richard Jahnke, Appleton.

Supv. Harold Miller, Town of Grand Chute, objected to the costs, noting original estimates for the building had been $50,000. "The cost grows and grows with each meeting," he said.

An effort by Supv. William Friend, Appleton, to refer the project back to committee failed.

A revision in the county's lease with Kimberly-Clark Corporation at the county airport was sent back to committee for further negotiations in an effort to remove three more words.

As a result of the county's installing a control tower, Kimberly-Clark had agreed to eliminate the word "effective" from its requirement in the extension of the northwest-southeast runway.

Under the original contract, the county was required to extend the runway to an "effective" 6,000 feet by Dec. 1, 1971. The runway is now 5,200 feet long and an extension to nearly 7,000 feet would have been necessary to obtain an effective 6,000 feet because of the runway's slope.

The proposed revision calls for extension of the runway to a "total length for takeoff and landing in both directions" of 6,000 feet by Dec. 1, 1975, and a total effective length of 6,000 "as soon as practicable thereafter."

Supv. Delmar Schmeichel, Town of Center, objected to the words "in both directions." He said that since the amount of useable runway varied, depending on the direction, that phrase could be construed as being the same as meaning "effective length."

Clintonville Schools to Hire Three Teachers

CLINTONVILLE — The Joint School District Board of Education Tuesday night approved hiring three teachers.

Mrs. Joanne Riemer will be offered a contract to teach fifth grade at the Longfellow School, which is an additional position this year. She is a graduate of Oshkosh State University and taught for a year at Hortonville.

Mrs. Linda Mains, a 1970 graduate of Superior State University, will teach fourth and fifth grades at Embarrass. She will replace Mrs. Muriel Brennstuhl, who has transferred to Bear Creek.

Mrs. Marlene Feira, Clintonville, will be hired to teach elementary vocal music four mornings a week. Her experience included handling all elementary music in the Greendale schools for three years.

Music Program
O. Reed Newtons, elementary supervisor, explained the vocal music program in the elementary grades and the need to provide a vocal music teacher at both the Embarrass and Bear Creek schools.

The board voted that an agreement be entered into for laundering towels from the senior and junior high schools with local firms at a cost not to exceed four cents per towel, picked up and delivered. Total number of towels laundered last year was 86,060.

The district will apply for participation in the hot lunch and special milk program for the 1970-71 school year. The board accepted the administration's recommendation to raise the salaries of the building principals for the outgoing schools to $100 for a three teacher building, and $150 for a five teacher building for the coming year. The building principals were presently being paid $50 per year above their regular teaching contracts.

Building Principals
The Dellwood school has five teachers, the Bear Creek primary also has five, the Bear Creek intermediate has three, and the Embarrass school has four teachers.

Building principals have responsibility for the efficient operation of their buildings. They have no supervisory responsibilities.

Considerable discussion was held regarding the employment of Mrs. Harold Lindhorst as school nurse for the 1970-71 school year. A proposal had been sent to the city council in regard to sharing the cost of a nurse, and council referred the matter to its health and finance committees.

The board voted to table consideration of the employment of Mrs. Lindhorst as school nurse for 1970-71 pending the action of the council committees of the city council. There is no school nurse at the present time.

CESA 8 Report

Joseph Peeters reported on the delegates meeting Monday night for CESA 8. He was elected a voting member of the board.

The board, teachers and administrators will meet for a dinner meal sometime in September. Mrs. John Williamson, board clerk, is in charge of arrangements.

Norman Crook reported on the purchase prices of buses. A motion was approved to buy two 1970 model buses if possible, with the board members to be polled. An amount of $15,850 had been budgeted for two buses, preferably with capacities of 66 passengers.

Board Refers Proposal

Library Study Idea Goes to Committee

A proposal to conduct a library study to determine the feasibility of a county library system was referred by the Outagamie County Board Tuesday to its Health, Education and Institutions Committee but a study to report back a recommendation, probably in September.

The request for a county or regional library study was made by Appleton Mayor George Buckley who said he had been informed by the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) that while the city could not receive any financial assistance for such a study, the county was eligible for total federal funding.

Funds under the Library Services and Construction Act, Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), and through the Division of Library Services, Department of Instruction, are available through the end of this year, Buckley told the board.

The Appleton mayor noted he had asked COG last May to study the feasibility of the county taking over the library system but said they recommended a comprehensive county-wide study before making any recommendations.

The possibility of such a library study already had been discussed informally by the Health, Education and Institutions Committee but a study was being delayed until it had resolved the question of a county health department.

County Board Chairman Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna, also indicated he planned to appoint a three-man committee to formulate a recommendation to the Federal Census Bureau on whether Outagamie and Winnebago counties should be designated as a combined Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) or as separate SMSAs.

The recommendation has been requested by the census bureau, DeLaHunt indicated, since both counties qualify under 1970 census figures.

In other action, the board approved, with only one dissenting vote, a donation of $1,000 to the American Legion and Bu-

DNR Support of Areawide Sewage Systems Opposed

MADISON — The development of areawide sewage treatment and disposal systems is being promoted by the State Department of Natural Resources (DNR) in spite of some resistance from municipal spokesmen who complain that such pressure from the state agency will interfere with the orderly organization and development of urban areas in other respects.

The League of Wisconsin Municipalities has protested that the DNR policy is in direct contradiction to the objectives of the State Department of Local Affairs and Development.

The arguments are being presented to a legislative interim committee which is giving further study to a bill that was offered in the 1970 legislature and proposed to require contiguous areas desiring such sanitation service from a city system to consent to annexation by the parent municipality.

But the DNR has adopted its own formal policy, called a nonproliferation policy, which calls for cooperative sewage service arrangements without regard to the annexation question, always a hotly disputed question in legislative halls.

Thomas G. Frangos, administrator of the DNR's Division of Environmental Protection, has told the Legislature's local government interim committee that he has been directed by the policy board of DNR to promote the use of unified sewage collection systems serving contiguous areas, and to encourage the connection of developing areas to existing treatment plants where such action is feasible.

It also has been directed to discourage the construction of such systems not designed in accordance with an acceptable areawide plan, he testified.

The policy is called nonproliferation by the department which has broad powers under the state's pollution abatement laws, and considerable financial leverage in the funds made available to it under the new ORAP program for grants of construction aids for the financing of pollution abatement and prevention work.

Frangos' defense of the DNR policy statement has brought a tart response from the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, which has traditionally resisted the extension of municipal services to outside areas because such availability of service discourages the annexation of near-by urbanized areas.

"Narrow View"

"It would be unfortunate," said Ed Johnson of the league, "if your department took the narrow view that your only responsibility is to prevent pollution of our waters and ignored the effect that your orders and actions could have on local government in general."

"It would be a little bit ridiculous for one agency of the State of Wisconsin to develop policies which would be exactly contrary to the role of assisting local governments to develop in an orderly fashion what has been assigned to another agency."

"It appears absolutely imperative that you coordinate your activities with those of DLAD," he said.

Burn Injuries Prove Fatal

Rural Appleton Man Dies Today In Neenah Hospital

NEENAH — A 50-year-old rural Appleton man, seriously burned July 25 when a pair of explosions and fire destroyed his farm home and adjoining gunshop, died early today of complications resulting from those injuries.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said an autopsy would be performed to determine the exact cause of the death of Donald Zimmer, route 1.

Zimmer, his wife, Eleanor, their 14-year-old son Ronald and Robert Buser, route 1, Neenah, were all injured when a pair of explosions, apparently touched off by a spark from a grinding wheel which ignited gunpowder, tore through the gunshop Zimmer had in his home.

A resulting fire burned the home to the ground. Zimmer's son, Ronald, remains in the hospital in fair condition, after being moved out of intensive care Tuesday. Mrs. Zimmer has been released from Appleton Memorial Hospital, as has Buser who had been treated at Theda Clark.

Kemps said this morning that Zimmer's body will be released to the Borchardt and Moder Funeral Home in Hortonville pending the autopsy.

Waupaca Terms Signed

Teachers Accept Contract

WAUPACA — The Board of Education formally approved the 1970-71 contract agreement with the Waupaca Teachers Association Tuesday, and it was signed by the board and representatives from the association.

The agreement, reached after seven months of negotiating, contains a salary schedule which provides an 8 per cent across-the-board increase for the system's 85 accredited teachers. The new salary schedule represents an increase of $62,000 to $65,000 in the instructional budget for the new year. The total package, including added fringe benefits amounts to $70,000.

Four new teachers have been added to the staff.

Salary Schedule
Beginning teachers with a bachelor of arts degree will receive an annual salary of $7,100; b. a., plus six credits, $7,166; b. a., plus 12 credits, $7,232; b. a., plus 18 credits, $7,298; b. a., plus 24 credits, $7,364 and b. a., plus 30 credits, $7,430.

Beginning teachers with a master of arts degree, will receive $7,600.

Chain of Command
There are 11 steps in each of the b. a. levels for experienced teachers with a top of $10,509; b. a., plus 6, $10,608; b. a., plus 18, $10,799; plus 24, plus 12, $10,900 and b. a., plus 30, $10,997.

On the single master of arts schedule there are 11 steps, with the top salary $11,701. Teachers will have their contracts delivered to them when they report for orientation on Aug. 27.

While the board is in the process of establishing policy, Supt. Len Brittelli made it clear at Tuesday's meeting what the chain of command will be.

"I want it clearly understood that all employees, teachers as well as maintenance men, will be responsible to their principals, the principals will be responsible to me and I in turn will be responsible to the board of education," he stated.

Property Owners' Meeting

Cleaner, Safer Chain is Residents' Goal

KING — Members of the Chain O' Lakes Property Owners' Association are expected to "take the bit in their teeth" on pollution and public safety when the group meets at 7:45 p.m. Aug. 22 in the amusement hall at the Grand Army Home.

One item on the agenda of the meeting will be a proposal for the formation of a clearing house for pollution violations on the Chain.

"We are suggesting that a committee be formed from the membership. That committee will accept confidential reports of polluters or suspected polluters," an official explained. "This group will accept only facts and do its own investigating. If pollution is evident, the committee will take the proper steps to report the violations to the Division of Environmental Protection and insist that measures be taken promptly to correct the situation."

"This will take the pollution matter out of the realm of rumor and curb the flagrant disregard for antipollution measures, we hope," he added.

Public Safety

cedented number of boaters and skiers this year on four lakes of the Chain," one resident pointed out. "There has been nominal patrolling, but it has not been enough to control the too common practice of skiers buzzing docks, boats and swimmers during the skiing hours."

"A number of us feel that the association should do everything it can to make the Chain safe and enjoyable for everyone," he added. "This is the time of year when the largest number of property owners are at the lakes and they should have this opportunity to express their views."

What can be done, realistically, to make boating on the Chain safe?

Under the provisions of the Waupaca County Ordinance, which embodies the boating regulations in the Wisconsin Administrative Code, it is unlawful to operate any water craft at any time at a speed greater than six miles per hour on Taylor, Otter, George, Nessling, McCrossen, Limekiln, Othman, Beasley, Orlando, Knight, Manomin, Pope, Mari, Lake, Bass and Minor lakes.

Skiing is permitted only on Rainbow, Round, Columbia and Long lakes at specified hours. There is no speed limit for motored craft on these lakes.

If speed rate and motor size were to be limited on the Chain O' Lakes, it would have to be done by petition to the Waupaca County Board, through the Towns of Dayton and Farmington boards, through petition by the Property Owners Association or through petition by residents.

The county board would act upon the proposal and, if passed, enforcement would be possible through the sheriff's department, the traffic department or the Chain O' Lakes Patrol, as designated.

Old-Time 'Threshere' Thrills Over 3,000 Spectators at Symco

BY CAROL DIEHL

Post-Crescent Correspondent
SYMCO — More than 3,000 spectators who attended the old-time Threshere held here over the past weekend were thrilled with memories of bygone days.

It was the third annual Threshere sponsored by the Union Threshermen's Club, which opened with a street dance and festival Saturday night. The 1890 binder which was purchased for the price of three deer hides, "Blue Mountain Boys" supplied the music.

Sunday's parade featured the Peerless and Minneapolis steam tractors and an old oil puller owned by Lloyd Jung of Sugarbush.

Following the parade, the Threshere got into full swing at the Harold Worth farm north of here. Oscar Schuelke, route 1, Manawa, drove his horse of Wisconsin.

The first event was held on the Lloyd Riske farm and a group comprised of Harold Donald Fisher, Manawa; a 10-20 group, Larry Werth, John tractor won by Pat McKay of

by hand by John Fenske, aided by Larry Werth, president of the Union Threshermen's Club.

The straw from the threshere was elevated into a hand tie-baler. The machine itself was operated by a team of horses held walking in a circle.

Other machines operated during the afternoon included a 1890 binder which was purchased for the price of three deer hides, a 28 Kieck Gorman threshing machine, and the 10-20 McCormick and Massey-Harris Chatterbox tractors.

Three Years Old
Werth says that the Threshere idea started three years ago when a group of men from the area decided "to have the biggest Threshere in the State."

The first event was held on the Lloyd Riske farm and a group comprised of Harold Donald Fisher, Manawa; a 10-20 group, Larry Werth, John tractor won by Pat McKay of

The club was organized the second year and now has 25 members. Other officers are Smith, vice president; James Riske, secretary, and Raisler, treasurer. Monthly meetings are held.

Judy Pethke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Pethke Jr., of rural Symco, was queen of this year's Threshere. Elmer Wagner was the top ticket seller, with a total of 302, although he says that he bought the last two tickets himself so he could go over the 300 mark.

Prizes were awarded throughout Sunday afternoon and included a portable color TV won by Walter Koplien Jr., route 2, Weyauwega; a stereo tape player won by Ryan Roehl, Bear Creek; an automatic camera

All students have insurance coverage under the WIAA Benefit Plan. Fees are paid by the Board of Education. Additional information will be sent home with students.

With enrollment in the WIAA Benefit Plan, the board has enrolled in two types of coverage: First, pupil coverage which provides that each pupil in school will have benefits to at least partially cover necessary medical, dental and hospital expense resulting from accidental bodily injury sustained while attending school on school days, during school hours and also attending regular school activities. Secondly, the WIAA plan covers (at least partially) those in grades seven through 12 who participate in sports, with a maximum benefit of $2,000.

Marion Youths Attend Basketball Camp at Eau Claire University

MARION — Michael Meyer, Goodwin Peterson, Kent Brandenburg, Dave Bertram, John Halpog and William Newcomb, Marion High School students, are attending a week-long basketball camp at Eau Claire. The boys left Sunday and will return to their homes on Saturday.

The camp is being conducted by Ken Anderson, head basketball coach at Wisconsin State University-Eau Claire, whose team won the Wisconsin State College Conference championship and was in the NAIA playoffs. Badger Coach John Powell will also be at the camp.

Also in Parade Six Drum, Bugle Corps Will Vie at Marion

MARION — Six units have entered the Badgerland Drum and Bugle Corps competition, a featured event during the Marion homecoming and corn roast this weekend.

The corps will participate in the homecoming parade at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

At 7:30 p.m. the units will participate in an officially-sanctioned competition at the athletic field, vying for prize money and a point score which is part of their cumulative accomplishment for the year.

Bleachers will be set up for spectators and tickets may be obtained at the headquarters stand downtown as well as at the gate. Persons desiring to sit at ground level are invited to bring folding chairs which may be placed across the field from the bleachers.

Last Year's Champs

Among the six competing corps will be the Coit 45's from Dubuque, Iowa, last year's champions here. This corps of 43 boys and 45 girls emphasizes a western motif and is known for differing from other units in dress and music.

The Belles of St. Mary of Rhinelander, wearing authentic Scottish plaid uniforms, have grown to 85 girls since they were organized in 1958. They have competed in Marion twice previously.

The Klitje Kadets of Racine, a corps of 110 boys, will present a new musical show this year. This group was quite popular here last year.

The Marquis of Fond du Lac, fielding 35 boys and 40 girls, will make their first appearance in Marion. They emphasize a French heritage.

Another new unit for Marion will be Madison Boy Scouts. This 105-member unit is Boy Scout all the way.

Students Home by 4:30 P.M. School Bus Schedules Are Adjusted at Waupaca

WAUPACA — The board of education Tuesday adopted an adjusted time schedule of classes for elementary grades, kindergarten through grade five, and for junior and senior high school students which will allow every student who rides a bus to be home by 4:30 p.m. each school day.

Supt. Len Brittelli recommended that the elementary school day be started at 8:30 a.m. and that the last class end at 3 p.m. There will be no loss of teaching or class time under this proposal which was accepted unanimously by the board.

The daily class schedules in grades six through 12 are adjusted with the first period class beginning at 8:05 a.m. Class periods in the morning will be 55 minutes in length and afternoon classes will last for 54 minutes. This will decrease the length of free time that students have at the beginning of the school day with the variation in bus arrivals. Grades six through 12 will be dismissed at 3:30 p.m.

Morning Schedule

Buses will bring high school students in at 7:45 a.m. and take them home at 3:45 p.m. Buses will pick up elementary students at 7:45 a.m., deliver them at 8:30 a.m. and take them home at 3 p.m.

Brittelli explained that the

Woman Dies In Parking Lot Accident

An Appleton woman was dead on arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital Tuesday, minutes after a freak car accident in a parking lot.

Mrs. Robert Keller, 1907 E. Frances St. was backing out of a parking stall when her door opened, hooked on the side of an auto in back of hers and ripped off.

Police said she fell from her car, and the left front tire of her car rolled over her chest.

The car continued to roll and struck the right side of another parked car owned by James R. Strauss, 745 W. College Ave.

The car Mrs. Keller backed into was being driven by Robert J. Salentine, 36, 1062 N. State St., who had just come from another parking stall in the lot in the 100 block of S. Locust Street. He honked his horn several times to warn Mrs. Keller, but she apparently didn't hear it.

She was taken to the hospital by the Fire Department Rescue Squad. According to Outagamie County Deputy Coroner C. J. Schink she died of a massive internal hemorrhage.

Mrs. Keller, 49, is survived by her husband; four daughters, one still at home; four sons, three still at home; four sisters and two grandchildren.

Funeral services are 10:30 a.m. at St. Thomas More Catholic Church; interment in Holy Cross Cemetery, Kaukauna. A prayer service will be 8 p.m. Thursday at the Wichmann Funeral Home, where friends may call after 4 p.m. Thursday.

Women's Club to Meet At St. Mary's, Chilton

CHILTON — The Joan of Arc Circle, Daughters of Isabella, will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in St. Mary's Church Hall here.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Ernie Pitzen and Mrs. Arnold Heiman.

basic problem with the original system is that all students in grades three through 12 were through at 3:30 p.m., making it necessary for high school students to wait until elementary runs are completed. The only other solution, which is prohibitive, is to double the number of buses.

"The first day of school the kindergartners will ride with the elementary pupils and if it is discerned that there is sufficient room for them, under the legal road limits, the practice will be continued," the superintendent explained. "We will know after the first day."

Kindergarten Classes

Kindergarten classes open at 8:30 a.m. and close at 11 a.m. The afternoon kindergarten classes begin at 12:30 p.m. and close at 3 p.m. The mid-day runs for kindergartners will be made by special buses as they have in the past.

Contracts were approved for five new teachers, four will be teaching for the first time this year. Brittelli told the board, "As you know, we are filling these positions late this year. I have chosen young teachers because I feel that they give needed balance to the staff and these teachers have earned excellent records in their college courses. Secondly, if there were applicants for the openings at this late date from teachers with years of experience, I would be mighty suspicious of their qualifications."

Contracts were approved for Margaret Heurer, second grade at Golden Hill School, who earned her bachelor of arts degree at Oshkosh State University; Richard Resar, art in high school, a graduate of Stevens Point State University; Ruth Hegland, third grade at Central, a graduate of Augustana College, Sioux Falls, S.D.; Linda Blaha, who will teach fifth grade, is a graduate of Bemidji College, Bemidji, Minn., and Maxine Laib, fourth grade at Westwood, who is a

Shriver Appears to be Running for President

Ex-Ambassador Agrees to Help Democrats' Campaigns, Helps Himself in the Process

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The eye-bulging political organization now being put together for Sargent Shriver's "Congressional Leadership for the Future," which aims at fattening Democratic congressional majorities in the November election, looks suspiciously to some politicians like the forerunner of a 1972 Shriver-for-president organization.

Evans Novak

full-time party campaigner in House and Senate races this fall.

But his just-completed organizational chart, which has been shown to select party leaders, reads like a full-fledged presidential-style campaign blueprint — surely the most ambitious off-year ad hoc organization ever constructed to help either party win seats in Congress.

With the former U.S. ambassador to France and Kennedy brother-in-law at the top, the "Congressional Leadership for the Future" organizational chart places Myer (Mike) Feldman, former White House counsel in the Kennedy-Johnson era, and famed Washington lawyer Edward Bennett Williams just under Shriver as vice-chairmen.

Executive director is William H. Crook, a Texan who ran VISTA during Shriver's antipov-erty period. Crook's "executive assistant" is Mark Lynch, formerly with International Volunteer Services (IVS). Crook's "management assistant" is Harold Flickinger, a former Peace Corps and Pentagon official.

Not Lacking Cash

The Shriver team proceeds from there to "media director" Don McClure (on leave from the office of West Virginia Secretary of State John D. (Jay) Rockefeller IV) to McClure's press assistant, to a speakers' bureau and a celebrities' bureau. Then there is the office of operations and logistics (headed by Hector Alcalde, administrative assistant of Rep. Sam Gibbons, a Florida Democrat), the office of policy formulation, the office for liaison with private groups, the office for campaign advisory services, and so on.

One ex-staffer for New York Mayor John V. Lindsay was offered the press assistant job, at a $20,000 annual-rate salary, but said no. How many of Shriver's aides will be paid and how many are volunteers is not known, but the operation is not suffering from lack of cash.

In fact, quite apart from its 1972 implications, some Democrats worry that Shriver's fund-raising operation for worthy (not all) Democratic candidates this fall will choke off already measly funds coming into regular party coffers.

At least two "advisory committees" listed as backing Shriver's operation are sprinkled with such Southern names as Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and conservative Rep. George Mahon, chairman of the Appropriations Committee. Overall, however, the advisory panels are heavily weighted on the liberal side, with such Kennedy-era names as former Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, Pentagon aide Adam Yarmolinsky and Mary Lasker, a major party contributor.

If the Democrats do well in November, the political fallout

Jolin Requests Parks Or Streets for Making Campaign Speeches

Michael Jolin of Appleton, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Eighth District congressional seat, has asked Appleton officials for permission to give three speeches "in your city park or at a convenient location on main street" next month.

In letters to Mayor George Buckley, Jolin, 26, asked for permission to give speeches on Tuesday, Aug. 25; Tuesday, Sept. 1, and Monday, Sept. 7, and asked to be informed "where it would be convenient for you" and to be sent the necessary permit applications.

He said he plans to give "a street-type speech" on each of the three occasions.

Jolin is a candidate opposing the Rev. Robert Cornell of De Pere for the nomination in the September Democratic primary. The winner will oppose Republican Rep. John Byrnes of Green Bay.

leading Republican Sen. George Murphy in the California senatorial race) has distinctly bad news for the one-time song-and-dance man. The poll shows conclusively for the first time how badly Murphy has been hurt by disclosures last June that he had a financial deal with Patrick J. Frawley Jr., at that time head of Technicolor, Inc.

The deal — now terminated — gave Murphy an annual $20,000 "consultant's fee" from Technicolor, together with one-half the rent of his high-cost Washington apartment and generous use of credit cards, including an air travel card.

An unpublished portion of the Oliver Quayle poll (which showed Rep. John V. Tunney leading Republican Sen. George Murphy in the California senatorial race) has distinctly bad news for the one-time song-and-dance man. The poll shows conclusively for the first time how badly Murphy has been hurt by disclosures last June that he had a financial deal with Patrick J. Frawley Jr., at that time head of Technicolor, Inc.

The deal — now terminated — gave Murphy an annual $20,000 "consultant's fee" from Technicolor, together with one-half the rent of his high-cost Washington apartment and generous use of credit cards, including an air travel card.

Of the California voters sampled in the Quayle poll, 52 per cent disapproved of this Murphy-Frawley financial link, of whom 48 per cent said they felt very strongly about it. Tunney has made little effort to exploit this chink in Murphy's armor for the simple reason that Murphy's Republican primary opponent, millionaire Norton Simon, made it a central issue. Only 19 per cent said they did not know enough about the matter to have an opinion — and 29 per cent said they approved of the payments to Murphy.

Hearing Set on Morals Charge

A Thursday preliminary hearing before Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller was set this morning for Julius C. Davids, 32, of 425 E. Murray St. Davids is charged by Appleton authorities with a morals offense involving a 15-year-old Appleton girl. The complaint was filed against Davids after an incident which allegedly took place at the girl's home Friday. County Judge Nick F. Schaefer directed that a bail study be made. Davids is in the county jail pending payment of 10 per cent of a $1,500 signature bond. He voluntarily turned himself

Evidence of Ancient City Found Under Mud of River Po

ROME (AP) — Archeologists say they have discovered an ancient city which may have lasted 3,000 years before disappearing under the mud of the Po River. Digging has produced evidence of settlements in the Po Valley area from the Bronze Age to the 5th century of the Christian era when the Vandals raided Italy.

over to Appleton authorities Monday night after learning that he was wanted.

Aerial photographs reveal the outline of walls, buildings, tombs and a semicircular structure, probably an amphitheater. Experts say the city may have been Otesia. In his book "Historia Naturalis" historian Plinius referred to Otesia as a city with many dwellings built on piles due to the marshy site. Plinius mentioned the tribe of the Otesinili as pile-dwellers inhabiting the banks of the Po, Italy's longest river. When the Romans conquered Otesia they enlarged and embellished it, erecting marble and brickbuildings. Archeologists say they have unearthed some of the tombs and found many intact with such things as jewels, earthenware pots and amphorae, sculptured deer horns and objects in bronze and other metal alloys.

This Etruscan city, its tombs filled with perfectly preserved pots, was unearthed near the Comacchio marshland south of the River Po, about 45 miles east of the new discovery.

Agnew to be Made Into Campaign Issue

LAKE OF THE OZARKS, Mo. (AP) — Democrats are planning to make a campaign issue of the words and views of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew this fall, particularly in the big industrial states where their statehouse fortunes are down.

Republican governors and White House tacticians will do some political strategy, making of their own today in the seclusion of a nearby resort.

Lawrence F. O'Brien, the Democratic national chairman, conferred with his party's minority bloc of governors, then said he was not concerned at the prospect that President Nixon and Agnew "will be heavily engaged, out front," working for Republican nominees in the Nov. 3 elections.

He said that might produce a real debate about national issues, particularly with Agnew.

The political talk escalated as the nation's governors held the windup session of their 62nd national conference.

Gov. John N. Dempsey of Connecticut said the Democratic campaign plan amounts to making Agnew the issue in some states.

"The feeling is that Agnew is so controversial, and that it would help us, particularly in some of the Northeastern states," Dempsey said.

Agnew is the Republicans' champion fund-raiser and a proven political drawing card, particularly in the South and the Midwest.

Republicans now are governors in the major industrial states of the Northeast, but O'Brien said he anticipated substantial Democratic gains there in November.

He said New York, where Democrat Arthur J. Goldberg is challenging Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, will be among them.

Rockefeller reported the polls show him trailing Goldberg, but said he is not interested in any campaign missions to New York in his behalf by either Nixon or Agnew.

State Issues

He said a state campaign should be based on state issues. "I prefer to campaign for myself and will not have national personalities involved," he said.

Two top White House political hands, Murray Chotiner and Harry Dent, were to attend today's GOP strategy session.

Nixon and Agnew both sent messages to the governors conference Tuesday, pledging cooperation with the states and plugging for the President's "new federalism."

The President sent a telegram saying the governors had spotlighted "the vital role of the states as we address both the persisting old needs and the emerging new needs of the decade ahead."

"We must devise new strategies and new vehicles, and we must work together as partners."

Thrust for Quality

Nixon said a "new thrust for quality" is evidenced by a budget which, for the first time in 20 years, seeks more spending on human resources than on defense.

"It also underlies our basic approach of reform, restoration and renewal," he said, "and it is the basis of the new federalism."

At a windup business session today, the conference was to deal with two issues shelved during the past two days: a controversial proposal that the governors seek to use a portion of highway aid funds to assist other modes of transportation, too; and a plan to prod Congress for action to share tax revenues with the states.

Beloit Police Get Dose of Tear Gas

BELOIT, Wis. (AP) — The police department was flushed out of its office by tear gas Tuesday. A policeman was looking over a tear gas canister which was supposed to be a dud, when it started to leak and then broke open.

Everybody was evacuated from the Beloit Municipal Building where the police department is located. It took a half hour for fire department fans to clear the area of fumes.

Headed Investigation

Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales refused to talk with newsmen about the Examiner report. He is heading the investigation of the shootout.

At a news conference, George Jackson of Pasadena, Jonathan's mother, said: "I don't think Angela Davis would give a 17-year-old a gun. I don't have any idea where he got the guns."

Jackson's brother, George, 28, is one of three Negro convicts accused of killing a white guard at Soledad State Prison Jan. 16, three days after a guard shot three black inmates during a fight in a prison yard.

Miss Davis has been active on a committee seeking funds for the defense of the Soledad convicts, now at San Quentin prison awaiting trial next month in San Francisco.

Last month a judge turned down her request to be appointed as an investigator to aid the defense, and she also was refused permission to visit George Jackson at San Quentin.

Federal Money May Clothe Needy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal education money can be spent to clothe needy school children but it is up to the states to decide whether payments should go directly to parents, says an Education Department official.

Following a noisy two-hour session during which welfare-rights representatives pressed their demands for direct payments, Richard L. Fairley said

Tuesday the law allows funds for clothing under circumstances "where these clothes are needed."

But Fairley, acting director of the department's compensatory education division, added that federal officials "will leave the criteria up to the states" on the method of payment.

Pay to Parents At issue is a move by a welfare rights group in Providence, R.I., for a clothing allowance of $48 per child for 2,000 children. The group wants such education aid funds to be made directly to the parents.

The federal money is distributed to the states for use in school districts which produce legally acceptable programs aimed at helping so-called educationally deprived children.

Fairley has advised the state education officials, who must determine whether clothing is a high-priority need, that such services must be shown to be an integral part of a comprehensive program designed to meet needs of youngsters in the area—not limited only to the children of families on welfare.

He said the evaluation of a clothing provision would have to show what educational benefit would be gained.

Fairley said after the closed-door session "We intend to provide guidance to state departments that would solve some problems."

Communist Teacher Bought Guns Used In Slaying of Judge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two of three guns smuggled into a courtroom and used in last Friday's shootout that killed a judge and three others were purchased in 1968 and 1969 by Angela Davis, Communist university instructor, the San Francisco Examiner says.

Miss Davis, who says her political views led to her discharge as a philosophy teacher at the University of California ment spokesman said it was believed Miss Davis bought the pistol there, but gave no details. At the time the guns were purchased Miss Davis was teaching at the University of California in San Diego.

Heading Investigation Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales refused to talk with newsmen about the Examiner report. He is heading the investigation of the shootout.

At a news conference, George Jackson of Pasadena, Jonathan's mother, said: "I don't think Angela Davis would give a 17-year-old a gun. I don't have any idea where he got the guns."

Jackson's brother, George, 28, is one of three Negro convicts accused of killing a white guard at Soledad State Prison Jan. 16, three days after a guard shot three black inmates during a fight in a prison yard.

Miss Davis has been active on a committee seeking funds for the defense of the Soledad convicts, now at San Quentin prison awaiting trial next month in San Francisco.

Last month a judge turned down her request to be appointed as an investigator to aid the defense, and she also was refused permission to visit George Jackson at San Quentin.

Judge Killed Inside the van, Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley, one of five hostages, was shot to death.

An automatic carbine and a Browning 380 caliber automatic pistol found inside the van were traced by serial numbers. The Examiner said the name of Angela Davis was recorded for purchase of the pistol Jan. 12, 1968, at the Brass Rail in Los Angeles, and for the purchase of the carbine April 7, 1969, at Western Surplus in Los Angeles.

Joe O'Connor, manager of the Brass Rail, said Miss Davis purchased a 380 automatic Browning pistol at the store in 1968. An executive of the Western Surplus shop refused comment.

Man on Hunger Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles M. Manson's attorney, in his eighth day of cross-examination, the state's key witness in the Sharon Tate murder trial, has drawn the fire of the judge, other defense lawyers and Manson himself.

"Manson feels he unleashed Mr. Kanarek by letting him ask a few questions and now he can't get the leash back on," said Ronald Hughes, attorney for one of Manson's codefendants, Leslie Van Houten.

Hughes said Manson became so disgruntled with Irving Kanarek's questioning that he decided to stop eating until Kanarek stopped cross-examining.

Sheriff's officers said Manson had milk and coffee in jail Tuesday, but no solid food.

Manson chose Kanarek to represent him after the court said he could not act as his own attorney.

Hughes said Manson also objected to Kanarek's line of questioning. Three defense attorneys have complained that Kanarek appears to be trying to "dump" help Manson's case. They objected to repetitious accounts by the key witness, Linda Kasabian, of the women's roles in the killings.

On trial with Manson, 35, charged with murder-conspiracy in the slayings of the actress and six others a year ago, are Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, Susan Atkins, 21, and Miss Van Houten, 20.

Controls, Weather

Record Year for Crops Not Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Acreage cutbacks, dry weather and tighter government controls on some commodities have reduced prospects for another record-breaking harvest for American farmers.

Total production, however, is expected to be down only slightly from the record in 1969, the Agriculture Department said.

Tighter acreage controls on prospects down 7 per cent from wheat and rice, for example, have helped push food grain 1969, according to the department's monthly crop report issued Tuesday.

Production of noncitrus fruit, including apples, peaches and pears, was predicted to be 12 per cent less, and the output of half a dozen major vegetables for processing 5 per cent less. Over-all, the Crop Reporting Board said, the "all crops" index as of August 1 was 20.6 per cent higher than the 1957-59 average, compared with a gain last year of 21.3 per cent.

The nation's corn crop, a key in total farm production, was estimated at 4.69 billion bushels. This is down 127 million from the July forecast but still 3 per cent more than 1969 production.

Production of all wheat was estimated at 1.557 billion bushels, a slight gain from July indications but 7 per cent less than 1969 output. A smaller government acreage allotment was in effect for this year's crop.

Soybean output was estimated for the first time this year in the August report. USDA called for a production of 1.114 billion bushels, slightly less than last year's record despite a larger acreage.

Total production of the four major livestock feed grains—corn, oats, barley and sorghum—was estimated at 175 million tons, slightly more than last year.

Carolina Negroes Are Suspicious of Integration Plans

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The South Carolina unit of the American Friends Service Committee says its survey has disclosed that "doubt, suspicion and fear dominate" Negro attitudes toward widespread integration of schools in the state this fall.

The organization said a survey of 25 of the 93 school districts showed compliance with the law is expected, but arrangements are regarded by Negro leaders as "insensitive to the needs, aspirations and talents" of blacks.

The districts surveyed were among the more than 50 that face full integration for the first time when schools open in a few weeks, the committee reported Tuesday.

$9,780 Annually

Pay Increase Proposed For State Legislators

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — An $890 raise to a $9,780 annual salary has been recommended for Wisconsin's half-time legislators.
The state legislative compensation council Tuesday voted 4-2 to back a 10 per cent raise for state lawmakers, and stated their recommendation on its way to possible approval before the fall elections.
Approval of the recommendation through the rest of the pay raise chain before the members of the 1971 Legislature would mean that the raise would become effective in January.
All members of the Assembly and half of the State Senate — those newly-elected in November — would be eligible for the raise. The other half of the State Senate would continue to serve the second half of their four year terms at the salary in effect when they were elected two years ago, $8,900.
Remain Parttime
The compensation council made the recommendation while holding to the view that the legislative job should remain a half time one, determined to be true when the legislative pay raise process was established four years ago. At that time the initial pay rate was set at $8,400.

Council members contended that a minimum pay hike of 8 per cent was needed to compensate for inflation in the two years since lawmakers' pay was last adjusted. They settled on a 10 per cent recommendation.
The pay proposal goes for review to the director of the state bureau of personnel, who will hold a public hearing on the recommendation.
After that hearing, the director reports his recommendations to the state board of personnel, which also can hold a public hearing if desired.
The board's recommendations are in turn sent to the legislative Board on Governmental Operations, a seven-member unit which can accept or reject the plan.
The full Legislature does not have to vote on the pay raise.

Pay Problems
Although not empowered by law to act on other matters, the compensation council renewed two-year old recommendations to the full Legislature that other state pay problems be considered in the 1971 session.
Considered should be additional pay for lawmakers holding legislative leadership positions, the council said.
A new legislative expense plan, allowing greater reimbursement levels, should also be considered, they suggested.
And executive department salaries, including the governor's, which are set by state law should be reviewed and raised, they agreed.

Industry Reports Urged on Chemical Waste Discharges

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Industry must be required by public law to file reports to regulatory agencies on the discharge of wastes containing chemical compounds that may be harmful to wildlife and potentially dangerous to public health, the State Council of Environmental Advisors agreed in principle at a meeting here Tuesday.
The proposal was broached by Leo Roethe of Fort Atkinson, himself a businessman with large-scale operations, who is head of the advisory group set up recently by the State Department of Natural Resources which is the state's policing agency in the field of environmental pollution in all its aspects.
Discussions indicated that DNR resources for monitoring waste discharges and possibly harmful materials discharged into public waters, into the air, or even as solid waste in dumps, are unlikely to be sufficient to cover the entire state intensively. The council's suggestion, which will probably be put before the Legislature if DNR's administrative rulemaking is not sufficiently broad, would compel industrial discharges to be regularly reported to the state agency.
Use Computer
Such data would then be fed into a computer to provide virtually instantaneous guidance for the enforcement authorities about the source, extent and risk of toxic and other industrial waste material discharges.
The Roethe proposal which evidently had some informal discussion before the meeting of the council was evidently inspired by the public and official concern reflected recently by the discovery that a Port Edwards chemical firm has been discharging mercury wastes resulting from its manufacturing processes into the Wisconsin River, with toxic effects on fish beyond the tolerance levels established by the U.S. Public Health Service.

Discussions indicated that other industries are discharging mercury in their wastes and that there are probably many other elements and compounds being discharged in manufacturing effluent that should be known and watched.
"We must develop a kind of J. Edgar Hoover 'most wanted list,'" commented Oliver Williams of DNR.
Other members said that industries are probably dumping some of their toxic chemical wastes in land dumps, which poses the threat of ultimate contamination of underground water supplies.
Williams observed that industry will cheerfully comply with any new reporting regulations in the public interest. "Industry is extremely sensitive," he remarked, evidently referring to the furor that accompanied the mercury pollution discovery in the Wisconsin River and which led to official warnings to anglers to limit their consumption of fish taken from that stream.
Accurate Compliance
When a council member asked about the prospects for reliable and accurate compliance with such reporting requirements, Secretary Lester P. Voigt of DNR drew a parallel with the income tax, which he said is associated with persuasive "sanctions."
Andrew Damon, a lawyer on the DNR staff, said that the next legislature will probably consider some revisions in the 1967 omnibus pollution control act, and that it will probably be more effective to write industrial reporting requirements into the statutes than to rely upon administrative rules of the department.
Department officials explained that their present method of detecting and examining potentially toxic samples of industrial waste is extremely expensive, complex and time consuming.
With the thousands of samples that will be collected by state field men — under the pressure of public opinion, he intimated — it may require years to survey specimens taken from the waterways and elsewhere in the whole of this increasingly industrialized state. Reporting by industry, and computer analysis by the state, would be more efficient, safe and generally preferred, the advisors agreed.

Fest Law Expected In Calumet

CHILTON — The Calumet County Board is expected to adopt an ordinance regulating rock festivals or large assemblies of people in certain areas, when they meet in an adjourned session 8 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 18.
The model ordinance of Atty. Gen. Robert Warren is the basis of the ordinance the supervisors will adopt.
Also on the agenda will be a resolution introduced by the Highway Committee requesting the authorization of the purchase of three new trucks for a total cost of not more than $20,000 plus trade-in.

Presentence Check Ordered by Judge For Kaukauna Man

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer ordered a presentence investigation Tuesday for a 25-year-old Kaukauna man charged with theft.
Schaefer found John E. Van Handel, 305 Division St., guilty after he so pleaded. Van Handel waived the right Tuesday to have a preliminary examination, and is free on a signature bond pending sentencing Aug. 25.
Van Handel took $827 from the Lamers Dairy Inc., of Kimberly, when he worked there as a route salesman. Kimberly authorities said the thefts took place between Nov. 1, 1968 and July 13.

Mercury Pollution Fight Given Emergency Funding

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — An emergency grant of $96,000 has been made to the State Department of Natural Resources to fight mercury pollution of Wisconsin waters.
The state Board on Governmental Operations, the emergency funding arm of the legislature, has allocated the funds to combat the newly-discovered problem in state lakes and streams.
Department Secretary L.P. Voigt and assistant John Beale told the board funds will be used to add two permanent staff members as a surveillance section in the department to monitor state waters for metallic content.
In addition, four temporary employees will be added to work on the mercury problem, they said.
A cooperative research program with the University of Wisconsin will be financed with $20,000 of the grant, and $10,000 will be spent for a consulting engineer to study the chemistry of the Wyandotte chemical plant at Port Edwards, they said.
It was the discharge of mercury into the Wisconsin River by the Wyandotte plant that touched off the mercury concern in Wisconsin. Gov. Knowles closed the river all but sports fishing, instructing people to eat no more than one meal a week of fish caught in the river, as a result.

The officials told the committee that mercury discharges by the chemical plant have been greatly reduced, and the consulting engineer will be used to try to determine how the rest of the mercury compounds are getting from the plant into the stream.
Voigt said that his department is greatly concerned about possible pollution of state waters by other metals, and that the survey team will be used for those studies as well.
The BOGO also refused to release $387,600 to the University of Wisconsin for continued employment of 27 maintenance craftsmen at the Madison campus.
The committee, on a 4-3 vote, refused to release the funds which the UW said were necessary because of higher wage rates approved in a labor nego-

Apostles Island Shoreline Bill on House Calendar

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — Legislation establishing a National Shoreline among the Apostle Islands has been placed on the House calendar for consideration during the week of Sept. 9.
The Rules Committee approved the bill Tuesday. The committee granted the measure two hours of debate to be divided evenly between those approving and those opposing the bill and subject to any type of germane amendment offered from the House floor.
The Apostle Islands bill will be considered among a number of other bills reported out of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee. The exact day of consideration of the bill has not yet been set.
Considerable differences exist between House and Senate measures. The House bill does not include any Indian land in the National Shoreline plan, but the Senate bill includes several thousand acres of tribal and Indian-held land.
